Cairo Crash Fifth Worst in Aviation History

Fear Some Americans Perished

120 Are Killed On Inaugural Hop

CAIRO (AP)—A Pakistani jetliner inaugurating Karachi-to-London service crashed in desolate desert sands near Cairo Airport today, killed 120 of the 126 persons aboard.

It was the fifth worst air crash in aviation history.

11 of Crew Perish

Airline officials said one or more Americans perished in the flaming crash. Identification was not immediately available.

The airline said that of the 115 passengers, 93 were listed as Pakistanis, 12 Chinese and 10 other foreigners, whose nationalities were listed as U.S., Canadian, Lebanese and Egyptian.

The American-built jetliner's 11 crewmen died in the crash.

All six survivors were Pakistanis. Two were employes of the Pakistan International Airline and another was a Pakistani tourist official. Three of the men were reported in critical condition.

52 Were to Board

The flight was scheduled to pick up 52 additional passengers, all guests of the airline, at Cairo for the remainder of the flight to Geneva and London.

Capt. Akhtar Aly Khan, pilot of the four engine jet, reported engine trouble and a fire in the landing gear minutes before the crash.

62 Newsmen Aboard

The plane, a Boeing 720B, was inaugurating the airline's new Karachi to London route. Among the passengers were 62 newsmen, airline officials and other invited guests. The same plane had made three preinaugural flights over the route.

The big jet ploughed into a sand hill in a heavy ground fog as it prepared to make its final approach to the Cairo Airport. It crashed at 2:50 a.m. A West German airliner first sighted the wreckage, and Egyptian air force helicopters landed at the wreckage at dawn to pick up the six survivors.

Nearly impassable terrain delayed the arrival of other rescuers until six hours after the crash.

"There were no more survivors except for two baboons still alive beneath the wreckage," one person at the scene reported.

'Horrible Sight'

"It all happened so fast I didn't know what was going on," said one of the survivors, Galal Alkarimi, an employe of the airline.

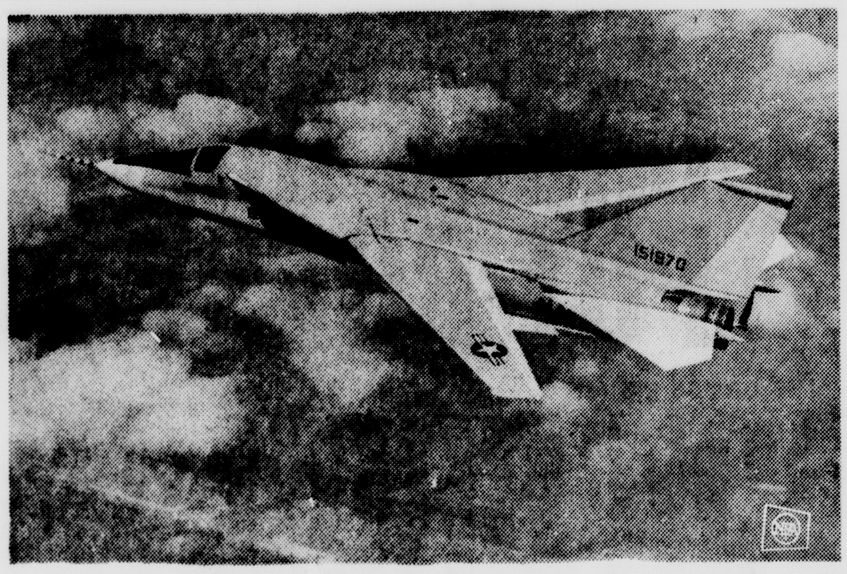

"One minute I was sitting inside the plane with a safety belt fastened around my waist. The next thing I remember was hearing an explosion. When I came to, I found myself lying outside the wreckage."

"It was a horrible sight," said one of the rescue party, "an area of two square kilometers littered with what was left of the planes wreckage, mutilated bodies, passenger bags, cameras and cigarette cases."

Airline officials said one of the Pakistani stewardesses who was killed had been planning to get married next week in Karachi.

Officials said the passenger list included 26 Pakistani news-

India's Soviet Link May Hurt U.S. Later

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India has opened what it hopes will be a new era of friendly and profitable cooperation with the Soviet Union. It could bring a steep decline in American influence and prestige in this nation of 480 million.

Already, Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri has toed the Soviet line by criticizing U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam without his recent balancing condemnation of all foreign interference in Viet Nam.

8-Day Visit

Shastri returned today from an eight-day visit to the Soviet Union proclaiming that India has Moscow's "sympathy and support" in many matters. This contrasted with widespread belief in New Delhi that India isn't getting this from the United States.

The U.S. image in India has been in trouble since President Johnson said last month he was going to be busy with the Viet Nam crisis and domestic affairs and asked Shastri to postpone a visit to Washington in June.

Taken as Humiliating

Many in New Delhi took this as humiliating, heavy-handed rebuke for Shastri's attitude toward the U.S. role in Viet Nam.

Before American diplomats here could put things right, another dispute developed. India charged Pakistan was using American military aid equipment against Indian soldiers in the Rann of Kutch.

Pakistan made the same charges against India. Washington reminded both governments that American military aid was to be used against communism, not against each other.

Being put in the same boat with their Pakistani enemies made the Indians angrier.

Red Carpet Report

Indian newspapers reported in great detail how the Soviets laid out the red carpet. President Johnson was too busy, the newspapers pointed out, but Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin interrupted his schedule to accompany Shatri from Moscow to Leningrad.

Indian officials who returned home before Shastri reported the Soviets were planning to double trade with India in the next five years to about $840 million a year.

The Soviets were also said to have promised to double aid for

UR Agency Settles on Two Offices

Lease of a midtown property for urban renewal office purposes was approved by the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency Wednesday night, and it also decided to negotiate to lease temporarily a downtown property.

A property at 436 Broadway, owned by Dr. Habeeb Z. Maroon, is to be used to house UR quarters now on the top floor of City Hall, and it is planned to move the relocation and property management division now in the Recreation Center, 97 Broadway, to the building at Broadway and East Union Street, owned by Mrs. Bessie S. Ellenbogen.

It was also noted that options have been taken on 38 of 54 properties to be acquired in downtown's Broadway East project area and transfer of title has been completed on 14 properties.

Closings Completed

Closings were completed recently to acquire properties at 100-108 Murray Street, owned by John Hasbrouck, of 115 Broadway; at 105-107 Hasbrouck Avenue, owned by James and Evelyn Wilson, and one at 61 Meadow Street owned by Mrs. Ellen Edwards. Four other closings are partially completed, and other closings are expected as soon as legal details are completed.

An option was obtained recently on a property at 64 East Pierpont Street, owned by Walery and Mary Karol.

Location downtown of the main office, which is to be on Broadway near City Hall, was recently advocated by Alderman Edward Norton (D) Seventh Ward, and George E. Yerry Jr., acting agency chairman.

Centralization Aim

It was noted, however, that any quarters located in a project area would ultimately have to be moved, and the agency has emphasized centralization of the main office between uptown and downtown projects.

It was also noted that being

Mansfield Plans To Limit Debate On Voting Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has announced plans to cut through talk on the voting-rights bill and put it to a vote.

The showdown on his drive for cloture — a strict limit on debate — will come next Tuesday, in the fifth week of Senate consideration of the administration-backed measure.

Joined by Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, his partner in planning strategy on the bill, Mansfield will file a debate-limitation petition Friday. In the interim, he will be trying to round up the votes required for cloture — two-thirds of the senators voting on Tuesday.

Hour Limit His Aim

If Mansfield succeeds, senators will be limited to an hour's speaking time each on the bill and all its amendments.

The Montanan announced his plans Wednesday after he tried — and failed — to get the Senate to agree to limit debate on each remaining amendment to one hour and to vote on the measure Tuesday afternoon.

Mansfield was blocked by Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., acting for Southern senators who contend the bill would strip states of their constitutional right to fix qualifications for voters.

In Senate Long Enough

Under the bill, literacy tests would be suspended in wide areas of the South and the federal government could appoint examiners to register voters.

Mansfield said he didn't know if he could get a two-thirds majority, but he said he thought the Senate had had the bill long enough. It got to the floor April 22.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, told reporters it would have been impossible to limit debate last week or this.

Hickenlooper declined to predict how he thinks the cloture effort will turn out next week. He described himself as not committed, but said he guesses he probably will vote to cut off debate.

If he does, the debate-limitation petition seems likely to succeed. Hickenlooper has voted with the South on some key amendments. He also has said the bill seems "completely unconstitutional."

2 Amendments Adopted

The Senate Wednesday adopted two amendments that strengthen the bill.

One, offered by Mansfield and

No Fight In Steel Top Move

McDonald Bowing To Abel in Peace

PITTSBURGH (AP) — David J. Mc Donald will step down as president of the United Steelworkers Union next month without the fight he promised.

McDonald announced Wednesday that he was withdrawing his protests to the union's Feb. 9 election in which he was narrowly defeated by Secretary-Treasurer I. W. Abel.

Although associates said he still believes he won, McDonald told newsmen he was bowing out to avoid a lengthy legal wrangle that could weaken the union in its current contract talks with basic steel.

The negotiations, now facing a possible Sept. 1 strike date, were twice interrupted by the bitter Abel-McDonald struggle.

Good Guidance

McDonald, 62, who once toiled for 22 cents an hour in mills where steelworkers now make more than $3.60 an hour, guided his union to some of its best contracts and through its longest strike —116 days in 1959.

During his 12-year reign he negotiated the first comprehensive profit-sharing plan and won extended 13-week vacations for senior workers in first the aluminum, then the can and steel industries.

One of his abiding interests was the problems of older workers and those who had retired. It was an interest that came from seeing an illness kill his father who was still at work in the mills at 72.

Wins Pensions

McDonald was one of the first labor leaders to win pension increases for workers long retired. His own pension, when he steps out June 1, will be $25,000 a year. As president he was paid $50,000

Abel praised McDonald Wednesday at their joint news conference.

"Under your leadership we have made outstanding progress. I want you to know that these contributions are not only appreciated today but will be down through the years."

But despite their handshake and the absence of their former bitterness, there were indications that the old order already was changing.

First for Basic Steel

One of McDonald's chief contributions was continuous, yearround bargaining conducted by the joint union-industry human relations committee. It was responsible for writing the 1963 contract without reopening the old one, a first for basic steel.

"Human relations committee is a dirty word now. We're just negotiators," said a top union official even before McDonald made his announcement.

Abel had critized the committee in campaign speeches, citing it as an example of how he said the union leadership had grown away from the rank and file.

McDonald, who clearly enjoyed the prominence of being president of the nation's third

Expect Rocky Veto on End Of Penalty

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A bill to abolish capital punishment in most murder cases in New York State was before Gov. Rockefeller today with expectations he would veto it.

The measure received final legislative approval in the Assembly by the narrow margin of three votes after one of the longest and most emotional debates in the history of that chamber.

Becker: Not Immoral

Assemblyman Joseph R. Corso, D-Brooklyn, a co-sponsor of the bill, appealed to the lawmakers to "put an end to this act of barbaric, vengeful retribution."

Assemblyman Daniel Becker, R-Newburgh, rejected the argument that the death penalty was immoral and asserted in opposition to the bill that "he person who commis a murder writes his own death warrant for his bestial act."

As the Assembly debated the bill Wednesday, Senate Majority Leader Joseph Zaretzki said he expected that Rockefeller would veto the controversial measure.

Rockefeller has declined to take a public position on the basic issue of abolition of capital punishment until a bill came before him. But he has questioned it.

The Assembly vote of 78-67 came after 5½ hours of debate.

Leaflets Warn About Any More Aggression

Caution Stressed Against Permitting Chinese and Cong to Influence Future

By EDWIN Q. WHITE

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — More than 100 U. S. warplanes attacked a North Vietnamese naval base and other targets today in a series of strikes punctuated by a propaganda leaflet raid only 55 miles south of Hanoi. All planes were reported to have returned safely.

A U. S. spokesman announced 70 Navy planes, striking in two waves from the carriers Midway and Coral Sea, inflicted heavy damage on the navy base at Phouc Loi, 165 miles south of Hanoi, with 100 tons of explosives.

Done in Storm

The attack was carried out during a thunderstorm.

The spokesman said U. S. Air Force planes, acting as distributing agents for the Saigon information ministry, flew within 55 miles of Hanoi and dropped a half million leaflets warning the Communists to halt aggression in South Viet Nam or "bear more disastrous consequences." He said this was the closest approach yet made to the North Vietnamese capital.

On the ground, the Viet Cong fired a short mortar barrage into a U.S. Marine patrol 15 miles southwest of Da Nang, killing one Marine and wounding two others. The Marines reported their return fire killed at least two guerrillas.

U. S. authorities said 63 Viet Cong were killed and six captured in three search-and-destroy operations in Binh Dinh Provice 250 miles northeast of Saigon. Five government men were killed and 13 wounded.

"If the Vietnamese Communists are stubborn in their aggression and sabotage in South Viet Nam, they will bear more disastrous consequences," the leaflets said.

Message Given

"Our brothers in the army of North Viet Nam, don't let the Chinese and Vietnamese Communists use your bones and blood to wage a fratricidal war in South Viet Nam."

The spokesman said 25 F105 Thunderchiefs dropped the leaflets over Ninh Binh and then attacked a radar station on Hon Matt Island 135 miles southeast of Hanoi. The flight over Ninh Binh was the third time U.S. aircraft had penetrated above the 20th Parallel, the spokesman said.

The dual mission capped a day of almost continuous air strikes against the Communist North on the third day of renewed raids.

Earlier strikes were reported against the Phu Qui petroleum complex, 125 miles south of Hanoi, and against a convoy of 15 trucks. Phu Qui was also attacked when the raids were resumed Tuesday.

Skyhawks Hit Area

The spokesman said four U.S. Navy Skyhawks from the carrier Coral Sea destroyed four railroad cars and probably damaged bridges on a raid between Thanh Hoa and Vinh, 128 miles south of Hanoi.

The aircraft also attacked a ferry and a bridge 100 miles south of Hanoi but the extent of damage was not immediately determined.

Only light antiaircraft fire was reported during the day raids. The spokesman said all planes returned safely.

Planes Safe

A military spokesman said four planes, attacking before dawn with the aid of flares, damaged five trucks in the convoy moving west along a road about 90 miles south of Hanoi. All four planes returned safely to the carrier Coral Sea without encountering any antiaircraft fire or hostile aircraft, the spokesman said.

Wednesday night three pairs of U.S. Navy Skyhawks made separate strikes against a bridge 77 miles south of Hanoi and boxcars and other targets about 120 miles below the capital. They followed a mass strike by 40 U.S. Navy planes Wednesday morning.

The raids against the North were resumed Tuesday after a six-day suspension failed to bring any response from Hanoi to U.S. peace overtures.

Hanoi Version

The North Vietnamese Communists charged today that the United States did not actually suspend raids against North Viet Nam.

"In reality over the past week there has been no 'suspension' of U.S. bombing and strafing of North Viet Nam," said Hanoi's Nhan Dan daily.

It charged that the United

Junta Demands Full Rebel Surrender

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

ican Republic (AP) — The Dominican junta claimed "absolute control" of the country Wednesday night and called for unconditional surrender of the rebels.

"We have absolute control of the Dominican Republic," the junta president, Brig. Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera, told a rally of about 1,000 cheering middle-and upper-class followers inside the U.S.-occupied international zone of Santo Domingo.

Don't Want Truce

"We don't want a truce. Out with communism," the crowd shouted.

Imbert spoke from a balcony at his headquarters in the Congressional Palace shortly after junta troops overran the rebel radio station and rebel resistance in northern Santo Domingo collapsed.

Imbert told an interviewer he would not consider any compromise with the rebel force of Col. Francisco Caamano Deno. He said his five-man junta would only discuss unconditional surrender of the insurgents, whose main force is holed up in downtown Santo Domingo inside the U.S.-controlled areas.

Will Not Meet

Caamano has also refused to meet with Imbert, contending that any compromise with the junta would violate rebel demands for a return to the 1963 constitution.

However, a spokesman for the U.N. peace mission said both the junta and the rebels have agreed in principle to a 12-hour cease-fire Friday to let the Red Cross remove dead and wounded from the fighting zone. The spokesman added that detailed agreements with each side still must be worked out.

Shooting tapered off Wednesday night, but there apparently were rebel holdouts in the northern area. Imbert told a newsman the battle would be over by the weekend.

Problem for Later

Asked if his forces would try to storm the rebel stronghold downtown, the junta chief said, "That's next week's problem."

A junta spokesman said 800 rebel prisoners had been taken in the battle in the northern suburbs.

Hospitals reported 30 dead in the fighting, but some estimates placed the total at more than 100 including civilians.

Newsmen driving hrough the area said tanks had demolished some homes where rebels were believed barricaded. Many homes were scarrd by machine-gun and cannon fire they said.

Some families fleeing the battle area claimed U.S. troops were aiding junta soldiers in the fight against the rebels. Some said they had seen American troops arrive with junta forces in three truckloads of reinforcements Tuesday.

A U.S. military spokesman said the only American troops

Goes Beyond LBJ Message

House Committee Favors Repeal of Excise on Autos

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee has taken a long step beyond President Johnson's request and voted to repeal entirely the excise tax on passenger automobiles over the next four years.

The four major auto companies promptly announced they would pass any tax cuts on to buyers, which would mean an eventual price reduction on an average car of about $230. The present excise tax on cars is 10 per cent, and Johnson asked that it be cut to 5 per cent.

Tuesday's Ways and Means Committee action — if upheld by Congress — would bring the eventual revenue reduction to nearly $5 billion, $900 million more than Johnson had recommended in a special message to Congress Monday. The cut in the first year would be about the $1.75 billion urged by the President.

Swift congressional approval of excise tax cuts seems assured.

The House probably will vote on the measure the week of May 31, if leaders carry out present plans.

In the Senate, Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said the Finance Committee hopes to take up the bill right after the House acts and will hear only one witness — Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler. Sen. Byrd said all potential witnesses favor the cuts.

The unusual speed is designed in large part to head off any slump in buying the many goods

IBM's $200,000 Pledge Puts Benedictine Nearer Its Goal

At a brief ceremony Wednesday morning at Benedictine Hospital, George W. Tamke, resident manager of International Business Machines Corporation, presented Sister Mary Charles, co-administrator of the hospital with the firm's pledge of $200,000 toward the Benedictine Hospital, $1,000,000 Building Fund. On hand to accept the pledge and a check for $50,000 representing the first payment were Joseph E. O'Connor, chairman of the Initial Gifts Division and Attorney Ernest E. Schirmer, general campaign chairman.

In presenting the pledge and check, Mr. Tamke said, "IBM is happy to make this gift and we sincerely hope that your fund drive will be brought to a successful conclusion, thus enabling you to provide improved and increased hospital services to the residents of the area served by the hospital.

In accepting the gift, Sister Mary Charles expressed her gratitude and appreciation in behalf of Benedictine Hospital. She stated, "This magnificent gift truly bespeaks of IBM's enlightened management and its social awareness of the needs of the community in which it operates and its desire to help provide the best health facilities for the people of the area. We are grateful not only for this concrete manifestation of generosity, but also because these additional funds will have a far reaching impact on the future character of the area and the lives of its residents."

Attorney Schirmer and Mr. O'Connor also expressed their

The outcome was in doubt until the very end of the suspense-filled roll call.

The Senate had passed the measure by a vote of 47-9, which supporters of the bill saw as an indication of wide legislative support.

The bill before Rockefeller would abolish the death penalty except in murder cases in which a policeman was slain in the line of duty or where a life convict killed in prison or during an escape.

Other Highlights

These were other highlights Wednesday:

— Zaretzki predicted that Democrats would lose control of both houses of the Legislature if a special election were held this year under a Republican reapportionment plan ordered into effect by a federal court. Democrats will ask the court on Monday to substitute their proposal, which would preserve existing lines, weigh legislators' votes according to the population of their districts and await recommendations of a proposed bi-partisan commission that would draft a new plan for consideration in the 1966 session.

The two principal arguments of those supporting the anti-capital punishment bill were that the state had no moral right to take a life and that capital punishment had not been proven to be a deterrent to murder.

"The record is clear that capital punishment is not a uniquely effective deterrent," said Assemblyman Richard J. Bartlett, R-Glens Falls, during Wednesday's debate. He is chairman of the state commission on revision of the state's criminal law, abolition of the death penalty.

Opponents of the abolition bill first tried to block its passage with amendments. One would have left the question to a decision by voters in a referendum. This was defeated, 83-50.

Certain Exceptions

A second proposed amendment would have added sex slayings and the killing of shopkeepers to the cases in which the death penalty still could be imposed. This was defeated on a voice vote.

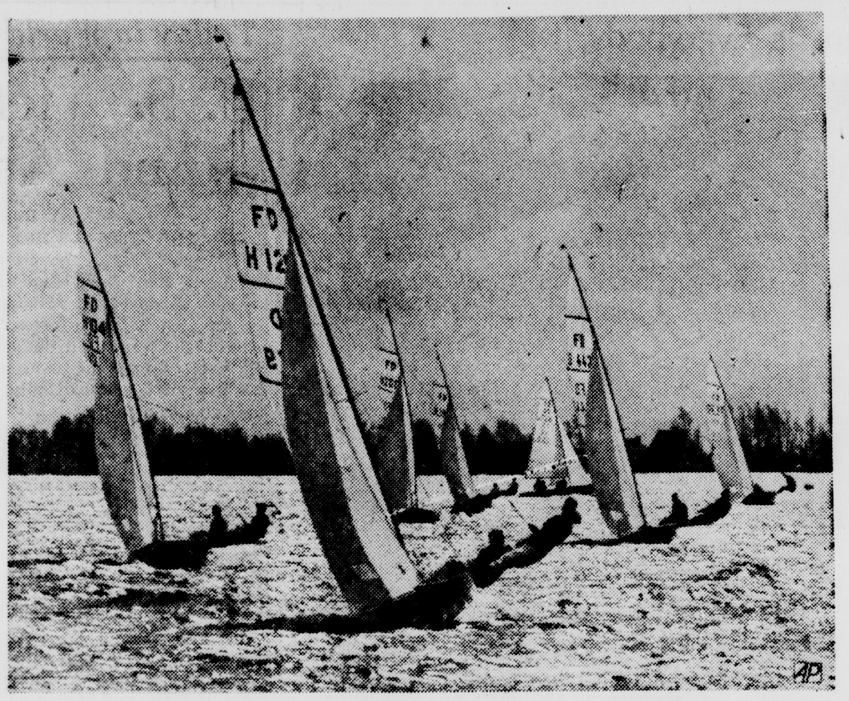

At present, the death penalty may be imposed in cases of premeditated murder, kidnaping and treason.

As the state deals with the issue of capital punishment, there are 21 persons in the Sing Sing Prison death house. No execution dates have been set for any of them.

While they would not be covered by the terms of the abolition bill, sponsors of the measure have said they assume Rockefeller would commute their sentences if he signed the bill.

ANTIDOTE FOR STUDENT FURY?

What gives with these angry young men—and women—on the campus?

Are they a new breed of young America—angrier, fiercer, more rebellious than their predecessors?

Or do they merely represent a passing phase—a heightened spirit responding to an age of civil disobedience?

And whatever the significance of their fury, how is society to handle them?

One educator who has definite opinions on the problem is Dr. William Graham Cole, president of Lake Forest College in Illinois.

Dr. Cole believes a new era of campus rebellion is beginning in America and that we are going to see a great deal more of the kind of thing that has occurred at the University of California.

"We are dealing," he says, "with a generation brought up in a period of great permissiveness on the part of parents. These students have previous little experience with external authority."

How is the college administrator to control the coming rebellion?

"By giving the student room in the college curriculum to rebel, to explore and experiment, to expend his energies on the intellect," Dr. Cole suggests.

"Then he won't care to get involved in fights over trivialities,, over such things as housekeeping rules."

This may well be at least part of the answer.

Its ultimate efficacy will be determined, of course, by the degree to which it is possible to convince the rebellious student, the avid demonstrator, that the causes he so fiercely espouses are, indeed, trivial. Especially since, in truth, many of these causes aren't trivial.

Another catch in any solution to the problem is the suspicion that some of the student rebels will prefer to do their rebelling outside the curriculum and in the spotlight of publicity.

This type of angry young man may not be willing to expend his energies on the intellect. He may insist on something livelier and noisier.

PINCH ON HOME OWNERS

The financial plight in which urban communities find themselves is analyzed in two recent magazine articles, one in Nation's Cities and one in Fortune. The findings are startling. They show, for example, an enormous discrepancy between the taxes levied on newly improved land and those on both vacant land and slum areas.

Under-assessing the unimproved land has induced investors to buy to hold for a future rise, because it is so nearly tax-free. This has skyrocketed the selling price of vacant tracts to the point where a prospective home builder must "leapfrog" over such land into the countryside to find something not priced altogether too high to build on.

This has resulted in widely sprawled developments interspersed with lots held as a tax bonanza. The owners of such lots run the price up because they really do not want to sell; they want to hold the land as a low-tax, value-gaining investment.

IT'S HOW YOU SEE 'EM

The dandelion is an awful darned nuisance, as everyone knows. Everyone except little girls. They know better.

Little girls know that the dandelion blossom is a lovely, bright golden crown. They know that a scattering of dandelion flowers on a sunny green lawn is a pretty sight. They know that a bunch of dandelions is an offering to gladden the heart of mother. They know that a dandelion held under the chin can magically tell whether or not you like butter.

Little girls' fathers know some other things about dandelions. Forget that, for the nonce; look at the dandelions through a little girl's eyes. It makes those pesky flowers seem less like an awful darned nuisance.

HOW MUCH LONGER

In the words of the Citizens Public Expenditure Survey, Inc., the federal wartime excise taxes ". . . burden consumers and hamper economic progress. They should have been repealed a long time ago."

These taxes constitute a 10 per cent impost on handbags, luggage, cosmetics, toiletries and various other items, few of which can be considered luxuries in a high-income economy. A similar tax applies to communications services, which are absolute basic necessities.

There is small doubt that most of the taxes will be repealed at long last, and others reduced. The Administration has called for that, and congressional sentiment seems highly favorable.

The question is "When"? And it is not a small question. For consumers will delay their purchases of the affected items while awaiting repeal. The result is to needlessly curtail production and sales, putting an unwelcome damper on employment and economic activity.

This is a case where Congress should move without delay.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

A HOT TIME IS COMING UP IN GOTHAM

John Lindsay, the boyish-looking Republican who won his seat in Congress by polling a mere 71 per cent of the vote in his own Manhattan district, has finally taken the bit between his teeth and is off and running for Mayor of New York. The move dispels a cloud of suspicion that had been hanging over the head of Governor Nelson Rockefeller, who threw his weight last winter to Democratic Mayor Bob Wagner's men when it came to organizing the New York State Legislature. There were whispers at the time that Wagner and Rockefeller had made a "sweetheart deal" to share the State between them, with Wagner drawing a "no contest" type of Republican for an opponent in New York City and Rockefeller being guaranteed a Democratic nonentity as an opposition gubernatorial candidate in 1966. Lindsay's decision to run for Mayor is proof positive that no fix was ever in.

Speculating on a possible Lindsay candidacy last February 12, this columnist wrote: "Lindsay may deny any intention of running for mayor, but it figures that he must respond to a 'call' if it comes . . . The scene is set for the charger on the white horse. Mayor Wagner may have to fight his last battle not against Bobby Kennedy for State Democratic Party control (as has been hazarded), but against the attractive figure of John Lindsay, who could conceivably put him out of politics forever."

The word "conceivably" was entered in that sentence advisedly, for Lindsay, whose Congressional district includes the "silk stocking" East Side and Greenwich Village, could find himself out of his element in Brooklyn or the Bronx. But the murmers against the status quo in New York go deep. Letters are sympathetic. A young man from Jackson Heights district who has no love for me writes: "And the young want to criticize their elders — eh? Mayor Wagner is the mayor of the filthiest . . . city in the world, and you feel that the young should stand behind him?"

I have not told the young to stand behind anyone in a New York City contest, and if New York is filthy, why so is almost every other big metropolis in the world. But the detail in the young man's letter has the whiff of a politically potent realism. "Ever had a cop tell you," he asks, "that you can avoid a ticket by donating a fin to his personal charity . . . ever seen junkies on the street whiffing on reefers in sight of a cop on the beat? . . . ever wait for a subway from the Bronx, Queens, or Brooklyn . . . during the rush hour in the morning? . . . ever had a bus driver refuse to stop because he wanted to go for coffee? . . . ever seen the way the union officials treat the members in any of the construction unions? . . . ever count the number of bookies on a construction job? . . . ever see how the boss hands the city inspector a quick 'hunnert' to overlook a small flaw in a freshly laid wall of brick on a city housing project? . . . Where are the Negroes on the city payroll? . . . how cum I can buy a hack license for a 'yard ana haff' at the hack bureau? . . ."

My correspondent says he is "a good registered Democrat," but he is "off" Mayor Wagner. The question is, are there many more at home like him? John Lindsay has been encouraged by the polls to believe that there are.

Purely as hunch, I think Lindsay will give Wagner a terrific race. Conservatives who would not support him for the U.S. Senate or for Vice President will certainly offer no objection to him for the City Hall slot. I would expect them to go for Lindsay as Mayor very much as conservatives used to go for the socialist Dan Hoan in Milwaukee or the socialist Jasper McLevy in Bridgeport, Conn. (Municipal liberals are needed to keep federalizers from grabbing local jurisdiction.) And at the other end of the spectrum there are the three Negroes who, according to my bitter correspondent, "have joined the socialist movement because they were 'hip' to Wagner." They may not vote for Lindsay, but they won't vote for Wagner, either.

If You Dislike Working, It's Time to Change Jobs

A few decades ago men worked 60 or more hours a week and still managed to squeeze a little fun out of life. Now, for most workers a week's work is 40 hours or less. As automation is applied to more and more tasks, a further shrinking of the work week is inevitable.

I am still a little apprehensive that for many persons this trend is fostering an altered attitude toward work. Truly fortunate is the man who has found a worth-while job to do and who enjoys doing it. If you don't enjoy your work, you are in the wrong line. It is all right to grumble a little now and then but, if you really want to quit working, you're sick.

When I see some of our teen-agers wearing large celluloid buttons with the slogan "I HATE WORK" I cringe. I can only hope that they think this is a huge joke and that they do not take this motto seriously. In the words of Thomas Carlyle, "Blessed is he who has found his work; let him ask no other blessedness."

What have our extra leisure hours provided thus far? The answer varies, but in many cases they have made it possible for a man to take a second job so that he can buy a faster car. In the heavily populated areas that are ever expanding this leads to the frustration of traveling bumper to bumper and hub to hub. In other cases the new car has enabled the buyer to shave a few seconds off his race to a collision.

To others increased leisure means more sodden hours watching violence on television. In this case it is not the diversion that is at fault but the use of it to the exclusion of the development of inner resources. Setting aside 20 or 30 minutes a day for contemplative thought or improving one's mind with great literature, music and art can heal a troubled spirit as no tranquilizer or miracle drug can do.

Everyone should have a restful hobby, a place to pursue it and a special time for its enjoyment. The dictionary gives as one definition of "retreat" —a safe, quiet, secluded place. If ever each man needed such a place it is now. Many of us, in the turmoil that surrounds us, have actually become frightened of solitude. I believe we should try to recapture some of its healing propensities before it has completely vanished from the face of the earth.

"Where Is Everybody?"

Washington News

BY BRUCE BIOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA)—By midsummer Sen. Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy's strong hand could begin to have decisive effect on the presently wild course of Democratic politics in Massachusetts. Both the governorship and a U. S. Senate seat are at stake next year.

The whole weird tangle is suffused with the aura of the Kennedy family and their old associates, which is why the nation is looking in on it.

Unless Congress lingers much longer, Ted Kennedy should know by mid-August whether Lawrence O'Brien, his late brother's trusted organizer and now President Johnson's top congressional liaison man, wants to try for either the governor's chair or the Senate.

Possibly Kenneth O'Donnell, another veteran of John F. Kennedy's inner circle, will by then have tested the Massachusetts winds enough to decide whether he should make a serious run.

From knowledgeable sources, the word is that Kennedy today sees O'Brien as the more salable of these two in a governorship race. The young senator is not yet openly committed in any way. But the people pressing O'Brien to keep the door open have very high credentials.

Some of Ted Kennedy's Massachusets contingent doubt that either O'Brien or O'Donnell is sufficiently known there to make a winning race. They hope the senator lands on Maurice Donohue of Holyoke, Democratic president of the state Senate and a man with a good deal of independent political strength with both the Kennedy followers and the old-line professionals who don't like the Kennedy's.

Donohue's problem is image. He is said to come across on television like a stern schoolmaster. One observation:

"If we could get him to look like Ronald Reagan, you could just send a big scale here to weight the votes."

AT NEXT YEAR'S PARTY CONVENTION (whose verdict is advisory and must still be followed by a September primary), Ted Kennedy would command the largest bloc of delegate votes —though not a majority.

Furthermore, his backers—the Kennedy "campaign secretaries" of earlier days—now dominate the Democratic state committee and bulk heavily on many county, city and ward committees.

On top of these things, Teddy has charisma—the curious star quality that served John Kennedy so well. Says a friend: "Plug him into a wall and everybody lights up. And he uses that to a fare-thee-well."

Ted is determined to exert leadership in Massachusetts party affairs, and especially in the coming 1966 races. He is sensitive to criticisms of his late brother as inattentive in this field. He does not want to have applied to him a similar charge, acidly expressed in a line once uttered by a friend describing a political delinquent:

"He wouldn't help you fix an overdue library card."

YET, FOR ALL HIS STRONG INTENTIONS and his sturdy party position, Kennedy does not have truly full command in Massachusetts.

Two big threats to his evolving plans for 1966 are Edward McCormack, his 1962 Senate opponent and nephew of the House speaker, and Mayor John Collins of Boston.

Both covet the governorship nomination, though Collins is considered willing to go for the Senate against Republican Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, assuming the latter makes another try.

McCormack has the loyalty of many older party professionals, though his bitter fight against Ted also left a trail of enemies. The Kennedy people fear him. Says one: "If he won, we'd all be on the second bus."

His prospects alone are not rated too bright today. Hence some guessers are figuring he and Collins may try to team up. They have some mutual supporters, and together might give the Kennedy forces a pretty good struggle.

Kennedy's problem is to break into the old-line group to get his majority. The man he'll pick to do it will have no free ride to the top.

U. S. Viet Nam Role —And Appeasement

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — How can the United States government convince Red China that there will be no retreat or withdrawal of American armed forces from South Viet Nam until the people of that country are assured of an uninhbited opportunity for self-determination?

President Johnson has said many times that the U. S. is in earnest and will patiently pursue its objectives, even though this may require many years. But is he getting his message across?

"Let none anywhere falsely assume," said the President the other day, "that the debate freedom permits reflects division on the decisions and decisiveness which duty to freedom may require. The community of free men is a community united — and so it shall remain until peace on this earth is sure and safe."

Despite what the President says, however, there are, here and abroad, captious critics and conscientious opponents of his policies whose objections are given a prominence that is out of proportion to their true significance. This encourages the Communist Chinese to believe that if they stick to their present strategy long enough and hold on indefinitely, the U. S. government will grow tired and will eventually find a face-saving device, by means of negotiation, which will be actually equivalent to withdrawal.

Unfortunately, there are precedents which indicate that the U. S. has not always pursued a conflict to the point of victory or to the attainment even of military objectives. The Korean War, for instance, was ended in 1953 by an armistice which to this day has not been formalized by a peace treaty. The peoples of Korea today are ruled by two governments — a communist regime in the north and republic in the south.

The Communist Chinese have for years dominated North Korea, and the biggest mistake which the U.S. made during the Korean War was to limit its military operations and refrain from bombing Chinese bases from which supplies, equipment and troops were sent to carry on the war against the collective forces of the United Nations in Korea.

The UN is not involved today in the Viet Nam situation, but there are many persons who are constantly calling for the world organization to participate. It is in reality, however, a frustrated instrumentality. The Communists have infiltrated many of the member countries and are able today to command a majority in the General Assembly and to exercise a veto in the Security Council. So that there is little opportunity for the UN to take action toward a durable peace. This unpleasant fact is ignored by most of the proponents of UN intervention in the Viet Nam controversy.

The U. S., therefore, now is really testing how far an individual nation can go in seeking to achieve peace and to assure the independence of smaller countries so that they will not be invaded by powerful neighbors and deprived of their liberties. The goal of America is just as idealistic as it was in World War 1, World War 2 and the Korean War.

The argument being made by the isolationists and the neo-isolationists is that the U. S. cannot possibly win in Asia and that hence the best thing to do is to surrender through "negotiations." But the American government has found that the signing of peace treaties, cease-fire agreements and negotiated settlements has often failed.

If the Red Chinese could be really convinced that the U.S. will stay in Viet Nam indefinitely—that its military forces will continue to protect the people of South Viet Nam even if it takes five or ten years—there might be a different story to tell. The path of the Johnson administration is being made more and more difficult by the obvious attitude of appeasement displayed by some important newspapers as well as by various members of Congress. This handicaps the President of the United States and gives aid and comfort to the Red Chinese.

American public opinion has not been fully informed as to the reason why a war in Viet Nam is directly related to the safety of the U. S. itself. Any war is unpopular, but a relatively small war in Viet Nam today can save the American people from a big war in years to come. What is being done in Viet Nam by American troops and by American policies is to emphasize the resoluteness and firmness of this country's intention to defend the weaker peoples of the world against aggressors and invaders, against infiltrators and subversive agencies.

The failure of the UN to keep the peace has placed upon the shoulders of the U. S. government a tremendous burden. But thus far the President of the United States has not faltered. He is determined to deter the Red Chinese from committing further aggressions. It is unfortunate that the Viet Nam war is being prolonged by the encouragement unwittingly given the Red Chinese by American critics of their own government's policy.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

There is no end of history around this part of the Hudson Valley. One little booklet is before me now called The Hallowed House a historical discourse on the Reformed Protestant Dutch Church, of Kinderhook, N. Y. preached, Dec. 3, 1865, by the Pastor, the Rev. Edward A. Collier. It was published by request of the consistory, at Albany in 1866, by the Van Benthuysen's Steam Printing House. It seems he drew much of his information from a historical sketch by the Rev. B. Van Zandt, a former pastor. It seems services were held there as early as 1702, "The receipts of the Rev. Johannes Lydius, one of the earliest pastors of the Albany Church, show that in 1704 he held religious services here, and that collections were made."

It is difficult to believe that some 250 years ago such fine records were kept here as they write: "Our earliest records are in his (the Rev. Petrus Van Driessen) handwriting and are dated May 27, 1716. He styles himself "Regular Minister at Albany; occasional, at Kinderhook." He had some 12 members at the time, some names are familiar to me from Kingston and Ulster County names. Elsie Valkenburgh, Ariaentie Van Derpoel, Eva Valkenburgh, Catriena Van Slyck and others. In 1721 from 15 other names added, there is Van Dyck, Van Alen and Van Alstyne. They also mention West Camp. They also mention the Rev. Van Driessen, receiving a letter of recommendation from Patroon Van Rensselaer to the faculty of Yale College. They describe the first church, a wooden structure, with "lofty wine-glass shaped pulpit; with a high stand where the chorister stood, and its bell-rope coming down into the centre of the middle aisle."

They tell about the growth of the church. The Rev. Isaac Labagh, the fourth pastor introduced the parctice of having a part of the services in English. Up to nearly the close of his ministry in 1799, the records, than 80 years, were all written in Dutch. Then in 1813 they started to work on the new building, and placed a stone bearing date 1814 above the entrance, but the ediface was not ready until the fall of 1815. "The present site like that of the old church, was at one time a private burying plot. During the time the building was under construction they had services in Mr. John Bray's barn."

The new church had a high pulpit, a lofty arched ceiling, and many windows and pillars. "That the galleries might be thoroughly warmed, the large stove was mounted upon a high platform in the center of the middle aisle. During the singing of the second hymn, the sexton would come in with a ladder and an armful of wood, and then mounting up to the stove would replenish the fire." They mention a Rev. Mr. Cushing; Rev. E. Van Aken and Rev. Henry Heermance, and many others with Dutch names I would say. In the 149 years (up to 1865) which had passed since the commencement of their church records their membership had grown to 1166. This little paper-covered booklet will be 100 years old on Dec. 3, 1965, telling about those brave people who came across the ocean, those many years ago to enjoy religious freedom in this new country. These thrifty and wise people left us many wonderful ideals to live up to. I think in those days, life made them grow up and take responsibilities when they were 10 and 12.

PHOENICIA—A rare exhibition of paintings by Thomas B. Craig opened at the Phoenicia Library May 15. This collection has been loaned by Miss Evelyn C. Craig of Woodland Valley.

Thomas B. Craig, ANA, was a member of the National Academy of Design, the Artists Fund, the Salimagundi Club and the Artists Society. Best known for his remarkable paintings of cattle and for landscapes, many inspired by Catskill Mountain scenery, Mr. Craig's pictures are hung in the Pennsylvania Academy, the Toledo Museum and many other museums across the country. His name appears in the World Almanac under noted American painters of the past.

An artist belongs to all people, but Mr. Craig belonged especially to Shandaken. He married Miss Daisy Beach and had his studio, high on the shoulder of Beach's Flat, in Woodland Valley until his death in 1924. The Beach family was one of the earliest to settle in the valley. The Beach house was built of hemlock plank in 1852 and is a living landmark of the early history of Woodland.

The studio, simple and unpretentious as it still stands, commands a breath-taking view of the Wittenberg and the surrounding mountains. This scene, changing with the seasons, but everlasting in its beauty has drawn many people to the studio over the years. One of the Craig pictures now on view explains why the studio has always been a sort of sanctuary.

The show will remain at the library until June 30, open to the public during regular library hours.

The office, on the third floor at the back of the Common Council chamber, is manned by a volunteer staff of Mrs. George Hutton and Mrs. Herbert R. Shein. It is open on Tuesdays from 9:30 to 12:30 p. m. and on Wednesdays from 9:30 a. m. to 2:30 p. m. In addition to serving as a central location for citizens who may have need of the Commission's services, the office contains files of the laws and precedents bearing upon the principles of human relations.

Photo taken at the monthly meeting of the Commission on Tuesday night shows (seated) Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom, chairman of the education committee, the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, chairman of the Commission, Harry Rigby Jr., vice chairman and (standing) Mrs. Herbert R. Shein, the Rev. Edwin C. Coon, secretary, and Mrs. George Hutton. Mrs. Shein and Mrs. Hutton are volunteer co-ordinators for the Commission. Absent at the time the photo was taken were John W. Lawson, treasurer, and the Rev. Chester O. Newton, Commission members.

Originally formed as the Mayor's Commission on Human Relations in 1963, the Commission was created as an official arm of the city by resolution of the Common Council less than a year later. Council members appointed by the Mayor were confirmed in office by the Council. Service by Commission members and staff are a voluntary, non-paid basis and the Commission has operated without a budget of city funds, the small expenses being contributed by Commission members. It has been an active Commission handling many sensitive matters in the human relations field in the city, often meeting on a weekly basis during period of need. (Freeman photo by Wagenfohr).

Rocky Gets Bills to Help College Students and Tots

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Senate has given final legislative approval to bills at both ends of the education spectrum — one to aid college students and the other to help pre-kindergarten children.

The measures went to Gov. Rockefeller for his signature.

Senators gave unanimous support to a bill to increase from $300 to $500 a year the maximum scholar-incentive awards for college students.

But they divided along party lines in approving, 33-24, a Democratic bill to help finance pre-kindergarten programs for children of low-income families.

The scholar-incentive increase is part of Rockefeller's education program, and the State Education Department endorsed the other bill as a way to help economically deprived children keep pace with other pupils.

In other legislative action Wednesday, the Senate:

— Approved, 55-2, and sent to the Assembly a bill to extend the state minimum wage, $1.25 an hour, to domestic workers.

— Defeated, 28-21, after a long and heated debate, a bill that would have made it a crime to use force in resisting an unlawful arrest. Sen. Thomas La-Verne, R-Rochester, the sponsor, said the bill would protect policemen from attack when they mistakenly sought to arrest someone with what they thought was good cause. Critics said the bill would "whittle away at our civil rights."

— Passed, with the bare constitutional majority of 30 votes, a measure to allow workers in non-profit nursing homes and homes for the aged to join unions and bargain with management. The measure was sent to the Assembly over opposition that it would create a hardship for homes operated on small budgets by religious and charitable organizations.

— Supported, 33-24, a bill to create three additional State Supreme Court judgeships to hear claims resulting from New York City condemnation of land for its Upstate water-supply system.

— Gave final legislative approval to extend for two years provisions for residential rent control outside of New York City.

— Unanimously approved a measure to authorize the Public Works Department to report on ways to preserve the face of the American Falls at Niagara Falls.

The Assembly, meanwhile, approved, 122-23, a bill to allow persons between the ages of 16 and 18 to enter pool halls without being accompanied by an adult. The minimum age in New York City is 16, but in the other 57 counties in the state the minimum age is 18. The measure was sent to the Senate.

Democratic leaders in the Senate said the pre-kindergarten measure would cost the state about $5 million the first year it was law.

The program would allow school boards to operate special classes to introduce slum-area children to experiences designed to help them succeed in school.

The scholar-incentive awards are made on the basis of relative need to New York residents attending colleges in the state.

Manetho, Egyptian historian, made a great contribution to knowledge of ancient history when he divided the names of the Pharaohs into dynasties. While his list is not accurate, it still is used by many historians.

Few Sign Names

RAWALPINLI, Pakistan (AP) —It's estimated only 20 per cent of Pakitan's 110 million people are literate enough to sign their names. Only 30 per cent of the nation's school-age children attend school.

FERTILE FRUIT—Henry Cathey, of the Department of Agriculture, prepares to place an apple in a plastic bag with a potted bromeliad plant in Beltsville, Md. The plants, which rarely bloom, can be made to flower by ethylene gas, which is given off naturally by ripe apples. Blooming time varied from 1 to 6 months in tests.

New Library Director

The Board of Trustees of the Ramapo Catskill Library System appointed Mrs. Eleanor C. Harris of Montgomery, director of the Ramapo Catskill Library System, at a dinner meeting at the Swiss Inn. Mrs. Harris succeeds Mrs. Elena Horton who became executive secretary of the Free Public Library Service of Vermont in February.

Mrs. Harris became assistant director of RCLS in August, 1960 when the headquarters office opened on East Main Street in a store building since torn down for renewal. She was appointed acting director in February 1965.

A graduate of Cornell University, she taught history and science for one year at the Pine Bush High School but found teaching not to her liking, so became librarian of the Josephine Louise Library in Walden and attended the School of Library Service, Columbia University, receiving a B.S. in Library Science.

First American vaudeville house was the Gaiety Museum which Benjamin Keith opened in Boston in 1883.

Shortcomings Are Too Apparent to Be Concealed

Conditions Are Far From Rosy Industry-Wise in Red China

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the second of two dispatches by a Canadian reporter who visited 11 industrial establishments in China. The first story described three plants he judged to be good, and four that seemed indifferent. Today he tells of four he considered bad. The writer is the chief of news services for the Southam Newspapers of Canada.

By CHARLES LYNCH

PEKING (AP) — The shortcomings of much of the new industry of China are too apparent to be concealed, and little effort is made here to conceal them, or to pretend that things are going better than they are.

Much of the industry, especially the heavy stuff, dates back less than 16 years, and was built on an economy that was bankrupt or ruined.

Numbing Effect

Another factor is that the industry of Red China owed as much to the Soviet Union as the industry of today's Canada owes to the United States. The effect of the Soviet withdrawal in the late 1950s was just as numbing as it would be for U.S. capital and technology to pull abruptly out of Canada.

The numbness still is there, though the proud Chinese try to conceal it and to convince themselves that native genius can prevail over the lack of contact with the industrial world outside.

Lacking access to the globel treasure chest of 20th century technology, China has been trying to evolve her own, on the theory that if the workers put their heads together, they can come up with answers.

In many cases the answers inevitably are negative. This can be said without casting any slur on the Chinese engineers or workers who were charged with the impossible task of crowding 100 years of technological development into a decade, and who lost their teachers in the midst of the tooling-up process.

Among plants I have seen, the negative results were most apparent at an automobile factory in Changchun, a railway car factory in the same city, a heavy machinery factory in Shenyang, and the electrical machinery plant in Harbin.

Car Factory—No Cars

The No. 1 automobile factory in Changchun probably is the most-photographed plant in China — it was built with photography in mind, as a symbol of industry as industry should look.

The first flaw is that the factory doesn't produce automobiles. Several years ago, it turned out limousines by a process of hand assembly. These were christened "Red Flag" and are used to this day by government dignitaries and on state occasions.

The part of the factory where the Red Flag was made is closed down — for expansion, it is explained. My interest in this incongruous vehicle — it is hard to imagine a car that China needs less — was such that they wheeled one around for me to ride in. It had been assembled in 1958.

I was driven to this factory, as I have been driven everywhere I have been, in a little Polish-made sedan — sometimes it is Soviet-made — and I asked why the factory had not gone in for this practical type of vehicles. I received no more satisfactory answer than that such decisions are made by the state, and not to be questioned at factory level. Besides, they said somewhat defensively, they were experimenting along those lines.

What they are actually producing, and in limited numbers, is the same truck the factory was tooled up to produce nine years ago. This "Liberation" truck is khaki for the army, or green for limited use in the civilian economy. It looks like a North American truck of immediate postwar vintage, and comes in a basic four-ton model, which can be made into an eight-ton version by tacking on a trailer.

The motor is a six-cylinder, 95-horsepower, L-head job, burning low-grade gasoline.

The factory uses 23,000 workers to produce this truck, and claims to turn out 50 per eight-hour shift. At two shifts a day they made 30,000 trucks a year — a drop in the bucket in relation to China's need for work vehicles.

Same Output as in '60

When American author Edgar Snow visited the plant in 1960, he was told that management aimed to increase output to 150,000 in 1961-62. But production remains right where it was in 1960. The plant is doing exactly what the Russians designed and built it to do — no more, no less.

On the road outside the plant the traffic consists largely of aging rickshaw-pullers, bending to their loads. Not only are cars a rarity in China, but trucks are too — and the reason can be found at the Changchun factory.

The assembly line is a production engineer's nightmare.

Gear boxes come off faster than engines. Wheels come along in vast profusion and have to be kept circling like jets over an airport on a foggy day. At some points, the assembly line stops altogether. At no point does it move more than three feet a minute.

In 1956, 81 per cent of the materials in the truck were imported, largely from the Soviet Union. Now, the content is 100 per cent Chinese — but the truck is the same.

The Changchun railway carriage factory, with 4,300 workers, was designed to turn out 1,600 passenger cars a year. Today, the production is less than one car a day, and it is clear that this attractive plant opened six years ago had been backsliding.

Report Morale High

Morale, according to the management, is high — and there are plans to treble the work force. But those plans, like everything else in this factory, date back to 1959.

At the Shenyang heavy machinery factory, the methods being followed seemed slipshod in the extreme, both in the foundry and in the pressing and machining ends of the business. Again, it was a case of workers going through the motions.

More than 100 big machines, including hydraulic presses of up to 6,000 tons capacity, are said to be produced yearly. They must do it in sudden spurts.

The picture was only slightly better at the Harbin electric machinery factory, where they make hydraulic power generators, hydraulic turbines, and steam generators for both alternating and direct current.

This, too, is a low-volume operation. Production began in 1952 with generators of 800 kilowatts capacity, and now they are up to generators of 100,000 kilowatts capacity. Generators have been exported to Korea, North Viet Nam and Albania.

Some of the heavy machinery is Russian, some British.

This is a highly specialized industry, and it might be said, in view of China's limited experience in the field, that the miracle is that it is being done at all. But with the tools at hand, and with China's crying need for power, and with Chinese ingenuity manifest as it is in other directions, the factory cannot be said to be pulling its weight.

All of which is submited, as objectively as I know how, in response to the invitation to criticize, which was put to me at every factory I visited.

One is left to wonder, in an economy that is entirely state-run, how many of the facts find their way back to the administration level in Peking, where the accounts are kept and the big decisions — and most of the small ones — are made.

Of course there may be a missing part in the puzzle of Chinese industry. Somewhere, in unseen defense establishments, Chinese industrial genius may be blossoming — but I doubt it.

Onteora District Has Roundtable

The Onteora Roundtable meeting for the leaders of Cub Scouting and Boy Scouting of the Rip Van Winkle Council was held Monday at West Hurley Elementary School.

Robert Tremper, assistant district commissioner announced that on June 20, adult help is required to assist in building tent platforms at Camp Tri-Mount.

The new District Charman, Dole Meyers, was introduced and he outlined the objective of helping leaders with their problems.

At the cubbing session, a discussion was held on the topic "What a Cubmaster expects of a den mother." Also in attendance were District Scout Executive Kenneth Malchow; District Commissioner Richard Waltman; Neighborhood Commissioners William Sill, Louis Gerbon, Howard Hopkins; Troop 3 — Martin Sior; Troop 6 — Edward Stafford; Troop 12 — Richard Scism, Alfred Stingel; Troop 62 —Arthur Smith, Phil Auchmoody; Troop 26 — Ronald Latz, Bart Reilly; Pack 3 — Jack Spader; Pack 12 — Joseph Karaffa; Pack 19 — Ted Barten, William Ralff, Irena Smith; Pack 26 — Sylvester Brown.

The next roundtable meeting will be held at Port Ewen Reformed Church on June 21. The opening ceremony for June will be by Pack 12. Theme will be by Pack 19 and the closing will be by Pack 34. Memorial Day, it is expected that both Cubs and Boy Scouts will form at the corner of Main and Clinton Avenues at 2 p. m.

Hurley Cub Scouts

Cub Scout Pack 20, Hurley, will feature at its final pack meeting of the season Friday night a program of American Indian lore and dancing by Alfred J. Douglass of New Paltz.

Douglass, a teacher at an elementary school in New Paltz, has established himself, through appearances at numerous schools and summer camps, as an exciting performer and expert interpreter of Indian dancing. His appearance at the Hurley pack meeting was arranged by Cubmaster George Currie.

The Cubmaster announced today that the meeting, originally scheduled to begin at 8 p. m. will start at 7:30 p. m. in order to provide Douglass with enough time to present his program. The meeting will be held outdoors at the rear of the Hurley Reformed Church. The Hurley Cub Scout committee extends an invitation to boys who will be eligible for Cub Scouts next year and their parents to attend.

Currie also made known today that on June 12 Cub Scouts and fathers of Pack 20 will travel to Camp Tri-Mount for an all-day outing.

St. Jerome's Work

St. Jerome is remembered for his Latin version of the Old Testament from the Hebrew. This is the Vulgate version which is in use among Roman Catholics today.

NEW YORK (AP) — How to keep the customers buying now instead of waiting to see what Congress does about cutting federal excise taxes is a current headache for merchants.

Congress may help by making the cuts retroactive to May 15 on more items than just autos and air conditioners, as President Johnson requested.

Advising Customers

Some merchants and manufacturers already are taking newspaper ads to assure today's customers they'll get a refund on any taxes paid now that may later be cut or eliminated.

But in some quarters there are grave doubts that all of the tax cut will be passed along to customers in lower retail prices, either now or in the future.

And merchants also have to worry about what the tax cut will do to goods they've already stocked and hold in their warehouses. The excise tax levied at the manufacturer's level presumably already has been added to the wholesale price the merchant or dealer paid.

An added difficulty is that some tax cuts, as now proposed, would take effect July 1, others Jan. 1 — with the retroactive May 15 date, of course, affecting an as yet undetermined variety of goods.

See Two Cuts

An example of trouble here is in the proposal to cut the tax on cars to 7 per cent from the present 10 per cent effective May 15, and then to drop it to 6 per cent Jan. 1. What effect this would have on sales of the new models this fall is debatable.

Merchants and dealers have a couple of things going for them, however.

For one, Congress seems in the mood to act with unusual speed — thus lessening the period of suspense — and, if anything, to be more generous than the President in slashing tax rates.

For another, public reaction seems likely to set off a buying spree, once the uncertainties are cleared.

Forestalling a temporary buying strike is the problem. Both makers and retailers of jewelry, silverware, luggage, handbags, toilet articles and furs are uging that the 10 per cent retail tax, due to be eliminated July 1, be repealed as of May 15, so today's customers can be sure of a refund.

These retail excises bring the Treasury about $550 million a year. If all of the cut is passed along to the customers in lower prices, a selling boom is anticipated. And because of this prospect, the stocks of some jewelry makers and some chain stores are getting a ride in Wall Street.

Merchants face a refunding problem as well as the effort to keep the customers buying in the interim. The National Retail Merchants Association is urging its members to take inventory of air conditioners and other appliances as of May 15, and to keep records of all sales after that date. The paper work involved in refunding taxes paid while Congress deliberates could pile high.

The immediate problem is to make the public confident that if there are any slashes in retail prices as a result of excise tax cuts, the customer will be protected, by refunds or by allowances on instalment payment contracts.

Congress is being asked to help. But the real job is up to the retailer and the manufacturer. They must decide if all or part of the tax cut can be passed along. And theirs is the chore of getting this information to the customers, and making them believe it.

List Program, Memorial Day Route of March

The order of ceremony and route of march for the annual Memorial Day observance in Kingston to be held Monday, May 31 was announced this week by Kingston Veteran's Association, sponsors of the annual event. Sidney Lane is KVA chairman.

Prior to the annual parade, Memorial Day ceremonies will be held at 2 p. m. on Academy Green, Albany Avenue.

All color guards, including those from musical units will mass across from Academy Green in front of the Gov. Clinton Hotel.

The National Anthem will be played by the American Federation of Musicians Local 215 marching band. Introductions will be made by Dan Allen, principal of Kingston High School.

The opening prayer will be offered by the Rev. Edwin C. Coon, pastor of Fair Street Reformed Church.

Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk, a former mayor of Kingston and grand marshal will speak on Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow.

The Kingston Marching Band will play America.

Mayor John J. Schwenk will deliver the memorial address, We Should Keep Forever Green the Grateful Memory of Those Who Gave Their Lives That We Might Live in Freedom and Liberty.

The presentation of wreaths will be made by Chairman Lane. The benediction will be by the Rev. Harold F. Schadewald, pastor of Hurley Reformed Church. The firing squad of Joyce-Schirick Post 1386, VFW will fire a volley. Taps will be sounded by Richard Nardone and Richard Cole.

In the event of rain the parade will be canceled.

The route of march for the nine-division parade which will step off at 2:30 p. m. is as follows:

The parade will proceed downtown on Albany Avenue into Broadway; down Broadway to Delaware Avenue; along Delaware to Hasbrouck where the parade will disband.

SAWKILL NEWS

Vols Set Clambake Date for July 17th

SAWKILL — The regular monthly meeting of the Sawkill Fire Company was held recently and several new endeavors were discussed. Most significant was the preliminary planning of the coming fire company sponsored clambake to be held at the Sawkill Snack Bar on Saturday July 17.

Ticket sales will officially begin with a drive conducted on Saturday June 12, with the aide of company personnel and fire fighting apparatus, which will tour are area. For anyone who wishes to assist the fire company financially but is unable to attend the clambake, "Booster" tickets at a minimum cost will be available.

The members of the fire company are unpaid volunteers whose devoted service has been proven a number of times over the past years to have been of great assistance to the residents, both in fighting fires, and in saving lives and assisting in times of emergency. Every possible assitance which the residents can give to the company in their efforts to raise funds for needed equipment to continue their very commendable and important service will be greatly appreciated, a spokesman said. Tickets will also be available by contacting any member of the fire company, or at the Sawkill Snack Bar from proprietor, Fire Commissioner Herbert Dixon.

Recently reelected to continue serving in their firemanic positions were Fire Chief George Leedecke, Assistant Fire Chief Wayne Burton, Captain Francis Joy, First Lieutenant Rod Stanfield, second Lieutenant Wes Seche, and Chief of Fire Police Paul Burton. The reelected officers received congratulations for a job well done.

Meetings are held the second Monday each month at 8 p. m., and drills are held the fourth Monday each month at the firehouse and fire company grounds.

Home Town Theme

The regular monthly meeting of the dens of Cub Pack 8 under leadership of Cubmaster John O'Keefe will be held Thursday, May 20 at the Town Hall in the village at 7:30 p. m.

This month's meeting theme is Your Home Town. Guests will be Miss Marie Siemsen, and Harry Siemsen. Mr. Siemsen is town historian for the Town of Kingston, and also is a folklore enthusiast. He and his sister will talk about various historical events, places, and background of the community. They will also entertain with folklore and folk singing.

The parents and friends of the cubs, and all interested residents of the community are most cordially invited by Cubmaster O'Keefe, and the Denmothers and associates of the Cub Pack to attend.

Entertainment will also be given by Den 2 members. Refreshments will be served at the close of the evening's activities.

First Brownie Fly-Up Held for Local Girls

Sawkill Brownie Troop 162, held its Fly-up Ceremony recently, the first such ceremony in Sawkill.

Brownie Scouts Ann Dolan, Christine Gerdts, Jane Goldpaugh, Debby Leone, Karen McClurg, Daryl Schonger, Nancy Vinson, and Bonnie Barton flew up to Troop 36, under leadership of Junior Scout Troop, Mrs. Thomas Malone, assisted by Mrs. W. Quick. Mrs. Lyndon Seaver, Brownie Leader officiated at the ceremonies, to which parents and area residents were invited.

After greeting parents and other guests, and singing by the girls, Mrs. Seaver presented membership stars to each Brownie for one year's service, and wings to the Brownies in the Fly up group. A candlelight investiture for the new Junior Scouts was held, and they were presented with Trefoil pins by Mrs. Malone, the Junior Scout Leader. The evenings program was closed with singing by the new Fly-ups and the other Junior Scouts, and with Taps.

The Brownie Troop recently had the assistance of Miss Marie Siemsen of Thendara Farm, Sawkill, who emonstrated to the girls the use of eggs in the making of various decorations, and the scouts made tray favors as a service project. Favors were sent to the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital.

The girls who will continue in the Brownie Troop next year inclube Deborah Burton, Maureen Dolan, Kathleen Ferrigan, Elizabeth Hulsair, Shirley McGinnis, Gail Schonger, Suzane Seaver, Anita Raymond, Belinda McClurg.

Saturday the Brownies of Sawkill will spend a day at the Girl Scout Camp Wendy, with other Brownie troops of the Ulster County Council for a "Brownie play day".

Fire Auxiliary Sets Annual Banquet Date

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Sawkill Volunteer Fire Company held its regular monthly meeting in May at the firehouse recently.

The annual banquet of the group will be held at Reggie's Inn, New Paltz, June 16 at 7 p. m. Mrs. N. Kilfoyle is serving as banquet chairman.

The nominating committee was named and includes Mrs. Francis Joy as chairman, Mrs. John Dent, and Mrs. Raymond Hulsair. A slate of eligible nominees will be presented the membership at the June meeting, and elections of officers will be held then. Elected officials will be installed at the banquet.

The auxiliary also decided at this meeting to donate $5 to the Mental Health Clinic. The Loan Closet now has added a hospital bed to its equipment, which is available to members of the community. The Loan Closet has a number of sick-room supplies and equipment at this time which is available for use by members of the community when needed temporarily.

The Auxiliary sponsored an International Dinner at the firehouse Sunday afternoon. The menu included many varieties of both American and foreign dishes, and the large number of area neighbors enjoyed an evening of good food and companionship. Mrs. Dougls Dye was chairman of the International dinner, assisted by Mrs. Norman Kilfoyle and Mrs. E. Raymond as well as other auxiliary members.

Elected by Assessors

Town of Kingston Assessor Joseph W. Quick was recently elected to the presidency of the Ulster County Assessors Association, which is now entering its second year.

Health for All

DANGER IN A BOTTLE

You never saw anything cuter. The angelic little four-year-old, with a non-angelic grin, was digging small candy pellets out of the bottle and cramming them into his mouth. Luckily his parents found him in time—not to punish him but to rush him to a hospital.

The child had believed them when told that the pills, given him from the bottle for an illness, were "candy." They had tasted good; another helping seemed in order when nobody was looking. Only quick action saved his life.

Seventy-five per cent of accidental poisoning in the United States happen to children under 15. Most of those poisoned—there are 600,000 a year—are under five. Fortunately, most recover—but only after traumatic fright suffered by the parents and often after agonizing illness on the child's part.

Some anti-poisoning "don't" for the sensible household are well known. Others aren't. Besides the one illustrated by the above episode, here are some that can save adult as well as juvenile lives:

—Don't leave discarded medicines where children can get at them.

—Don't re-use containers of medical substances.

—Don't put nonedible products on shelves for storing food.

—Don't use drugs or chemical products without scanning the labels.

—Don't give or take medicines in the dark.

—Don't be over-severe or alarmist in warning your child. You might provoke the wrong reaction.

The American Association of Poison Control Centers estimates that up to 250,000 poisonous substances are contained in items available for household use. They range from soaps and detergents to vitamin and laxative preparations. Your Christmas Seal association suggests: In case of accidental poisoning, phone your doctor or the nearest hospital.

Jane Fonda May Be One to Hype US.-Paris Ties

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — With pouty face, long, taffy-hued resses and hip-hugging pants, she looked like the latest movie star from France as she strolled down the steps to the Beverly Hills Hotel pool.

But when she spoke, the tones were not Left Bank but Eastern U.S. finishing school. She is Jane Fonda, daughter of the most American of film stars, Henry Fonda.

Some From Romance

The French influence is no doubt the result of Jane's romance with the French people and, on a more personal basis, with Roger Vadim, the mentor and one-time husband of Brigitte Bardot. He has been visiting Jane here.

The second-generation actress, on a day off from the Marlon Brando film "The Chase," took a poolside table and talked about such things as France and being a second-generation actress.

If anything can improve our relations with France, perhaps it can be Jane. Reports from Paris indicate that she has been as well received as any American since Ben Franklin — well, Eddie Constantine, anyway.

"It's very simple: my father," she replied. "I knew he was popular, but I never realized what a hold he had on Europeans. He is loved everywhere, even in Russia, where 'War and Peace' and 'Grapes of Wrath' were very popular. They love him in France and other countries because he made social pictures.

"That admiration was naturally transferred to me. And I couldn't be more grateful."

Jane admitted there might be other elements as well, such as the fact that she didn't just pass through France. She stayed. She not only established herself in a Paris apartment; she bought a farm 45 minutes from the city and converted it to a home for herself. She still has both — as well as her own New York apartment and a rented house at Malibu.

Very Much American

"But I'm not an expatriate by any means," she added. "I still am very much American and will stay that way."

La Fonda made two pictures in France, but it remained for a basic American horse opera to shift her career into high gear. She stars in "Cat Ballou," a raucous, rip-snorting Western that has drawn as many critical huzzahs as any film in 1965 so far.

"It's quite a new experience for me," said Jane. "I've been in films that made money but got poor reviews. I've been in films that got good reviews but weren't well received. This is the first time I seem to be in a picture that gets both.

"I'm still a bit amazed. None of us thought the script offered much, and we weren't sure what we had when we finished. The picture only lasted 28 days. Apparently it has a quality that will pay off."

So does Jane Fonda, apparently. She is carving her own career without fighting the fact that she is daughter of a star. Far from it.

"Being Henry Fonda's daughter has done me nothing but good in this business," she declared. "I couldn't be more grateful."

Surprise Award

NEW YORK (AP)—In a surprise turnabout, Alfred P. Sloan Jr., former General Motors board chairman, received an award himself Tuesday before he presented $10,000 awards to three scientists.

Sloan, who will be 90 Sunday, presided over the presentation ceremonies for the annual Alfred P. Sloan awards. But before the presentations, Laurence S. Rockefeller, board chairman of the Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center, gave Sloan a medallion for leadership, generosity and inspiration in seeking better ways to deal with cancer.

The Sloan awards went to Drs. Irwin H. Krakoff, Henry T. Randall and C. Chester Stock. The awards are supplemented by further expense funds to pay for a year's travel and research.

President Auctioned

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—Tom Popejoy, president of the University of New Mexico, brought $24.75 per auction.

He was "sold" in a UNM student project to raise funds for charity.

High bidder was Betty Ann Gunther, a Spanish major. The president must clear her dormitory room and serve her breakfast.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, May 20, the 140th day of 1965. There are 225 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1927, Charles Lindbergh took off from New York in his monoplane, the Spirit of St. Louis, on the first solo nonstop flight to Paris. He landed the next day.

On this date

In 1506, Christopher Columbus died in poverty in Spain.

In 1775, the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence was drawn up at Charlotte, in Mecklenburg County, North Carolina. It was the forerunner of the Philadelphia Declaration of Independence.

In 1902, U.S. troops ended their occupation of Cuba.

In 1932, Amelia Earhart took off from Newfoundland for Paris, but landed in Londonderry, Ireland. She was the first woman to fly alone across the Atlantic.

In 1958, Texas pianist Van Cliburn became the first musician to be given a hero's parade up New York City's Broadway.

Ten years ago — President Dwight Eisenhower used his first veto, on a bill providing Post Office Department pay raises.

Five years ago — President Eisenhower left Lisbon, Portugal, on his way home from the Paris summit conference which had failed.

Salvation Army Receives Praise On Its 100th Year

Congratulations and best wishes were forwarded to the Salvation Army this week on the occasion of its Centennial Year in a letter from Congressman Joseph Y Resnick of Ellenville (D-28th District).

The letter to Brigadier Jacob Hohn, SA commanding officer says in part:

"The tabulation of your work reads as an honor roll of compassion. Hospitals, maternity homes, camps, visits to shut-ins, and material assistance program contribute much to your communities

"There is a great deal in the papers today about the Poverty Corps, the VISTA Programs and other related projects dealing with the ill - fed and ill-housed of our nation. Many of our citizens are seeing poverty in all its horrible aspects for the first time. However your organization was the forerunner and inspiration for many of these programs Your slum workers of the late 1800's paved the way for the poverty workers of today. Without your guidance, knowledge, and experience, many of today's programs could not hope to succeed."

Hospital Fund Drive Started in Dutchess County

Northern Dutchess Hospital starts its annual fund raising campaign today. Mrs. Beatrice T. Cozine, administrator, said no particular goal has been set "because every dollar contributed will be used efficiently for the benefit of the communities we serve."

Certain adjunct departments will get vitally needed equipment and some of the funds will be allocated to reducing the mortgage which now shows a balance due of approximately $21,000.

In a covering letter to nearly 9,000 area residents, Mrs. Cozine pointed out that "While adding new equipment and space for various departments, we must also maintain and develop, even further, the skilled staff nurses and technicians that mean so much to patient care."

Miss Helen Van Vliet, Pleasant Plains, headed a special group of workers handling the addressing and mailing of the fund appeal.

Benson R. Frost Sr., Marquis Mores and the new Rev. Dr. Barrett P. Tyler, comprise the committee in charge of the campaign.

SYNAGOGUE NEWS

Ahavath Israel

The late Friday evening services are held at 8 p. m. at Congregation Ahavath Israel, 72 Wurts Street. This Friday, Rabbi Harry Z. Schectman will deliver the sermon The Good Earth, with reflections on the Jewish holiday of Lag Bomer, which falls Thursday, May 20. The liturgy will be chanted by Cantor Larry Jacobs. An Oneg Shabbat will follow in the social hall.

Saturday religious services will begin with the preliminary service at 9:30 a. m. and the regular service at 10 a. m.

Junior congregation services will be held for all boys and girls of the congregation at 10:30 a. m. in the chapel in the social hall. Refreshments will follow.

The Sunday morning USY regular services and meetings will be discontinued until after the summer vacation. All adult classes are now discontinued until next season.

The Hebrew School classes at the Talmud Torah of Kingston will meet for one more week according to the regular schedule, Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Thursday. The Hebrew high school class will meet on Thursday, May 27, at 5:15 p. m. The Sunday school classes will meet this Sunday, May 23, for the last time this term. All classes will end on Thursday, May 27, when the last session will be held for this term. Children studying for Bar Mitzvah will continue meeting with the rabbi during the months of June and July. All classes will again resume after the summer vacation.

Rabbi Schectman will be out of town attending the Rabbinical Assembly Convention at the Concord Hotel which will take place on May 23 to May 27.

Detective Bares Boast Made by Terrorist Group

NEW YORK (AP) — A key government witness has testified that a few minutes before three alleged members of a terrorist group were arrested here, the man accused as the leader boasted that they had been "so cool so far that nobody knows anything about us."

The boaster also claimed that "nobody knows. . .how many we are or what we're up to," the witness said.

The testimony was given in U.S. District Court Wednesday by city detective Raymond A. Wood, 31, who has told of infiltrating the Black Liberation Front as an undercover policeman.

Three New York City Negroes are on trial on charges of plotting to dynamite the Statue of Liberty, the Washington Monument and the Liberty Bell in Philadelphia in revenge for the treatment of Negroes.

Wood, who also is Negro, said the boast was made to him by defendant Robert S. Collier, 28, as the two men were driving to the Bronx to pick up a cache of dynamite last February.

Within minutes, authorities had seized the dynamite, the arrests were made, and the alleged plot was revealed.

On trial with Collier were Walter A. Bowe, 32, and Khaleel S. Sayyed, 22. All are charged with conspiring to damage U.S. property and smuggling dynamite into this country from Canada.

A French - Canadian white woman, Michelle Duclos, 28, pleaded guilty last Thursday to the smuggling charge and is awaiting sentencing. She is not being tried on the conspiracy charge.

Trim Divorcee Just Wants to Be Alone

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I just want to be alone for a while on the ocean," says a trim divorcee who hopes to become the first woman to sail alone to Hawaii.

Sharon Sites, 34, plans to begin the 2,225-mile voyage June 12 although she started taking sailing lessons only three months ago.

Her only company will be Sarah Beth-Ann, a pet turtle.

Mrs. Sites won't have a radio or any other electronic gear aboard her 25-foot sloop "Sea Sharp."

"I don't really need one," she said, "and I don't particularly want to talk to anyone."

Cairo Crash . . .

men. Only one of them survived, Aman Allah, police reporter of the Karachi Leader.

The wreckage was still burning when rescuers reached the scene. The desert sands in the immediate vicinity were blackened.

Some 4,000 pounds ($11,200) was recovered from the scene.

Quint Leaves Convent

MONTREAL AP—One of the four surviving Dionne quintuplets, Yvonne, is living temporarily with a married sister, Annette, after leaving a convent at Moncton, N.B.

Germain Allard, Annette's husband, said Wednesday Yvonne had been at the convent for 2½ years but did not take her final vows. He said she was to have taken them next year.

Growth of SPCA Outlined; Fund Raising Planned

The Ulster County SPCA is an organization which has grown tremendously in the last few years, and which now covers all of Ulster County in its care for sick, disabled or unwanted animals.

The SPCA Shelter on Brabrant Road, with Miss Jean Mack and Arnold Adams as its agents, is open seven days a week to receive animals, and although the space is often strained to capacty, the shelter does its utmost to cope with the important job of anmal rescue work.

The society is devoted to finding good homes, if possible, for healthy animals, or mercifully disposing of those too sick or old to be treated. Two ambulances are available day and night, and the efficient efforts of Adams have accomplished remarkable results in saving dogs, cats and horses from being abandoned, or from meeting agonizing deaths through misuse or indifference.

The society has attracted the interest and cooperation of many worthy citizens, who have shown their desire to help by contributing memberships, and by organizing bazaars, food sales, rummage sales, to increase the amount of funds drastically needed in meeting the requirements for this humane organization.

Ulster County SPCA is in no way connected with the ASPCA which is a New York organization, and operates in and from that city.

The annual rummage sale and bazaar for the benefit of the Ulster County SPCA will be held this year on June 17 and 18, from 10 to 4 at St. Gregory's Parish House in Woodstock, on Route 212. Baked goods, clothes, antiques, books, jewelry will be on sale.

Picks Jail for Son

TAYLORSVILLE, N. C., (AP) —Judge Sam Poole Wednesday gave George Stout the choice of whipping his son, Steve, 18, on the courthouse steps or letting him go to jail. Stout, a mill worker and a farmer, decided against the public whipping. Steve is now serving two 12-month terms for breaking and entering.

Nevins Endows Chair

NEW YORK AP—Dr. Allan Nevins, historian and two-time Pulitzer Prize winner, has endowed a chair of history at Columbia University with a gift of $500,000.

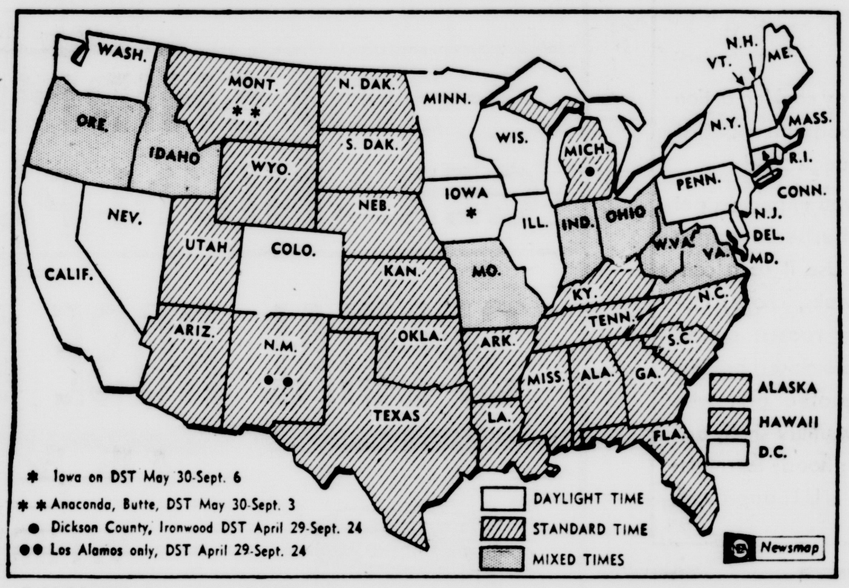

The gift was made anonymously last December, but Columbia disclosed Wednesday that Nevins was the donor. Nevins will be 75 Friday. .

JUMBO GETS A FACIAL—Students at Tufts University, Medford, Mass., join Zoology Prof. Russell L. Carpenter, white coat, to watch Walter Merrith restore Jumbo, their mascot in Barnum Museum on campus. The famous circus elephant died 80 years ago.

STRAIGHTEN UP THERE, STICKS!—At the Fox Lake siding of the Ontario Paper Co. in Heron Bay, Canada, two ingenious drums help to tidy up a truckload of wood. Photo left shows truck with a messy load about to pass between the two drums. As the truck and the load enter, the drums are pushed apart. In the process the stray ends of wood are aligned (photo right) and the truck is on its way. Sure enough, the contraption is called a load aligner.

DAYLIGHT VS. STANDARD—Newsmap shows which states have Daylight Saving Time, which do not and where it varies from one community to another. In Daylight states, it usually runs from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October. Some exceptions from this term include California, April 29-Sept. 30; Minnesota, May 27-Sept. 4; Nevada, April 29-Sept. 24; Oregon (in DST areas) April 29-Oct. 1; Washington, April 29-Sept. 24.

Point to Honor Newburgh Widow Of Viet Victim

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP)—The U.S. Military Academy announced Wednesday that the widow of a West Point graduate killed in action in Viet Nam will receive four medals awarded posthumously to her husband.

The academy's information office said the medals will be given in ceremonies today to Mrs. Gerald C. Capelle of Meadowhill Road, Newburgh, N.Y. Capt. Gerald C. Chapelle was killed in April.

He was awarded the Silver Star, Bronze Star, Air and Purple Heart Medals. He is buried in the West Point Cemetery.

Solons Kill Silencer

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — A state representative has proposed that any member of the House who speaks longer than three minutes be "shot, stuffed and displayed in a glass case in the state museum."

The order, filed Wednesday by Rep. James S. Erwin, also stipulated that this legend be hung around the neck of such executed legislators:

"Here I am, fore'er enshrined, my mouth is open, my teeth are shined: my colleagues' treatment less than kind.

"I talked them all deaf, dumb and blind."

The proposal was cheerfully killed as soon as it was read.

Good Ingredients

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—The Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service says sunny and warm days, along with a liberal dash of showers, enabled farmers across the state to make good headway on their planting and field work last week.

Crop growth was termed normal in all sections of the state in the weekly crop and weather roundup issued by the service Wednesday. Grape buds were starting to emerge in Erie County, and fruit trees were blooming in the north, the report said.

Luft Snuffed

Judy Needs Four Minutes to Halt 13-Year Marriage

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — It took only four minutes of testimony by Judy Garland, plus that of supporting witnesses, to win the singer a divorce from producer Sid Luft.

The decree ended a 13-year marriage marked by legal battles and numerous separations.

"He struck me many times. He did a lot of drinking," Miss Garland, 42, told Superior Court Judge Edward R. Brand Wednesday.

It was the fourth time the singer had sued Luft for divorce. But on the other occasions — twice in California and once in Nevada — the complaints were withdrawn.

Luft, 46, did not contest the latest divorce action. I will be final in one year. The charge was cruelty.

Luft was granted reasonable visitation rights with his children by Miss Garland, Lorna, 12, and Joseph, 10. The court directed him to pay $150 monthly support for each and ordered him not to take them from Los Angeles County without court permission.

Hurley Man Fair

Donald Geddes, 24 Russell Road, Hurley, was taken to Kingston Hospital this morning by Doctor's ambulance. A spokesman for the ambulance service said Hurley firemen administered oxygen to the man until the ambulance arrived. A report at the hospital described Geddes' condition as fair. No further information was available this afternoon.

Broderick Takes Over

NEW YORK (AP) — Vincent L. Broderick, 45-year-old assistant U. S. Attorney, is the new head of the largest city police force in the nation.

Broderick was named commissioner of the 27,000-man New York City force Wednesday by Mayor Robert F. Wagner. He replaces Michael J. Murphy, who resigned Tuesday to enter private investigative work.

All a Mistake

Brunette Loses Crown Following Four-Day Reign

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — For four days Lyn Anderson reigned as queen of this gambling city's annual Helldorado celebration. Then she learned it was all a mistake.

The 19-year-old brunette ruled over a rodeo last Thursday night.

In the Helldorado parade Saturday she proudly sat astride Princess, her dad's Mare. Lyn wore a new Western outfit her father had promised her if she won.

"It's a great honor," she said, as have countless other queens before her.

But Wednesday the great honor proved to be a "tragic mistake."

Lyn was not the one the judges selected as queen, said Keith Ashworth, the celebration chairman.

The real queen was supposed to be Stephanie Anne Sertic, an 18-year-old Western High School student.

Ashworth said the switch happened this way:

The judges graded the eight contestants, referring only to their numbers.

The winner's number (No. 1) was handed to the rodeo announcer last Thursday night. The announcer, who had only a list of names in alphabetical order, said the winner was Lyn Anderson, the first name on his roster.

Miss Sertic wore the numeral one during the competition.

Lyn stayed home Wednesday, deciding not to attend a luncheon where Ashworth explained the mixup to the other candidates.

"I think this whole thing is unfair to Lyn," Miss Sertic said. "But I'll abide by whatever the Helldorado officials say."

The final ruling of the committee: Miss Sertic is queen. Miss Anderson is co-queen because of the error.

But both will receive a trophy, a silver belt buckle and a pair of cowgirl boots.

Local Death Record

Samuel Williams

Funeral services for Samuel Williams, a former resident of Kingston who died on Monday were held at A. Carr and Son Funeral Home at 10:30 today. The Rev. Patrick Vostello, pastor of Reformed Church of the Comforter, officiated. Services were largely attended and many floral tributes were received. Wednesday night many friends and associates called to pay their respects, including Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk and the entire group of local postal employes. At 7:30 p. m., Rondout Lodge 343, F&AM of which Mr. Williams was a life member and past master, held ritualistic services. Burial was in Wiltwyck Cemetery.

Giovanni (John) Bruno

The funeral service of Giovanni (John) Bruno of Glasco was held Wednesday 9:15 a. m. from the M. A. Galietta Funeral Home, 25 Ulster Avenue, Saugerties, thence to St. Joseph's Church, Glasco where at 10 a. m. a high Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of his soul by the Rev. Archibald Damm. Responses to the Mass were sung by Mrs. June Scherer accompanied by James J. Sweeney, organist. Many relatives, friends and neighbors attended the Mass. During the repose at the funeral home which was completely banked with floral tributes, many friends called to pay their respects and offer prayers. Scores of Mass cards were received. Tuesday evening Father Damm called at the funeral home and led the assembled friends in the recitation of the Rosary. Bearers were Michael Crispino, Antonio Bruno Jr., Anthony Riozzi, Albert Bruno, John Crespino, Daniel Riozzi, all grandsons of Mr. Bruno. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery, Barclay Heights, where Father Damm gave the final blessing.

Mrs. Jennettie S. Peck

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Jennettie S. Peck, 95, on May 15 after a long illness. Funeral services were held in Honesdale, Pa., Monday night with burial in Shandaken Cemetery Tuesday. The Rev. Russell Edwards, pastor of the Waymart Baptist Church, Honesdale, officiated. Born at DeBruce, April 14, 1870, Mrs. Peck was the daughter of Silas and Evelyn Sparling Foster. She was married to James Peck, a native of Ulster County in August, 1888 and they lived most of their married life in Downsville. Mr. Peck died 24 years ago. Surviving are two sons, James Peck of Northampton, Mass., and Corbin Peck of Roxbury; seven daughters, Mrs. Harry (Inda) Miller of Roxbury, Mrs. Floyd (Hazel) Misner of Rexford, Mrs. Wallace (Mary) Mills of Homer, Mrs. Leonard (Margaret) Smith of Bloomville, Mrs. Charles (Pearl) White of Cochecton, Mrs. Ralph (Jeanette) Adams of Holyoke, Mass., Mrs. Arvilla Sutliff of Honesdale and a sister, Mrs. Nellie Burgoise of Los Angeles, Calif. Also surviving are 41 grandchildren, 90 great grandchildren and 14 great great grandchildren.

Mrs. Margaret McDonough

Funeral of Mrs. Margaret McDonough of Prospect Street Saugerties, who died Sunday was held Wednesday 9:30 a. m. from the Hartley and Lamouree Inc. Funeral Home, Main and Second Streets, Saugerties, thence to St. Mary's of the Snow Church where at 10 a. m. a high requiem Mas was offered for the repose of her soul. The Rev. Charles J. Kaufmann, pastor, was celebrant. Responses to the Mass were sung by Mrs. John Nau. Mrs. Charles Dickman was organist. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery, Barclay Heights, where Father Kaufmann pronounced the final blessing. Bearers were Jerry Daley, Harry Wiands, Myron Banks, Raymond Ruby. Tuesday evening the Rev. Joseph Hamilton, assistant pastor at St. Mary's, called and offered prayers for the dead.

George F. Kearney

George F. Kearney, 69, of 74 Wrentham Street, died in this city Wednesday. Born in Kingston he was the son of Bernard and Ella Finley Kearney. He was an Army veteran of World War 1. Prior to retirement he was employed at Old Capital Motors. Surviving are his wife, the former Bertha Carroll; two brothers, Bernard and Edward Kearney both of Kingston; a sister, Mrs. Julia Lawyer of Lemister, Mass. Also surviving are several nieces and nephews. Funeral services will be held at the F. J. McCardle Funeral Home, 99 Henry Street, Saturday 2 p. m. with the Rev. Robert T. Jack A. Hogle

Word has been received here of the death of Jack Hogle, 68, of River Road, Jordan, May 4 at the Veterans Administration Hospital, Canandaigua. Funeral services were held May 8 in Christ Church, Jordan with the Rev. George O. Nagle officiating. Burial was in Maplegrove Cemetery with military honors. Surviving are his wife, the former Louise Bihler; a son John F. Hogle of Jordan; a sister, Mrs. Felix Nettleton of Kingston and a granddaughter. Mr. Hogle was born in Syracuse and had resided in Jordan for 30 years. He was a disabled World War I veteran and a member of Fletcher-Gallinger Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars. He was past commandant of the Marine Corps League of Syracuse and a member of Christ Church, Jordan. Mr. Hogle was a former research engineer at Jordan Wire and Cable Co. and prior to that was employed by Continental Can Company.

William J. Garavan

The funeral of William J. Garavan of 20 Brewster Street was held Wednesday 9:30 a. m. from the W. N. Conner Funeral Home, Inc., 296 Fair Street, thence to St. Mary's Church where at 10 o'clock a high Mass of requiem was offered by the Rev. Nicholas M. Mosunic. Seated within the chancel was the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly. Responses to the Mass were sung by Angelo Corrado, assisted by Theodore Riccobono, organist. At the conclusion of the Mass the Star Spangled Banner was sung by soloist Angelo Corrado. The Mass was largely attended by relatives and many friends, IBM associates, Metropolitan Life Insurance employes, members of Union Hose Company No. 4 of which deceased was a member. A delegation from IBM, Metropolitan Life Insurance Company and Union Hose Company No. 4 served as honorary bearers. During the repose many called and offered condolence and sympathy to the bereaved family. Also visiting the funeral home was the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Austin V. Carey, Sisters from St. Ursula Academy, nuns from Sacred Heart at West Park and Sisters of Benedictine Hospital, all of whom offered prayers for deceased. Tuesday evening members of Union Hose Company No. 4 visited the funeral home in a body and at 8 p. m. members of St. Mary's Holy Name Society led by Father Farrelly, moderator, and James Howard, president, called and recited the Rosary. Also visiting the funeral home was Mayor John J. Schwenk, Alderman Robert Gallo and numerous city officials who extended sympathy and condolence to the bereaved family. A delegation of IBM officials and employes from Poughkeepsie, where deceased was employed as an administrative assistant, also visited the funeral home and extended condolence. There were many beautiful floral tributes and spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery where final blessing was given by Father Farrelly. Bearers were Thomas D. Finnigan, George F. McCardle, Daniel J. Murphy and John H. Schroeder, all employes of the IBM Kingston office. The flag was folded by John H. Schroeder and presented by Daniel J. Murphy to the deceased Korean Conflict veteran's father.

Local Rabbi Will Attend Conclave At Concord Hotel

The Rabbinical Assembly, the national rabbinical organization comprised of over 700 conservative rabbis, will hold its annual national convention for four days, from May 23 to May 27, at the Concord Hotel, Kiamesha.

The Conservative Rabbis represent the traditional point of view of Judaism, according to the philosophy of historic Judaism. This philosophy teaches that Judaism is a developing and growing faith, and although based on traditional Biblical and Rabbinic teachings, these teachings are a development of the Law according to interpretations of the rabbis of various times and surroundings.

Many congregations of Western European and Latin American countries have joined the Conservative movement in what is called a "World Council of Synagogues", and their rabbis are members of the Rabbinical Assembly.

The convention will delve into many Jewish problems, religious and social, many papers will be read by rabbis and other authorities on the various subjects under discussion, many discussions will take place, resolutions will be presented and the regular order of business and social functions will be part of the agenda.

Rabbi Harry Z. Schectman, a member of the Rabbinical Assembly, and who is the rabbi of Congregation Ahavath Israel, which is a conservative congregation, will attend the convention, accompanied by his wife, and will return on Thursday afternoon, May 27.

Forget Protests, Vote Dam Plans Is Kennedy Plea

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., wants a House subcommittee to overlook the protests of two congressmen and appropriate $100,000 for planning two dams in Upstate New York.

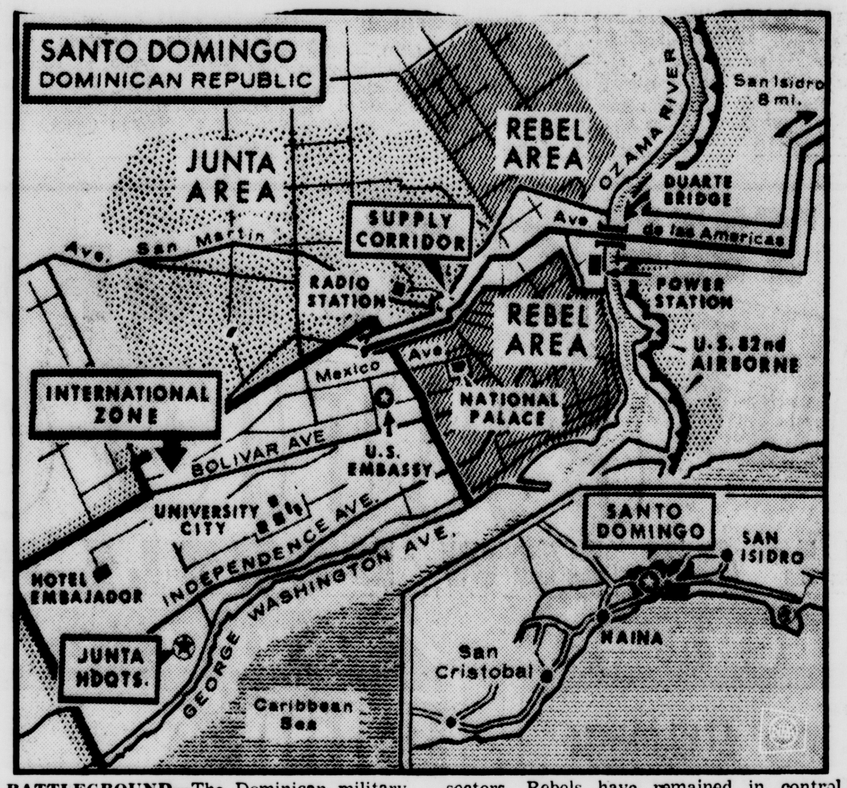

In testimony Wednesday, Kennedy asserted he had "an overall responsibility to the people of the state" to request $60,000 for a dam at Davenport Center, Delaware County, and $40,000 for one at Genegantslet, Chenango County.

Kennedy's appeal is opposed by Rep. John G. Dow, D-N.Y., whose district includes Delaware County. Dow said the Davenport Center project would cost Delaware County millions of dollars in social, cultural, agricultural and economic damages.

Rep. Howard W. Robison, R-N.Y., a subcommittee member, said he would insert into the hearing record a statement supporting Kennedy's request.

The Owego representative also challenged Stratton's contention that there had been an agreement among New York congressmen not to seek funds for the dam projects until the flood control survey was completed—that would be in about four years.

There was an implied understanding, Robison said, that no funds would be sought right after the survey started in 1961. But this, he said, did not preclude action before 1969.

Presbys Warned Computer, Not Devil, Is Threat

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The nation's biggest Presbyterian body convened today with a warning that computers may be a bigger threat to religion than the devil.

"Continuous concern with persons is the only thing that will preserve technological society from manipulating people and overriding personality," declared the Rev. John Coventry Smith of New York City. "Our lives of faith demonstrate a truth which extends beyond the areas where science speaks with authority." Smith said as the 177th General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church U.S.A. opened here.

Dr. Edler Hawkins, the first Negro ever elected moderator, gave the opening sermon as 2,000 of the church's leaders assembled.

Election of a new moderator to replace Dr. Hawkins headed the order of business for the week-long session.

Writer Wins Point

NEW YORK (AP) — William Jacob, a songwriter, received a traffic ticket May 3 for parking his car at a bus stop.

In Criminal Court Wednesday, Jacob's lawyer, Leon Charney, produced a letter from the City Transit Authority showing the yellow line in the restricted area had been extended during the night while Jacob's car was parked.

Judge John F. Furey dismissed the charge.

In general, critics agree that the "fine arts" include painting, drawing, sculpture, music, drama, poetry and dancing.

Water Safety Tips Are Issued By YMCA Staff

The YMCA camp director today issued a number of tips on water safety as the swimming season was ready to get into swing.

Leon I. Van Heusen warned that Ulster County is among areas where more than 5,000 persons died annually from drownings. He pointed out that carelessness is the chief cause of drownings. "To reduce the dangers and add to the fun of summer outings," he said, wise swimmers pay attention to these professional tips."

"First, learn to swim well. Because swimming seems so natural, some people try to swim without being trained. Yet the poor swimmer is a constant menace to himself and others.

"Non-swimmers pose a greater threat. Until they learn the fundamentals they should stay out of the water. Even wading can bring disaster if a person who can't swim steps into an unexpected 'drop off'.

"At a pool, at a lake, or on the beach — wherever you swim — make sure a life guard is on duty. Never swim alone; obey all warning signs. Many a head has been split in shallow water. And many persons have been made sick by polluted water, because they thought the warning signs were just a part of the scenery.

"It's also wise not to swim through patches of seaweed; the weed entangles the swimmer and saps his strength.

Start Slowly

"Safety often depends on your physical condition. Most people have not been in swimming for months and are out-of-condition. Take it easy for your first swims of the season.

"If you don't rest and cool off after exerting yourself, plunging into cold water may cause you to black out. It may also cause painful disabling cramps.

"Recognize your physical limitations and refuse to race when you're not in shape. Learn how far you can swim and don't go beyond your limit. If you compete, race toward—not away from—the shore and have a third person present.

"Know how deep the water is and how strong the current is flowing. You can't tell from the surface, and you must know before you start swimming.

"If you are trapped in a strong current, don't fight it. Swim across the current and gradually work your way in toward shore.

"The greatest menace in the water are would-be-heroes and water show-offs. Performing dangerous stunts to impress people will get you into trouble. And don't try to rescue someone unless you know how. Never attempt a water rescue until you have passed an expert course in rescue techniques. Too often would-be-rescuers drown.

Boat Safety

"Only good swimmers should go boating or attempt skin diving.

Though following the safety rules avoids most accidents, a few emergencies may still occur. If they do, keep calm and use your head.

"If a boat capsizes stay with the boat. It a swimmer is in trouble try reaching him with a pole or clothing or throw something buoyant to hang onto. Sometimes it's possible to reach the swimmer by hanging onto a dock or float with your free hand.

"Even if the rescued swimmer looks in hopeless shape send for medical help and quick application of artificial respiration will usually revive him.

"Mouth to mouth or nose is the most effective way of assisting a victim back to normal breathing. Make sure the victim's mouth is free of foreign objects. Next place the victim on his back. Use the middle fingers of both your hands to lift his lower jaw until it juts on and tip head backwards.

"Hold the jaw in this position with one hand, place your other hand on nose to press nostrils tgether, and your mouth over the victim's. Breathe into his mouth until his chest rises. When lungs are expanded, remove your mouth to let him deflate. Repeat the cycle 12 times per minute for an adult or 20 gentle breaths per minute for a child."

Don't grown-ups know?

Every litter bit hurts

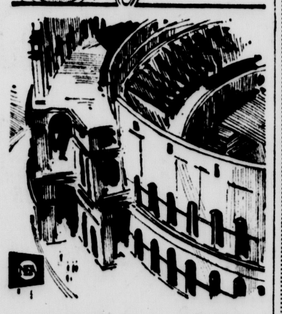

Sure, grown-ups know that every litter bit hurts. But they forget. And that's what starts the litter mess. Soon there's a shameful pile-up that has to be cleaned up (always at your expense, if you're a taxpayer). What's more—it's easy for children to get that careless habit. So Dad, Mom—lead the way to the litter basket. Use a litterbag in your car. If we grown-ups remember, our kids won't forget to Keep America Beautiful!

Teacher Vacancies Filled; Name New Glasco Principal

Several teacher vacancies were filled and an elementary principal was named for the Glasco and Malden Schools at this week's Saugerties Central School Board of Education meeting held at the administration building, Hill Street.

Clarence Bryden, elementary principal in charge of admissions and supervision of kindergarten through Grade 6 for Coxsackie-Athens Central School District, was named to fill the Glasco and Malden School vacancy.

Patrick Bunofiglio, who has been serving as Glasco School principal, was previously named principal of the new Dr. Grant D. Morse Elementary School at Blue Mountain which opens in the fall.

Bryden has served in New York State schools since 1947 and has had a wide variety of experience in elementary education, including director of elementary education for the Norwich City Schools and the Board of Cooperative Educational Services of Warren County, as a supervisor of elementary education for the State Education Department, and as a teaching principal at Sauquoit and East Herkimer.

Bryden, in addition to work in several other schools and colleges, holds a bachelor of arts degree from State University College at Oneonta and a master of science degree from Syracuse University. He holds membership in a number of professional and educational organizations.

His community activities include P-TA, Rotary, Boy Scouts Executive Committee, and fraternal and church organizations. Mr. and Mry. Bryden and their three children are expected to take up residence in Saugerties about July 1, when Bryden's duties begin here.

Also elected were Miss Margaret Edmunds as a junior high school physical education teacher, Mrs. Barbara Stewart, elementary, and Wilbur Johnson, junior high school science. Miss Edmunds will graduate from State University College, Cortland in June with a bachelor of science degree. She is a resident of Pine Bush and attended local schools there.

Mrs. Stewart, a graduate of State University College, New Paltz attended Wellington C. Mepham High School at Bellmore. She has served as a substitute in Kingston and Saugerties School and presently resides with her husband and two children at Mt. Marion.

Johnson received his high school education at Mansfield, Mass. He graduated from the Boston University College of Basic Studies in 1956 and received his bachelor of science degree from Boston University in 1963. He expects to complete the requirements for the master of science degree at Boston University in June. Johnson's experience includes four years of service with the United States Marine Corps, part of the time as a sergeant. He has one year of teaching experience at Monticello High School, and during the current school year has been serving as a graduate assistant at Boston University.

The Board received resignations from Mrs. Catherine Wiedemann, Grade 1 teacher at Mt. Marion School, and Mrs. Hallery Brunet, Grade 1 teacher at Main Street School, whose husbands hold positions in other communities.

John Battin, English instructor at the high school resigned to enter the officer training program with the Marine Corps, and Miss Carolyn Marr, vocal music teacher at Main Street and Malden Schools, plans to spend next year in graduate study.

Mrs. Harriet Thompson has resigned as a typist at the high school because her husband is being transferred. In nominating the new candidates and presenting the resignations, Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, superintendent of schools, stated that to date there have been 15 vacancies in the elementary schools, eight of which have been filled. Present positions open include four grade 1 teachers, one grade 2, one grade 3, and vocal music. Candidates are currently being interviewed.

Two of the 15 vacancies were new positions, one a 4th grade teaching position at the Grant D. Morse School and the other the elementary principalship at the Grant D. Morse School. Two vacancies will occur when teachers presently serving in the elementary schools will be assigned high school duties. Three teachers are leaving because their husbands have accepted positions elsewhere, one for maternity leave, one for graduate study, and three for other reasons. Three additional teachers have accepted positions outside of the United States.

At the high school the superintendent has been concerned with 13 vacancies, nine of which have ben filled to date. Positions still open are business education, special class, art, and English. The 13 vacancies occurred for the following reasons: nine new positions were established — business education, home economics, two physical education, science, special class, foreign language, guidance counseling, and assistant principal. Military service, other reasons, and one teacher accepting a position in a neighboring school system are the reasons for four of the vacancies.

In other business, the Board approved a transporation contract to Mrs. Patricia Myer to operate feeder route number six at $1200. A previous bid had been rejected by the Board of Education.

The requests of the Garden Society to plant two memory trees on school sites was approved.

Upon recommendation of Dr. Arnold, the following teachers were appointed for the summer school program: Milton Sommers, personal use typing, Patrick Rodden, personal use shorthand; Roy Ohno, advance chemistry; Mrs. Hermione Mills, reading improvement, and Leon McLaughlin, driver education.

Dr. Arnold stated that the possibility of an additional class was being explored which would provide an opportunity for independent study in the area of economics. Several classes are now being conducted at the high school in which students are encouraged to proceed through a series of units with the teacher serving as a guide and counselor.

Bids were awarded to the Q and Q Electronics Corporation for an inter-communications system at Main Street School at a cost of $1,985, and to Remington Records Retrieval Library Bureau for library equipment and furniture for the junior high school addition and the Grant D. Morse School amounting to $10,403.41.

Reports of Henry Breitenbach, Building Committee chairman, Jack O. Pakanen, Site Committee chairman, and Stuart Buchan, Policies Committee chairman, was discussed.

Memorial Day Rites, Parade Set for May 31

The annual Memorial Day program and parade in Saugerties, sponsored by Lamouree-Hackett Post 72, American Legion will be held Monday, May 31.

John A. Burns is observance chairman again this year. Efforts are being made to bring another Saugerties boy back as Memorial Day speaker, with Capt. Roger H. C. Donlon heading the list of possibilities.

The day's program will start at 9:45 with Legion Auxiliary services at the Soldiers and Sailors Monument at the rear of the Legion Home.

At 10 a. m. the Memorial parade will step off in front of the Legion Home on John Street with memorial services to be held at the Main Street School grounds at the completion of the parade.

All local organizations of scouts, cubs brownies, firemen, etc. are invited and urged to join the parade formation in honoring our war dead.

Clubhouse Site Inspection Set By Local Nimrods

Inspection of Saugerties Fish and Game Club's site for a clubhouse at Centerville will be made by members Monday 6:30 p. m. prior to the regular meeting.

Members will meet in front of Centerville Firehouse on Route 212 and proceed on foot to the clubhouse site. Since that last inspection of the 14-acre site, the property has been staked out and boundaries are evident.

The regular business meeting will be held after the inspection at Saugerties Sales and Service showrooms, Ulster Avenue.

Inspection of the site was scheduled following the April program. It was brought out that many members had never seen the clubhouse site donated to the club by Percy Mower of Cedar Grove.

At the meeting Building Committee Chairman Victor Wood strongly urged decisive action to start the building program which has been in the discussion stage for several years.

There was lengthy discussion as to whether or not the road into the site could be constructed for $500. There was also some haggling about the need for a trap shooting range at the site.

Must Progress on Doing Right

Ford Believes He's Changing GOP Picture in U.S. Congress

EDITOR'S NOTE — Last January, House Republicans, their ranks thinned by the massive defeat the GOP had suffered in the November election, voted to replace their veteran leader, Rp. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, with a relatively new face, Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan. Here is an exclusive interview with the new leader on his four months in the job.

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Gerald R. Ford, the quiet-spoken former football player who runs the Republican party in the House, says he's making some headway in changing the picture of his party in the public mind.

"I hope I'm not too naive and idealistic, but I think if you do what is right the stature of the party in the long haul will be sound," Ford said in an interview.

"I don't think the party can sit back and just be consistently in opposition and wait for some catastrophe to come along and then try to pick up the pieces," he added. "You have to go along on the basis of doing what is right and earn the respect of the citizens of the country."

As examples, he mentioned Republican support of the voting-rights bill and backing President Johnson's actions in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic. On foreign policy, he said, "we're supporting him because he's right."

Upset by Democrats

Ford told of an emergency meeting at the White House in the early days of the Dominican crisis. He said the President greeted him and said jokingly, "You and Ev Dirksen (the Senate Republican leader) are supporting me on foreign policy so much you may wind up with a Republican Congress." The President has been reported upset and disturbed by criticism of his policies by some Democrats in Congress.

Ford said he replied, "Mr. President, that isn't why we're supporting you, but if that's a fringe benefit we'll accept it."

Ford said in the interview: "supposing we were critical of his policies in the Dominican Republic and Viet Nam? I think the public would have an adverse reaction. In the first place all during the (1964) campaign we called for action that was comparable. We can't change our position now just for the purpose of opposition."

Real Worker

Ford is a shirtsleeved worker in the privacy of his ceremonial office in the Capitol. He and his aides have placed their desks so they can look up from their work and see a view down the center of the Mall that is so splendid it might be counted as another fringe benefit of his job.

When Ford took over the minority-leader position in January from veteran Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, he announced that one of his goals would be to develop reasonable Republican alternatives to Democratic programs as they come up in Congress.

He thinks he has succeeded. The Republicans pushed a version of health care for the aged that was broader in some ways than the Democratic plan. The result was that the Democrats accepted part of the Republican proposal and put it in their own bill.

"I feel if they hadn't had a longstanding commitment to a payroll tax to finance it, they would have bought the whole Republican package," Ford said.

Another Example

Anoher example of offering alternatives, he said, was a Republican plan for aid to elementary and secondary schools. Dropped by the wayside under scathing criticism by Democrats, it proposed to cut some federal taxes so local authorities could afford to raise local school taxes on a voluntary basis.

Ford acknowledged the GOP education bill "was not as sound on a broad basis as the others, but it had some good points."

A third example, he said, was the Appalachia bill, which Republicans tried to broaden to include any needy area in the country instead of just the 13-state Appalachia area. Democrats contended that would dilute the available funds so much they would be worthless. They defeated the Republican effort.

The Republicans also have proposed their own voting-rights bill, which Ford said is "strictly a House Republican product."

Ford said he has not yet developed a firm position on the President's proposal to cut many federal excise taxes on goods ranging from cars to cosmetics.

But he noted that Republicans atempted on the floor of the House last year to do away with some of these taxes and were turned back by Democrats.

Ford said he thought "if we're going to take $4 billion off the revenue side, I think we ought at least to take a look at the possibility of cutting back some nondefense spending."

Two Bands Ready For Parade on Memorial Day

The Saugerties Drum and Bugle Corps and Continental Cadets will participate in the annual Memorial Day parade in Woodstock. The parade as usual is sponsored by Woodstock Post 1026 of the American Legion.

The parade will start at approximately 11 a. m. from Orchard Lane and Route 212 (Tinker Street) and proceed to Woodstock Cemetery to services, then return to the Village Green and proceed to the Legion home.

There will be open house at the Legion Home for participants and their families.

Four Awards at Cub Pack Rally

Four achievement awards were presented at the monthly meeting of Cub Pack No. 34 in the town hall.

The awards went to the following: John Bremer, wolf badge; Richard Braen, wolf badge; Brian Sibus, gold arrow under wolf; Dean Schreiner, bear badge. The opening Flag ceremony was led by Peter Cantine.

The recent field trip to the American Museum of Fire Fighting was informative and educational. The display of equipment covered the history of fire fighting over the past several hundred years.

Another field trip is scheduled Saturday when the Cubs will visit the West Point Military Academy. Departure will be from the Rec field at 9:15 a. m., return time approximately 4:30 p. m. Cub scout families will be welcome to accompany the boys on this trip. Everyone is asked to bring box lunch.

Glenn Smith and Larry Gray led in a songfest that was greatly enjoyed at the meeting. Next regular meeting will be held in the town hall on May 26 at 7:30 p. m.

Mrs. R. A. Donnan Named League's New President

Woodstock League of Women Voters has announced the election of Mrs. Robert A. Donnan to a two-year term as president. She succeeds Mrs. Alvin Moscowitz, who remains on the Board of Directors.

Other line officers are: Mrs. Louis Feierbend, first vice president; and Mrs. Thomas Gagnon, treasurer.

Other members of the Board of Directors are: Mrs. Howard Hanks, Mrs. Hames Wood, Mrs. Jack Citreon, Mrs. J. G. Crost, Mrs. Stanley Lash, Mrs. Vincent Ciminera, Mrs. John Sharp, Mrs. Michael Rapkin, Mrs. Walter Rose, Mrs. Norman Burg and Mrs. William Malloy.

Crafts Picnic At The Estates

The Artist Craftsmen of New York are holding their annual picnic June 12 from 12 noon to 6 p. m. at Woodstock Estates.

Mrs. Irene Stuchell of Elmhurst, L. I. is the program chairman and has indicated that approximately 75 craftsmen will arrived by chartered bus to enjoy the hospitality of Sara Springer's Estates.

The Woodstock Guild is planning to take the visitors to the guild hall at 2 p. m. where members of the Guild and other craftsmen can meet them socially and exchange viewpoints. The guests will be interested in seeing the workshops and studios in this area. Refreshments will be served by the visitors at the Guild at 4 p. m.

Guild Class

Miss Berta Frey will be starting a new weaving class Wednesday, June 2, and it will continue four weeks every Wednesday and Thursday afternoon from 1 p. m. to 4:30 p. m. at her home studio in Bearsville.

Turnau Players Complete Tour; Head for Home

The Turnau Players of Woodstock and Sarasota have recently returned from a two-month tour of the midwest and south where it presented 24 performances of La Boheme.

The company was applauded by warmly enthusiastic audiences whereever it went. Many of the college students for whom it was performed were exposed to the magic of opera for the first time.

The road cast included some singers who will be making their debut at the Byrdcliffe Theatre this summer and others who are already known to this area. In the latter group are Eric Davis, Frank Summers, Chester Thornhill and Carolyn Heafner.

Lucille Sullam and Lorine Buffington alternated in the roles of Mimi and Musetta. Ward Pinner, company manager and technical director, and his wife rounded out the cast by performing minor non-singing roles.

With Warfield

Stage director for this productio is Chester Thornhill and associate musical director Herbert Kaplan provided the accompanist for the well known baritone William Warfield, with whom he traveled all over the country.

The company is happy to be back home and is busily engaged in preparations for its summer season which will begin on July 9.

Spring Concert At the Bennett

The annual spring concert by children at the Reginald R. Bennett elementary school will be held in the schoo's all-purpose room on Tuesday, May 25 at 7:30 p. m. Members of all choral and instrumental groups in grades 3-6 will perform.

The performing groups include third and fourth grade band, third grade violins, fourth grade violins, third and fourth grade chorus, fifth grade band, fifth and sixth grade violins, sixth grade band and fifth and sixth grade chorus.

Lawrence Stowe is director of the bands. Larry Lowder directs the choruses and Miss Winifred Bateman directs the stringed instrument groups.

Parents and friends of Bennett school students are invited to attend.

Resume King Lear At The Playreaders

The playreading group of Performing Arts of Woodstock will meet Tuesday, May 25 at 8 p. m. at the Woodstock Artists Association to continue the reading and discussion of Shakespeare's "King Lear."

The first two acts were read and discussed at the May 11 meeting. The remaining three acts will be the focus of attention at the next meeting. PAW's playreading group is open to the public and persons interested in attending are asked to bring a copy of the play if they have one available.

ONTEORA FACULTY SHOW: A faculty show, the Onteora Scene Magazine, will be held tonight and Friday, May 20-21, at 8 p. m. in the central building in Boiceville. The cast includes more than 40 teachers, administrators and staff members participating in dancing, singing and comedy skits. A pit band of faculty members will provide live music. Among the principals will be: from the left: Roger Strout, Pat Leudtke, Larry Karas and Judy George. Tickets may be purchased at the door. Proceeds of the two performances will go to the Onteora P-TA Scholarship Fund.

Reformed Church News and Notes

The Rev. Donad Edgar Hicks, minister, will preach on the sermon topic: "Receive Breath of God" at the 11 a. m. Divine Worship Sunday at the Dutch Reformed Church of Woodstock on the Village Green. The church choir will sing under the direction of Mrs. Richard Braen, with Mrs. Charles Russell at the organ and carillon. A nursery is provided for the care of small children during worship.

Sunday school is at 9:30 a. m., with classes for all age groups. Primaries meet in the Fellowship Room this week. Adult Bible class at 9:30 a. m.

Confirmation Set

Confirmation service is held at 8 a. m. Young people who are being received into the church are to be present in their robes at 7:30 p. m.

The Senior Christian Endeavor will hold a lawn party on the Village Green May 22. Proceeds will go toward the C.E.'s visit to Dallas for the International C.A. convention in July.

The weekly calendar:

Monday — Boy Scouts, 7 p. m.; Tuesday — Guild Prayer Group, LaMonte Simpkins', 11 a. m.

Wednesday — May luncheon of the Guild for Christian Service at Deanie's Restaurant at 12:30 noon. Mrs. Lorenz Emery, missionary to Columbia in South America will be the speaker. Nursery is provided for those who have made reservations in the church annex on Old Forge Lane.

Thursday — Brownies at 4 p. m.; church choir rehearsal, 8 p. m.

Spring Concert

The annual spring music program will be held tonight at 7:30 p. m. at the Woodstock elementary school. Pupils in the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh grades will participate. The public is invited.

Ellenville Man Awarded $9,500 In Court Action

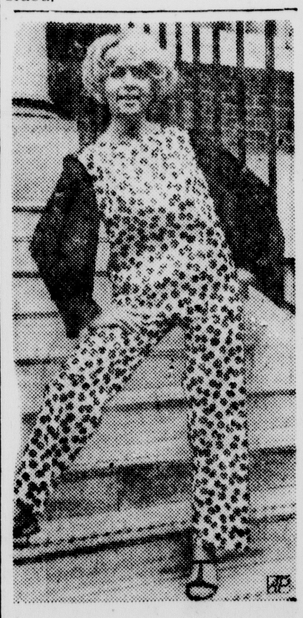

William F. Briggs of Ellenville was awarded $9,500 in Supreme Court Wednesday by a jury which heard testimony in an automobile negligence action brought against Dawn Haight, William B. Haight, George Gordon and H. Rosenstock and Sons, Inc., all of Ellenville.

The verdict for Briggs was returned only against Dawn and William B. Haight, operator and owner of the car in which Briggs was a passenger.

Briggs sustained a scalp wound which resulted in a permanent scar, neck and spine injuries, as a result of a two-car accident on November 5, 1962, at Spring and Hickory Streets in the Village of Ellenville.

Philip Korn of Kerhonkson appeared for plaintiff and the defendants, Haight, were represented by Cook and Cook with Andrew J. Cook, Jr., as trial counsel and Roosa and Roosa, with Benjamin Roosa as trial counsel for Gordon and Rosenstock.

Justice Louis G. Bruhn presided.

'Premature Save' Defends Ably

By JACOBY & SON
1965 Vanderbilt Cup Winners
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

"The premature save" is a jump to a high contract by a player who has no expectation of making it but who would surely bid it as a sacrifice if his opponents forced him there. The bid is designed to force the enemy to decide whether to double and get a moderate profit or to bid on to get a really good one.

Edgar Kaplan discusses this bid at length and gives an example f how an opponent really fixed him by means of the bid.

Edgar sat South and hadn't had time to sort his hand when West the dealer opened with three diamonds. North passed as expected and Edgar was getting ready to cue bid at four diamonds when he saw that East was studying his hand. Finally East bid seven diamonds and it was up to Edgar.

The rest of the story is Edgar's:

East had decided, correctly, that he could not beat a slam and sacrificed in advance. There I was with one of the best hands I had ever held, and the auction was up to the seven level before it was my turn to bid. Probably I should have doubled and taken a profit but I knew I was being robbed and I just could not stand it. So I bid seven hearts and went down one when I could have made the grand slam in spades."

Edgar deserves sympathy and also some commendation. There aren't many writer who will discuss their own tragedies at the card table.

UR Agency . . .

near City Hall has its advantages because the agency has contact with various city departments, and space in the Maroon building is considered adequate for present and projected staff needs. It also has space for board and group meetings, and some off-street parking space at the rear of the building.

Eric Hemphill, executive director of the agency, noted that little work will have to be done on the Broadway building to establish UR quarters because it is in excellent condition. It will be leased, he said, within the UR budgetary limit.

It was decided to negotiate with Mrs. Ellenbogen for lease of the lower Broadway building on a temporary basis. The structure is in the downtown project area and will be leased until the agency acquires it probably in about three months.

It was noted that the agency would be required to rent all properties it might obtain for office purposes until they finally were acquired. Space in the Recreation Center building, it was reported is becoming inadequate, and it was felt that use of the structure further down Broadway would solve that problem.

Mansfield Plans

Dirksen and approved by a 69-20 vote, wrote into it a declaration that the right to vote is denied or abridged in certain states by requiring poll-tax payments. It was designed to help the attorney general in court tests he is directed to make of the constitutionality of the levies for state and local elections.

The other amendment, offered by Sen. Hiram L. Fong, R-Hawaii, authorizes the attorney general to assign poll watchers in states or counties where federal examiners have been appointed to register voters. It was adopted by a 56-25 vote.

Poll taxes have been outlawed for federal elections by constitutional amendment. But four states — Alabama, Mississippi, Texas and Virginia — still require them for state and local elections.

Woman, Child Injured

A woman and child were reported injured in a two-car mishap at Smith Avenue and Cornell Street at 6:56 p. m. Wednesday. Elizabeth Del Duca, 25, of 235 Smith Avenue, driver of the one car, reported head, hip and leg injuries, and Maria Del Duca, 17 months old, suffered a head injury. They were taken to Kingston Hospital by Doctors' ambulance for treatment. The other car, police said, was driven by Harry D. Sleight, 22, of RD 2, Box 94, Kingston. Officers Lewis Keator and Robert Sember investigated.

"Our Duce," he said, "Ordered us to take Ethiopia, and we took it in the face of fifty-one nations determined to destroy us. He told us to take the Iron Ring around Bilbao; the next morning it was ours.

"We have eight million bayonets — nothing can stop us. Let us be frank about it: if the Duce ordered his army to march into France tomorrow, what really could stop us?"

There was an embarrassed silence. A French guest broke in.

Governor Seems Reluctant To Criticize Mayor Wagner

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller, who has campaigned vigorously in his own behalf, appears reluctant to inject himself strongly into a brewing struggle over the New York City mayoralty.

Although the Republican governor publicly praised Rep. John V. Lindsay for becoming a Republican candidate to oppose the formidable Democratic incumbent, Robert F. Wagner, Rockefeller since has shied three times from making any sharp criticism of Wagner.

See Uphill Fight

Other Republican leaders agreed that they have an uphill fight against long odds, plunged in with hard-hitting attacks on Wagner and his administration.

But Rockefeller was cautious, even appeared timorous, in his initial comments on Wagner as a principal Republican target.

In a recent television interview, Rockefeller referred to New York City's "tremendous problems." This exchange followed:

Question: "Well, don't you blame these problems on the mayor's failures?"

Don't Blame Mayor

Rockefeller: "No, I don't blame the problems on the mayor. . .I'm sure he has done his best to try and solve them."

Rockefeller has said he thinks Lindsay could do a more effective job than Wagner in dealing with the city's problems. But the governor has tenaciously refused to be drawn into direct criticism of the Democratic mayor.

One reason for the governor's reluctance to attack Wagner is the new-found spirit of cooperation between them.

Rockefeller and Wagner made common cause in rallying support from legislators of their respective parties for the statewide sales tax voted this year.

Must Deal

As long as the current legislative session continues, Rockefeller must deal with Democratic majority leaders loyal to Wagner. Any hard-hitting attacks on the mayor could cause additional problems for the governor. He already has his hands full trying to win approval of his remaining proposals in an opposition Legislature.

Once the legislative session is over, Rockefeller might very well become an all-out partisan campaigner against Wagner.

But other restraints might prevail.

Rockefeller plans to run for a third term and says he has not ruled out the possibility of another attempt at the GOP nomination for president.

Must Rebuild

To do either, he would have to rebuild the shattered New York Republican organization. Some Republicans think that's a job that should be turned over to fresh, new personalities—like John Lindsay, who is seen as a prospect for governor and even president in the not-to-distant future.

Rockefeller has never shown himself in his political career to accept second place easily, to work in the ranks while someone else handles the responsibilities and stands in the center of public attention.

The governor has been a tireless, unrelenting campaigner against great odds for himself. It is questionable how far he would lend himself to a potential situation in which he would be the fading star helping a bright, young newcomer to replace him.

Ross Speaker

Red Cross Plans Dinner-Meeting On June 10 Date

The annual dinner-meeting of the Ulster County Chapter, American Red Cross, will be held at Williams Lake Hotel Thursday night, June 10. The public is invited to attend and reservations may be made by June 5 at the Chapter House, 308 Clinton Avenue.

Speaker will be Gifford W. Ross, Red Cross Field Representative for Southeastern New York State. Ross has been with the American National Red Cross since 1945 and was originally assigned to service in Puerto Rico. In the summer of 1950, he sailed with the all Spanish speaking 65th Infantry Regiment from San Juan, Puerto Rico to Korea. He was field director with the regiment through much of the bitter fighting until he was medically evacuated from North Korea to Japan in December 1950.

Decorated by King

Following hospitalization in Tokyo Ross was returned to duty in Yokohama, Japan. In July 1951, he was loaned to the League of Red Cross Societies, Geneva, Switzerland, and returned to Korea to serve as their representative in Korea. In this position, he served as advisor to the Korean Red Cross; consultant on Red Cross affairs to Korean President Syngman Rhee and the American Embassy; and coordinator of the activities of all other Red Cross Societies engaged in medical work in Korea. He worked closely with the United Nations and 8th Army officials in planning for the rehabilitation of Korea. He worked for 19 months on what eventually resulted in the exchange of prisoners of war in "Operation Big Switch." Ross was decorated by King Frederick IX of Denmark with the Danish Red Cross Medal for his work in Korea with the Danish Red Cross.

Upon return to the United States in 1953, Ross was appointed as a Red Cross Field Representative, serving first in Massachusetts and later in Connecticut. From 1958 through 1963, Ross was at Eastern Area Headquarters of the American National Red Cross at Alexandria, Va., where he served in the position of assistant director and deputy director of the office of fund-raising and fund consultant to Region II. In December 1962, he was a member of the first team working in Florida and Cuba on the return of the "Bay of Pigs" prisoners of war and the refugee families to the United States.

Although the year 1964 was a Sabbatical from Red Cross, it was an extremely busy period for Ross as he was appointed the national director of Fund Raising and Chapter Service for the Arthritis Foundation. In this capacity, Ross traveled extensively throughout the United States, Puerto Rico, and Hawaii, developing new chapters and organizing fund campaigns.

To Honor Volunteers

In January 1965, Ross returned to the Red Cross and was assigned to Southeastern New York State as Red Cross field representative.

A native of Boston, Ross did undergraduate work at Boston University and graduate work at Harvard.

Several volunteers from the Chapter will receive recognition for their service to Red Cross.

At the annual business meeting, at which Chapter President Wilbur R. Peters will preside, new members will be elected to the Board of Directors.

The Ulster County Chapter of the American Red Cross is a member of the Ulster County Community Chest.

Joseph "Joey" Grimaldi, king of the clowns, who lived in the late 18th and early 19th centuries, set many traditions in clowning and influenced the first circus clown, who first appeared at Philip Astley's riding school in England, which afterward became Astley's amphitheatre. This was the first talking clown and comic on horseback.

Denies Coverup Of Fish Kills

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Harold G. Wilm, New York State conservation commissioner, says there has been no coverup of fish kills at the Consolidated Edison company's Indian Point atomic plant.

He rejected charges made by seven New York Representatives that his department had cooperated with the power company in not reporting the fish kills in the Hudson River and had not prosecuted the company for destruction of fish.

The Congressmen, in a letter to Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, asked for an investigation of the charges. Rockefeller has not commented on the request for an inquiry.

Wilm Wednesday termed the fish kills unfortunate but by no means criminal. The fish kills were unforeseen when the plant was built and were "almost in the vien of an act of God", he said.

Most of the fish were killed when attracted to water intakes at the plant by warm water discharged into the Hudson, conservation officials reported.

Wilm said the problem was "about eliminated now" by work between his department and Con Edison.

The letter to Rockefeller was signed by Democratic Reps. Joseph Y. Resnick, Otis G. Pike, Benjamin S. Rosenthal, James H. Scheuer, William F. Ryan, Jonathan Bingham and Lester Wolff.

The Congressmen announced Tuesday night that they had sent the letter to Rockefeller. He had been in Washington from late Tuesday night and through Wednesday to testify at a hearing on water pollution. He returned to New York today.

The game of badminton originated in India by the English military forces stationed there and was brought back to England in 1873 by officers home on leave.

Master Plan Open Meeting Is Scheduled for May 26th

NEW PALTZ — The second in a series of open master plan meetings for the Village and Town of New Paltz is scheduled for Wednesday, May 26, in the New Paltz Central School Auditorium at 8 p. m.

Byron White and Larry Argiro chairmen of the village and town planning boards, respectively, urge all interested citizens in this area to attend. "This is an opportunity for all New Paltz citizens to learn about what is being planned for the future of New Paltz," they stated, "and to express their views concerning the proposals that will be made at the meeting." They emphasized that all proposals are tentative and that opinions of the citizens are welcome.

Brown and Anthony, professional planners who have the contract with the town and village to prepare the master plan, will conduct the open meeting and will present their tentative proposals, based on information which has been compiled during the past year. Included in these proposals will be such considerations as traffic control, land use, provisions for park and recreation areas, population density control and suggestions for the solution of numerous other problems that are anticipated as this area continues to grow.

Officials of the town and village, along with members of the two planning boards, have been meeting monthly with the professional planners for the past year in an effort to consider many of the problems with which this area will be faced as the population increases.

The first meeting open to the public was held several months ago to present a background on what the area has experienced during the past number of years, to explain the existing conditions, and to predict what is likely to happen in the future. However, the professional planners did not make any proposals at this open meeting.

Since that time, however, considerable research has been completed, and the professional planners feel that they can now make some definite, but tentative proposals. This is the purpose of the second open meeting on May 26, according to the planners, and they will include in their preparation a series of comprehensive maps and drawings to illustrate their proposals.

It was emphasized by all officials that the master plan is definitely not completed, and additional open meetings will be called as the final plan progresses. According to the contract for the study, the plan has another year for completion. At that time, officias of the town and village have the option of accepting all or part of the plan as a guide for future growth.

When completed, the entire master plan will cost more than $30,000. The Federal Government will pay three-fourths of the cost, the state will pay one-eighth and the remaining eighth will be shared by the village and town.

Hasbrouck Trail Is Dedicated at Area Scout Camp

The Helen Hasbrouck Memorial Bridge and Trail was dedicated at Camp Wendy recently in Wallkill. Miss Hasbrouck, who died Jan. 14, 1963, founded scouting in New Paltz and was active in scouting for many years.

Cadette Scout Troop 112 conducted the ceremony which was attended by Mrs. Harry Cornwell of New Paltz, chairman of the camp committee of the Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts, and by Mrs. Richard Culver of New Paltz, District Chairman. Mrs. Paul Steiner, neighborhood chairman, and Mrs. Albert Metz, neighborhood chairman for next year, were also present.

The dedication ceremony was part of a New Paltz outing at Camp Wendy in which approximately 150 scouts and leaders took part. Some of the scouts spent two nights at camp; some, one; and the Brownies attended for the day on Saturday.

A plaque of polished cedar marks the beginning of the Helen Hasbrouck Memorial Trail. A part of the trail is a new wooden bridge strong enough for a car to go over which leads to the Pioneer Unit. The Senior Scouts were in charge of the construction of the plaque and the unveiling at the ceremony. Money for the trail came from several friends of Miss Hasbrouck's who were interested in scouting.

The ceremony included the singing of two songs, Peace and Donna Nobis Pacem, and the reading of Robert Frost's poem The Tuft of Flowers.

Mrs. Richard Ordway and Mrs. Merrill Archard are leaders of Troop 112.

Among the troop leaders present at some time during the encampment were Mrs. William Weston, Mrs. Joseph Storch, Mrs. Robert Holliday, and the following Brownie leaders: Mrs. Frederick Bunt, Mrs. George Fisher, Mrs. Henry Hornbeck, and Mrs. Edward Nitsch Jr.

Visit Washington

The children of the ninth grade in the Campus School left on May 12 for a thre-day visit to Washington, D. C. Leslie Oakley and Richard Hanzelka, the two ninth grade home room teachers, and Mrs. Hanzelka and Mrs. Merrill Archard accompanied the students.

4-H Girls Vie For Honors at Clothing Review

The New Paltz 4-H group, the Greenleaves, have announced that this year's clothing project Let's Sew Skirts, ended with the area dress review held at the Wallkill Central School recently.

Six of the seven members completed their garments and modeled them in the clothing review that evening, after they had been evaluated by a judge for sewing techniques. Sandy DuBois and Diane Fisher also modeled hand knitted sweaters that they had completed in their knitting project this winter, and Tamara Martin brought along her poodle, wearing his new dog suit that she had knitted in the same project. The club reports receiving one red ribbon and five blue ribbons awarded to the members.

Those member attending were Wendy Burkhart, Karen Barr, Sandy DuBois, Diane Fisher, Debbie Stewart and Tamara Martin. Their leader is Mrs. Gerald DuBois.

Campus Nursery School Lists Are Completed

It has been announced that the drawing for children to be admitted to the nursery program of the Campus School have been completed and parents will be notified soon as to whether or not their children's names were drawn. Mrs. Maurice Reechia, president of the Campus School P-TA and Mr. Elmer Ingraham, treasurer, made the drawings. Forty-four children's names were picked: 22 girls and 22 boys.

This is the first time the "lottery" idea was used to determine which children will be admitted to the Campus School.

SPCA Rummage Sale

A rummage sale for the benefit of the Ulster County SPCA will be held at St. Joseph's Center, May 20-21 from 9 a. m to 9 p. m.

Anyone wishing to donate articles may leave same at the center on Wednesday afternoon.

More Travel to U.S.

CHICAGO (AP) — Foreign travel to the United States hit a new record high with 6,786,340 foreign visitors entering the country for pleasure and business in 1964.

The American Society of Travel Agents says the visitors spent $1.225 billion, breaking the previous high for foreign tourist spending in the U.S.

TV Reviews, Best Bets

NEW YORK (AP) — What network television wants — and needs — are some new organized sports, preferably ones with championship play-offs.

ABC, with understandable excitement, came up with a new one Wednesday: the national skateboard championship playoffs, which it will televise on May 29.

Roone Arledge, the network's vice president in charge of sports, explained that with television's passionate desire to cover exciting spectator games, "a great premium has been placed on all the very large, established sporting events."

In fact he estimates that "premium" is an over-all quadrupling in price over a four-year period for the TV rights to the important, popular sports — baseball, football, golf and a few others.

With all three networks interested, there is a frantic worldwide search for new, telegenic sports.

NBC got there fustest with the mostest cash for the Monte Carlo Rally and will broadcast the endurance auto race Sunday night.

ABC has nailed the Le Mans race for broadcasting June 19. Unfortunately, nobody will show the Indianapolis 500 — it is all tied up for a closed-circuit broadcast to theaters around the country.

Arledge has been offered — and regretfully turned down — such sporting events as the world's championship hair-styling contest.

ABC's search for vicarious crises in people's lives will lead to coverage of the Irish Sweepstakes Derby a famous event indeed, which few of the interested ticket holders have ever seen, on June 26 and the U.S.-Soviet track meet in Moscow at the end of July.

"With all the competition, TV has created a sort of sports monster," Arledge admitted. "But we're all learning to live comfortably with it."

$3,280 Counterfeits

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (AP) —A 13-year-old boy found $3,280 in U.S. $10 bill. on the bank of the Niagara River above the Horseshoe Falls, but they were all counterfeit, U.S. Secret Service Agents said.

The agents said Wednesday no arrests were made, but that the Toronto, Ont., police had picked up a man for questioning.

Jack Mullins, of Brampton, Ont., found the bills. He turned them over to Niagara Park police.

Matter of Fact

The British scientist, Sir George Cayley, who founded the science of aerodynamics, is recognized as the originator of the modern airplane. As early as 1799 he built the forerunner of the modern airplane, a glider. In 1843 he designed a plane with two propellers for forward propulsion and four helicopter screws for vertical lift that closed to become wings.

Cub Scout Pack 26 Honors Den Mother, Lists Awards

Mrs. Elizabeth Larkin, den mother of Cub Scout Pack 26 for nine years was accorded special recognition at a recent pack meeting held at Port Ewen School.

Advancements and awards were presented at a Court of Awards. Cubmaster Sylvester Brown presided at the meeting.

Theme Is My Hometown

Theme for the month "My Hometown" was observed by the numerous exhibits. These included maps, full models of the community and Mothers Day gifts, which had been featured at the recent roundtable.

While official council uniform inspection was conducted by Robert Tremper, neighborhood commissioner, the parents were briefed on the Pack Charter. Parents were told also that the recruiter strip will only be given in the fall at round-up time. Some other form of award will be given by the pack for a cub who recruits one or more boys.

Pack plans include the Memorial Day Parade in Port Ewen, Monday, May 31. Cubs to meet at the Grand Union by 9:30 a. m. in uniform. A bake sale at Britts , by the den mothers, will be held Saturday, May 29 at 11 a. m. The proceeds to assist in purchasing handicraft supplies for the dens.

A Pack sponsored trip is planned for June. This may be a trip to Stewart Field, Cooperstown Hall of Fame, West Point or a major league baseball game.

July 3 and 4 is Dad-Lion-Webelos weekend at Camp Trimount.

Leader's Committee meeting will be held June 2 at the home of Frank and Dorothy Bell, Park Lane.

Conduct Opening

Den 3—Louise Cornish and Gertrude Rathjen den mothers conducted opening ceremonies featuring the state flag. Its symbol was explained and all joined in the salute to the American flag.

Scoutmaster Ronald Latz then showed a chart and gave a talk on the dangers of blasting caps. Displays of the different types were passed around and it was explained that anyone finding same should notify the proper authority.

Cubmaster Brown opened a ceremony in which all cubs who had received the American Heritage Award circled the American flag on stage. He read sections of all the boys essays on "Why I Love Ameica." Denchiefs Robert Cole and Roger Elmendorf played America on trumpets while the honored cubs stood at attention. Those boys receiving this award were Matthew Granitto, Ronald Latz Jr., David Brown, Martin Jordan, Thomas Cornish and Benjamin Cornish. Also two cubs since graduated into Troop 26 Boy Scouts, David Romano and Delton Pritchard received this award.

Commissioner Tremper opened the Court of Awards with Bobcat induction ceremonies. Akels Brown welcomed Benson Hilger and Steven Tremper and their parents to Pack 26. Denchiefs Kevin Kirk, Delton Pritchard, Michael Reilly and Robert Cole assisted at the ceremonial table. Steven Powers was recognized as the recruiter for Steven Tremper and Joseph Gaddis.

Wolf Badges were awarded to Anthony Ruzzo, Steven Powers, James Short. Bear Badge to Arthur Lewis. Lion Badge to Thomas Cornish.

Webelows Inducted

Induction into Webelos was held for David Romano and Matthew Granitto. Gold arrow under Wolf went to Stev Powers and James Short. Gold under Bear to Arthur Lewis. Silver arrow under Wolf (2) Rolf Koola and silver arrow under Bear to Douglas Bell.

Service stars were awarded as follows — one-year to Dorothy Bell, Jacqueline Shleightner — Denmothers, and Frank Bell Webelos leader; two-year to Keith Rathjen, and a nine-year pin to Elizabeth Larkin, den mother.

Denchiefs Roger Elmendorf and Delton Pritchard presented assistant denner strips to Rolf Koola and Michael Kelly. Denner strips went to Brian Shelightner. Registration cards were presented to Scott Moone, Dino Provanzano, Joseph Diamond. Joan Diamond and Joan Moone. One year service star from the last meeting went to Jeffrey Carlson.

Cubmaster Brown asked all cubs to go on stage for closing ceremonies at which time he escorted retiring Denmother Ruth Latz for the presentation of Honorary Denmother's Award. Ruth Latz is therefore entitled to attend all pack functions for one year as an honored guest of the pack. This award is presented in appreciation for work and effort in the cub scouting program. Mrs. Latz is retiring after three years. Former Cubmaster Fred Kirk presented her with a blue and gold carnation corsage and the thanks and gratitude of the entire pack for her years of service.

Den Mother Surprised

Commissioner Tremper surprised Den Mother Elizabeth Larkin, who is retiring after nine years of service to the pack. She was given the same award. Mrs. Larkin's first denchief, Ronald Doyle presented her with blue and gold carnations, as did all cubs of the pack.

Cubmaster Brown on behalf of the pack presented a framed Award of Special Merit for Outstanding Service and Devotion, "In special recognition of her outstanding service and devotion to Cub Scout Pack 26, Boy Scouts of America, Port Ewen. For her guidance and leadership to boys whose lives have been enriched in character building and good citizenship and by continued giving of her time, thoughts, and energy." Commissioner Tremper read tribute to her and Ronald Doyle escorted her from the stage. Refreshments were served by Dens 6 and 7.

Aquinas Club Elects New Officers; Plans Outing for May 23rd

At the regular business meeting of the Aquinas Club, an election of officers was held. Newly elected officers include: John Helmer, president; Mary Melville, vice president; Jean Fox, corresponding secretary; Larry Kain, recording secretary; and Bart Stuart, treasurer.

Sincere thanks was expressed to the outgoing officers for their fine work during the year. The officers were Joe Bruck, president; Rose Maniscalco, vice president; Patricia Hogan, secretary; and Tom Lamb, treasurer.

Successful events of the past year included an egg hunt for the children of the Mother Cabrini Home. The Road Rally which was followed by a picnic was enjoyed by everyone. There were also several dances and parties. Members also enjoyed several hikes followed by a picnic. Future events include a hike at North Lake Sunday. Anyone who is interested should meet in Kingston at the Park Diner at 12:30 p. m. or in Saugerties at the Cloverleaf at 1 p. m. and bring a picnic lunch.

Tentative plans were also made for a bus trip to the World's Fair and a trip to the shrine at Auriesville. The dates of these trips will be announced in the future.

The next meeting will be held Sunday in the White Eagle Hall, Delaware Avenue at 8 p. m. Any unmarried Catholic adult may attend.

Spring Change-Over

Ever notice how putting on a new shade of lipstick, a dash of cologne and a flower hat changes your outlook on life? The same thing can happen to your china; it, too, can take on a different mood. Off with the old look, on with the new. Forget that you have been using plain tablecloths and matching mats all these years. Instead try a bright floral cloth or contrasting mats and napkins. Here, the predominate colors of the Nordic pattern by Syracuse are blues and greens. Instead of the conventional blue or green accessories, we've used tangerine placemats with two different colored napkins, sunflower - and cyclamen. How's that for a color boost? For a final elegant touch, use your best silver, crystal glasses and a formal candleholder. Presto, you've elevated casual china to a formal look with a dash of Spring thrown in, proving that china can be versatile.

Similar suggestions and hundreds of valuable tips on how to be a table setting genius can be found in a new booklet by the Syracuse China Corporation, Syracuse, N. Y. (Price 50¢).

MR. AND MRS. RAYMOND THOMAS SCHABOT JR.

Miss Rita Geary, Raymond Schabot Jr. Wed At St. Peter's Church; To Reside in City

Miss Rita Virginia Geary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Kenneth Geary of 66 Hoffman Street and Raymond Thomas Schabot Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond T. Schabot Sr. of RD 1, Box 337, Kingston, exchanged wedding vows 11 a. m. Saturday, May 15 at St. Peter's Church.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph D. Ostermann, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony. Miss Nan Goldrick was organist and Richard Scherer, soloist. White snapdragons decorated the altar and the pews were marked with white satin ribbons.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of white silk organza posed over bridal taffeta fashioned with a scalloped Bateau neckline, a fitted bodice with natural waistline, long sleeves tapered to points over the wrist and an A-line skirt in floor length. A lace watteau panel fell from her shoulders to form a chapel train. Her veil of imported wide English silk illusion was caught to a stylized organza bow enhanced with lace and tiny seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and ivy centered with a corsage of white carnations.

Miss Joan Naccarato of Kingston was maid of honor. She wore a floor length gown of pale orchid with scooped neckline and watteau back panel. A silk cabbage rose headpiece held a flyaway veil. She carried a cascade of yellow iris and orchid Shasta daisies and pompons with ivy.

Cousins of the bride, the Misses Elizabeth Geary and Jane Tomasesk, both of Kingston, were bridesmaids. Their maize colored gowns were identical in styling to the maid of nonor's and they carried cascades of purple iris with yellow shasta daisies and pompons with ivy.

Robert Schoen of Kingston was best man with Alfred Schabot of Kingston, brother of the bridegroom and William Huber of Kingston, cousin of the bride, as ushers.

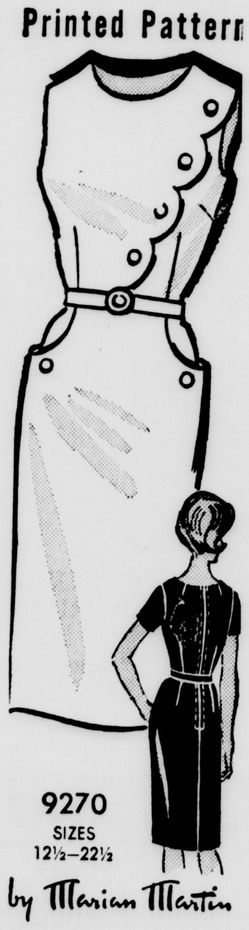

A reception for 140 guests was held at The Hedges, West Park, after the ceremony.

After June 1 the couple will make their home at 66 Pearl Street, this city. For a wedding trip to Lake Placid, Mrs. Schabot wore a navy suit with red accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

A graduate of Kingston High School, Brady Maternity and St. Catherine's Infant Home, Albany, Mrs. Schabot is a staff member at Benedictine Hospital.

Mr. Schabot is a graduate of Kingston High School and Paul Smiths College, Paul Smiths. He is associated with IBM at the Fishkill plant.

"Section Eight" Telephone Callers

The telephone rings. A charming young woman says: "Is this A. Narel?"

"This is Mrs. Narel."

"Mrs. Narel, this is Western Union. We have a telegram for you. The message reads: Mama is dying."

Several seconds of shocked silence, the Western Union messenger mumbles something further, says "thank you" and hangs up.

Without a moment's hesitation, I place a long distance call.

THE TELEGRAM MESSAGE IS A FLUKE!

You read about such macabre tricks, you hear about them, but you never realize the impact they can have unless you experience it yourself.

A demented caller of this type works on percentages. They realize that almost everyone has a mother or aged grandmother still living and, more than often, their message hits home.

Analyzing the situation, only a person suffering from a mental disorder would engage in this type of sadistic game.

If the call was made by a student who was home from school on the pretext of being ill and was looking for "kicks", the moment she dialed she pushed herself over that line which marks a normal or abnormal individual.

The tragedy is she may not even be aware of the extent of her illness. I hope her parents can detect it in her other day-to-day actions.

If this was an adult, which I doubt, her only hope is for someone in her family to reach out a helping hand and see to it she receives proper medical attention.

A check with the New York State Police reveals that "sick" calls are being made — some are obscene, others with messages to pick up gift cartons of fruit at the Express Office. One woman in Greene County, whose son was serving with the Armed Forces in Viet Nam, received a telephone call that her son had been killed. Fortunately, her heart was strong and the message was false.

There Is a Remedy

If anyone should receive a call telling of approaching death, a sudden death, surprise gifts, or any type of message which has the slightest questionable odor, do not panic. These callers CAN be found and jailed. DO THE FOLLOWING:

1. Do not hang up the receiver — even if it means your telephone will be out of service the rest of the evening. A check with the New York Telephone Company reveals that the caller cannot use his or her phone until you break the circuit also. This call CAN be traced.

2. Get to the nearest neighbor, call the New York Telephone Company, ask for the supervisor, appraise her quickly of the circumstances, and remember to leave your telephone off the hook. A check at another phone in the morning will give you an "all clear" signal.

3. Notify the New York State Police as soon as you finish with the telephone company.

REPLYING TO "BLANKET" INVITATION

Q: One of the young women in our office is going to be married next month. She sent one invitation to the office group as a whole. The invitation to the reception has r.s.v.p. on it. The question has come up as to whether or not it is necessary for each member of the office to send a reply, whether or not he or she is going. Some feel that it is not necessary to acknowlege a "blanket" invitation. What is your opinion on this?

A: You should each answer, if only verbally, so that the bride-to-be will know how many guests to provide for.

Eating A Banana

Q: What is the proper way to eat a banana at table? I have been accustomed to peeling the skin part way down and biting off successive pieces. I have been told that I should pull the skin down on one side and, with the banana flat on the plate, eat the pulp with a spoon, reserving my usual method for picnics. May I please have your opinion on this?

A: Although it is not bad manners to peel the skin halfway down and eat the fruit bite by bite at table, it is better to peel the skin all the way off, lay the fruit on your plate, cut it in slices and eat with a fork.

When Sugar Tongs Are Missing

Q: When lump sugar is passed at the table and there are no sugar tongs served with it, should one use their fingers to take up the sugar or does one use a teaspoon?

A: Fingers may be used when the sugar is for one's own cup, but a spoon must be used when serving someone else.

Joyce Van Voorhis, Theodore Pade Are Wed At Woodstock Reformed Church on May 15

Miss Joyce A. Van Voorhis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Van Voorhis of Woodstock, wed Mr. Theodore F. Pade, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore H. Pade of Perkasie, Pa., on Saturday, May 15, at 2 p. m. in the Reformed Church of Woodstock.

The Rev. Donald E. Hicks was the officiating clergyman for the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Carl Harrington was organist, and Richard Baker soloist, sang Because and Oh Perfect Love.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of peau de soie fashioned with a bateau neckline, braclet sleeves, and a modified bell skirt. The bodice was trimmed with alencon lace appliques. A pure silk illusion veil was shirred to a headpiece of pearl trimmed petals. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis and white carnations with ivy.

The attendants wore powder-blue shantastik long gowns with bateau necklines, bracelet sleeves, and sheath skirts with double back panels. A matching, stylized-rose headpiece held a chapel veiling.

Miss Susan Foster of Woodstock was maid of honor. She carried white daisies with fern. Miss Elyse Pade of Ridgewood, N. J., and Miss Dorothy Watson of Woodstock served as bridesmaids. They carried yellow daises with fern.

Ronald Long of Springfield, Pa., was best man. John Baer of Kingston, John Butterwick of Hatfield, Pa., were ushers.

A reception for 100 guests was held at Deanie's Restaurant in Woodstock.

For their wedding trip to San Juan, Puerto Rico the bride wore a coca-brown suit with blue accessories. Upon their return from Puerto Rico Mr. and Mrs. Pade will reside in Kingston.

Miss Joan E. Dunbar and Vance H. Sutton Are Wed at First Baptist Church on May 15

The double ring wedding of Miss Joan Elane Dunbar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Dunbar of Manor Lake, Kingston, and Vance Harold Sutton of Port Ewen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dorman Sutton of 37 Longview Avenue, N. J. was solemnized Saturday, May 15 at the First Baptist Church, Albany Avenue.

The Rev. James A. Braker, pastor, officiated at the 2 p. m. ceremony. Mrs. Arthur Pedersen was organist and Henry Peyer, soloist. The church was decorated with white candles and arrangements of white gladioli, majestic daisies and pompons. White satin bows marked the family pews.

Escorted in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of organza posed over bridal taffeta fashioned with a fitted bodice, abbreviated sleeves and scooped neckline. The bell shaped skirt was floor length. The triple tiered silk illusion veil was shirred to a coronet of stylized buds and leaves. She carried a cascade of phalaenopis orchids and stephanotis.

Mrs. Carol Zuker of Rochester was matron of honor for her cousin. Other bridal attendants were the Misses Judith Blankschan, cousin of the bride, Judy Van Bramer and Jacqueline Kelly, all of Kingston and Mrs. Lucille Pedersen of New Brunswick.

They were gowned alike in Rochelle banded lace posed over maize taffeta styled with fitted bodices, abbreviated sleeves and high square necklines. The floor length sheaths were encircled at the waistlines with maze taffeta sashes which terminated in long narrow back panels. Their matching circle headpieces held circular tulle veils. The matron of honor carried a semi-crescent of yellow baby roses and yellow daisies. Other attendants carried semi-crescents of yellow baby roses and white daisies.

Jonal Sutton of Harvard, Mass. was best man for his brother. Ushers were Wyatt Sutton of Dover, N. J., brother of the bridegroom; Richard Dunbar of Kingston, brother of the bride; John Ryerson of Kingston and Carl Anderson of Flanders, N. J.

A reception for 140 guests was held at the church after the ceremony.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to Bermuda, the couple will make their home in Port Ewen. For traveling, the bride wore a white suit with pink accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The former Miss Dunbar is a graduate of Kingston High School and Hartwick College. She is a public health nurse with the Ulster County Health Department.

Mr. Sutton, a graduate of Dover High School and New York University, is employed with IBM, Kingston.

Immanuel Church Ladies Aid Marks 95th Anniversary With Banquet and Services

Tuesday night the Ladies Aid Society of Immanuel Church on Livingston Street, observed its 95th anniversary with a banquet, prepared by Mrs. M. Buddenhagen, Mrs. H. Darwak, Mrs. F. Peters and Mrs. E. Shoemaker.

Words of welcome were addressed to the ladies by the president, Mrs. Hannah Darwak. Mrs. Minnie Sahloff received an orchid ,as the oldest member of the society, having been a member for 70 years.

One of the highlights of the event was the reading of the history of the society ,translated from the German and amplified by Mrs. Carl J. Goette and read by Mrs. Elmer Shoemaker. After the founding of the congregation Jan. 11, 1870, candidate G. F. Stutz was ordained and installed as its first pastor ,on April 3.

Four weeks later a group of 12 to 15 women met in the home of the late Henry Gronemeyr on Union Street. After a brief instruction by the pastor, on the character and objectives of a Christian Ladies Aid ,it was decided to organize such a society and the women present recorded their names into a book. Unfortunately this book, together with the treasurer's records were lost. In fact the first 37 years there were not minutes recorded, and this early history was handed down by word of mouth or tradition, by pastor Stutz and some of the older members.

The first officers were president, Tietjen; secretary, Mrs. John Thielke; treasurer, Mrs. Ludwig Schuberg. For some time the meetings were held in the hall on Foxhall Avenue, at which place the congregation also met for its services. Later in the Reformed Church of the Comforter, and still later in the basement of the church. These meetings were always held on Sunday afternoon, never during the week, even as late as the year 1920.

After the small beginning, the membership in the society grew rapidly, and accomplished worthwhile things. Its main purpose was to pay on interest on the incurred debt for the building of the church. At the same time they furnished items for the interior of the church ,such as carpets, crucifix, candlesticks.

In the year 1872 the parsonage was built at a cost of $3,500 and again the Ladies Aid offered to take over and pay the interest on the debt ,and finally the remaining debt. Also the church bell at a cost of $500 was a gift from the Ladies Aid.

In 1910 when a niche was added to the present church building, the Ladies Aid gave $600 toward this. Besides the many other improvements and gifts to the church, the society also aided indigent students, sent gifts to orphan and old folks homes, to various mission endeavors, and other works of mercy.

At the organization of this society the monthly dues were 25 cents, then in 1877 depression was so severe, and many of the men earned only 75 cents to a dollar a day, and consequently the dues were cut to 15 cents, but soon better times came and automatically the dues returned to 25 cents.

In the year 1908 the membership was 97; as recorded on its 50th anniversary on May 2, 1920 the membership was 114.

At the present time membership is 42 with probably half of these active. Dues remain the same. On May 9, 1965, Mother's Day this year, this society commemorated its 95th anniversary in church by sitting as a body, the pastor addressing the group on the text from the Bible, Psalm 153, v 5; "I remember the days of old; I meditate on all Thy works." The altar flowers were placed by the society and a check for $500 was presented for the general fund of Immanuel church.

Alfred Marquardt showed pictures of the church, letters were read and games were played. Mrs. Norman Luedtke, accompanied by Mr. Marquardt, sang My Task and In A Garden.

Dear Abby . . .

Wrong Definition, Lady!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Something is wrong with the laws in our town. My 18-year-old boy was picked up again for "loitering." He and some friends of his were just standing on a street corner minding their own business when this cop came along and started asking them a lot of questions. Since when is it against the law for a person to stand on a street corner?

The reason those kids were standing around doing nothing is because there isn't anything for kids to do in this town. Don't you think society is committing a crime against our children instead of our children committing a crime against society? Doesn't society owe its young people anything?

TAXPAYER

DEAR TAXPAYER: "Society" owes us nothing. But we owe society our cooperation, energy, talent and time. Too many parents expect "society" to provide their children with "something to do.' Moral lessons are learned at home. Give your child a healthy, happy ,busy home life, introduce him to church at an early age, and you won't have to worry about what he's doing when he has nothing to do.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: Would you please give me your definition of a "house guest"? A relative of mine has a 24-year-old fellow staying at her home. She introduces him as her "house guest." This relative is crowding 50 and is living it up on the insurance money left to her by her late 76-year-old husband. Since his death two years ago, she has been taking one cruise after another, collecting these young characters. Anyone with half an eye can see that this young man is taking her for all he can get. But she is so flattered that a young man would pay any attention to her she doesn't even notice. It is disgusting! How can we stop her from making a fool of herself and disgracing the family name? We are a very proud six-generation American family.

DISGRACED RELATIVES

DEAR DISGRACED: A house guest is simply a guest in one's home. There is no age limit, nor is there a time limit. Your relative doesn't need the approval of her family to keep a house guest. And don't worry about her "disgracing" the family name. One disgraces only oneself.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: Please write something on jealousy some time. My husband sets little stones on the back door when he leaves to see if it has been opened. If a man passes our house he pushes me toward the door and says, "Why don't you go to him? He looking for you." If I lift my hand to my hair in the evening, he says I am signaling the man next door. He is always seeing "tracks" or someone running from house to house. This is all in his imagination. I stay behind four walls trying to keep peace. I don't even speak to the neighbors. But it doesn't help. He keeps accusing me and imagining things. He reads your column, Abby, and he believes what you say. Maybe he'll listen to you.

PRISONER

DEAR PRISONER: Your husband is a sick man. You must do evrything in your power to help him. Living with a disturbed person can destroy your health, too. I urge you to see your doctor and tell him everything.

• • • •

CONFIDENTIAL TO "IN A QUANDRY": I see no future for you and "S." The reason being that you won't accept him when he's drunk, and he won't ask you when he's sober.

• • • •

100 U.S. Planes

States stepped up the raids and made 186 sorties on May 14.

The Chinese Communist party's Peking People's Daily joined in with the claim that U.S. planes made strikes against North Viet Nam on May 12, 13 and 17.

During the suspension, U.S. planes reportedly continued to make reconnaissance flights over North Viet Nam, assessing the damage done in previous attacks.

Troops of the U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade were carrying out what was officially described as a training exercise today south of the U.S.-Vietnamese air base at Bien Hoa.

Snipers Encountered

The exercise took American troops into an area where the Viet Cong have been active. There were unconfirmed reports that light sniper fire had been encountered.

One account said the paratroopers had opened up on a group of about 15 suspected Viet Cong and scattered them. There was no word of any casualties.

In Washington, Henry Cabot Lodge told newsmen that neither diplomats nor bombs are going to win the war in Viet Nam.

"The struggle can only come to an end when the South Vietnamese and ourselves have shown that we know how to overcome Communist subversion on the ground," Lodge said.

Lodge, a former ambassador to Saigon, has returned from a fact- finding mission abroad for President Johnson. He sounded out the governments of eight Asian nations and Italy on steps to support the fight against communism in Viet Nam.

"In all these governments there was gratification the United States was carrying this heavy responsibility," he said. "There was the hope that we would stay (in South Viet Nam). There was the hope that we would win."

One of the governments Lodge talked with was India. Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri signed a joint communique with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin Wednesday calling for an immediate stop to the bombing of North Viet Nam.

Wilson Opposed To Abolition of Death in Chair

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson (R-Woodstock) was one of 67 Assemblymen who voted in opposition to a bill to abolish capital punishment in most state murder cases.

The final Assembly vote was 78 to 67 after one of the longest and mose emotional debates in the history of that chamber.

The bill was before Gov. Rockefeller today with expectations that he would veto it.

Here is how upstate assemblymen voted Wednesday on the bill:

Democrats for—Barry, Carmichael, Cosgrove, Cox, Kirvin, Lapan, Lifset, Lombard, Michaels, Pope, Powers, Rose, St. Lawrence, Stockmeister, Waryas and Wolfe.

Republicans for — Bartlett, C. E. Cook, Day, Finley, Hastings, Johnson, Marshall, Marvin, Rosenberg, Taylor, Walkley, Waters.

Democrats against — Greco, Griffin, Kane, Lis, O'Hara, and Worlock.

Republicans against—Amann, Becker, L. C. Byrnes, Callanan, Campbell, Chase, Corbett, Crawford, Cummings, Dickinson, Drumm, Duryea, Emery, Folmer, S. E. Greene, Harris, Ingalls, Ingram, Lane, Lounsberry, Manley, Mason, Mitchell, Russo, Selkirk, Stephens, Terry, Tyler, Van Rensselaer, Volker, Warder, Wilcox and Wilson.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Auto stocks were under selling pressure and took sharp declines in a lower stock market early this afternoon. Trading was heavy.

Elsewhere in the list losses ran from fractions to a point or so but most declines were fractional.

Ford opened late, depressed by plans for a six-million-share offering of Ford stock by the Ford Foundation.

Brokers said, however, that the big three auto stocks were dampened considerably by a front page article in a financial newspaper saying that the auto sales rate, though still at record levels, is decreasing and that a further drop is anticipated.

matter of fact

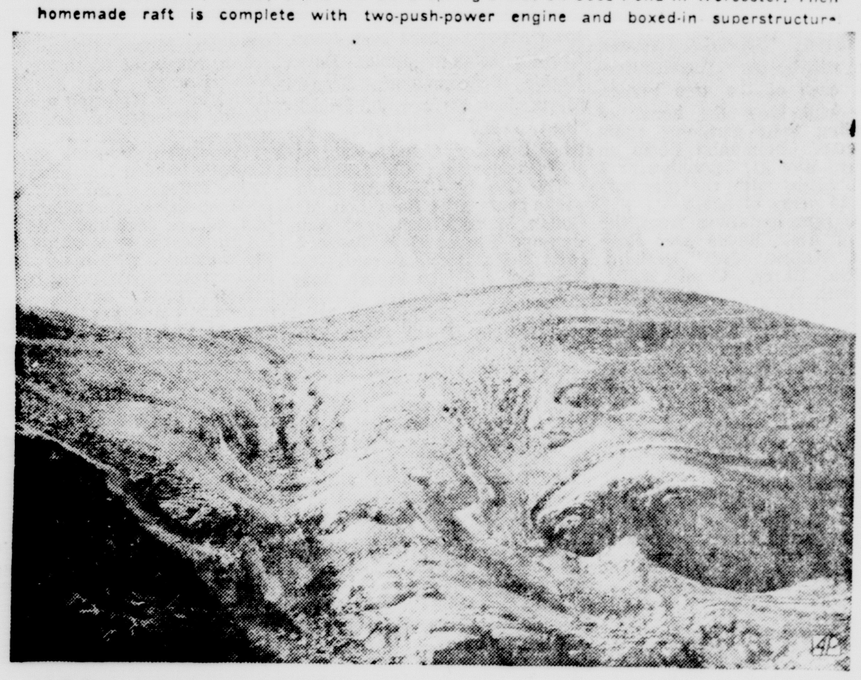

In 1855 Abraham Lincoln wrote to his friend, Joshua Speed, recalling a steamboat trip on the Ohio river 14 years earlier. "You may remember, as I well do, that from Louisville to the mouth of the Ohio there were, on board, ten or a dozen slaves, shackled together with irons. That sight was a continual torment to me; and I see something like it every time I touch the Ohio, or any other slave-border."

A LITTLE HELPER — Kathy Johnson has her hands full feeding seven-day-old Clarence at Fort Collins, Colo. The donkey's mother won't have anything to do with it so Kathy, who's only five, goes through this strenuous struggle every two hours daily.

OFF ON A SPRING CRUISE — David M. Beley, left, and Ronald A. Skorb, both of Worcester, Mass., shove off on a spring cruise on Coes Pond in Worcester. Their homemade raft is complete with two-push-power engine and boxed-in superstructure.

MOON-LIKE NIAGARA — The moon surface-like appearance of the Niagara River, at the base of the American Falls, resulted from ice floes swirling down the river from Lake Erie and cascading over the cataract. The ice build-up was 15 feet in spots.

Oops, Wrong House

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Irving Steinman picked up the telephone and heard a man say: "Say, do you own the house at 142 S. St. Andrews?"

"Yes, I do," Steinman replied.

"Well," David D. Davis responded, "I just tore it down."

Davis explained he was supposed to tear down a similar house — two doors away.

Steinman said Wednesday his house was worth about $5,000, adding, "I'm sure I can't get it out of the wrecker's liability insurance. This wasn't an act of God it was an act of mortal man."

No Fight . . .

largest union, had vowed to fight the election results to the fullest extent.

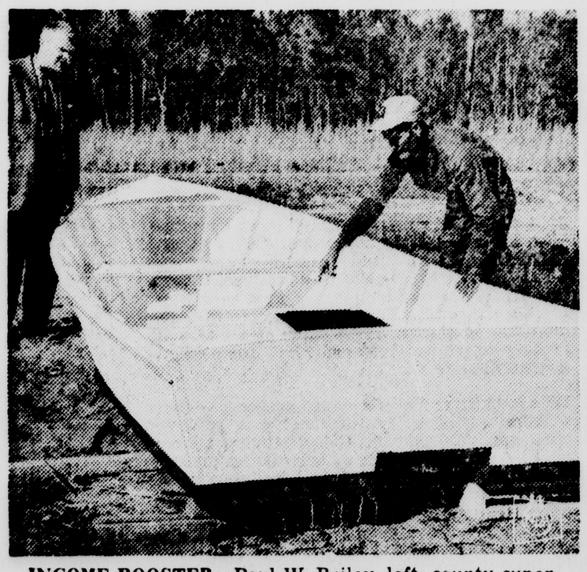

But he also said he didn't want to weaken the union, and associates say he had given a lot of thought in the past three weeks to stepping out without a fight. He also was reportedly under pressure from his own supporters to withdraw his protests.

Decides Wednesday

McDonald said he made his final decision Wednesday afternoon as the international executive board was convening at his request to hear his protests.

He acknowledged that the pro-Abel board probably would have voted against him, forcing him to institute a lengthy fight by seeking help from the U.S. Labor Department.

However, close associates said the clincher was a guarantee from Abel that there would be no purge of McDonald supporters, either staffmen or top-echelon advisers. In his campaign Abel criticized the "handful of lawyers and experts" who he said had taken over the union.

INCOME BOOSTER—Paul W. Bailey, left, county supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration, Jacksonville, N.C., and Willie G. Wells, Swansboro, N.C., take a look at a fishing boat Wells purchased with funds received from an economic opportunity loan made by the Department of Agriculture. The loan, especially designed for rural families with low incomes, will enable Wells to add $800 a year to his gross income by combining a small commercial fishing operation with his farming. The Wells loan was one of the first 11 granted.

Averaging Down Is Termed Inadvisable

Q) "Please comment on my stocks. I am single and expect to work seven more years. I have $16,000 in cash or its equivalent and own Philadelphia Electric Foremost Dairies, Burroughs and A.T. & T. Also Nuclear Corp. of America, on which I averaged down. Do I have too much cash? Could you recommend a good growth stock or should I add to present holdings?" —A. K.

A) You are well aware, of course, that Nuclear Corp. of America has dropped to 1⅝. At this price you would achieve little by selling. Although I don't like the stock, I belive you should hold your shares for some possible recovery. And may I point out, without offense, that it is usually unwise to average down in a low-priced, speculative situation such as Nuclear Corporation.

Your other holdings are generally satisfactory, but Burroughs has shown no growth in a decade and operates in a highly competitive field. I would switch this stock into American Hospital Supply and put $5,000 of your cash reserves into FMC Corp., which has been showing excellent growth.

Q) "I've gone to banks but can't seem to get any anwser to my problem. We started buying Series E savings bonds in 1941 through 1945, and haven't redeemed any. A lot of people say that after 20 years from issuance these bonds don't draw any interest. Is this true. If not, we'd like to keep them." —M. N.

A) All your Series E bonds are in, or are about to enter, their second period of automatic extension. They had a ten-year maturity date and are now 30-year bonds, accruing interest at the rate of 3¾ pe cent. If you do not require current income and would like to defer Federal income tax on accruals, I strongly advise you to hold your bonds.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Junta Demands

with the junta were radio units assigned to help Dominican forces keep their gunfire away from the American Lines.

In New York, U.N. Secretary-General U Thant called on the United States to "use its good offices" to get the rival Dominican factions to heed the cease-fire appeal issued by the Security Council last Friday.

Thant said his special Dominican envoy, Jose Antonio Mayobre of Venezuela, told U.S. officials in Santo Domingo there was an "unavoidable implication of United States involvement because of the inaction of United States forces during the (junta) offensive."

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson told the Security Council the United States had sent high-level diplomatic representatives to Santo Domingo to "help to stop the fighting and reconcile the factions." But Stevenson said the United States "is not taking sides" and its forces "do not have a mandate to enforce the cease-fire."

Soviet Ambassador Nikokai T. Fedorenko demanded what right U.S. representatives had to go to Santo Domingo. He charged that U.S. troops were giving "practical military assistance" to the junta forces in "a genuine hangman's mission." He said the council should demand their immediate withdrawal.

A U.S. official in Santo Domingo acknowledged that Washington's envoys have failed so far in efforts to replace the junta with a coalition government headed by Antonio Guzman, agriculture minister under ex-President Juan Bosch.

Imbert rejected the U.S. plan and accused the United States of interference. He was supported by Commodore Francisco Rivera Caminero, chief of the Dominican armed forces.

The rebels accepted Guzman but rejected others suggested for the coalition.

"There must be a reappraisal," the U.S. official said. But he stressed that the United States was not endorsing the junta.

In Washington, the special peace mission of the Organization of American States which recently returned from Santo Domingo urged the OAS to ask the U.N. to "suspend all action" in the Dominican crisis while the OAS tries to achieve a political settlement.

The committee said its work was finished and asked the OAS to send a special mediator to the divided Caribbean country.

thanks to IBM and Mr. Tamke and made this joint statement, IBM's very generous gift provides a great boost in our campaign total bringing it up to $820,254 which is within striking distance of the million dollar goal." They continued, "It should provide our volunteer workers with that extra incentive to put the campaign over the top." They indicated also that in order to qualify for $750,000 in a Hill-Burton grant, the campaign must reach $1,000,000 by Friday, May 28. They expressed confidence that with IBM showing the way the workers would go about their tasks with renewed vigor and finish the job to provide the funds for the building program.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chickens, turkeys and eggs may be especially popular with bargain-hungry food shoppers this weekend — not because they're much cheaper these days but because nearly everything else is more expensive.

Beef and pork are still riding at the highest wholesale price levels in months, and in the case of some cuts, in years.

For the second week, a national supermarket chain was unable to find any beef or pork cuts for reduced prices in its New York area outlets. Pork chops went up 10 cents to $1.09 a pound.

The chain put boneless turkey roasts on special at 79 cents a pound, however. The new roast is becoming increasingly popular.

Eggs dropped slightly, with medium whites, for example, down 2 cents a dozen to 37.

Broiler Output Up

Broiler chicken output is up again and for the year the increase is estimated at 3 to 5 per cent. Good supply may help lower prices at food markets.

Lamb and veal, not ordinarily considered bargain meats, are in normal supply and prices are holding steady. Some housewives might find this a good time to try them in place of pork and beef for a white.

Fresh vegetables and fruits have had their ups and downs this spring, but mostly ups. Wholesalers in the East report that about the only fresh vegetable to be found at a reasonable price is corn on the cob. Lettuce, carrots and potatoes all continue much higher than usual.

The late spring potato crop moves to market in three weeks and may trim prices.

Other foods that have been cheaper in many food stores this spring are prunes, honey and rice.

Dun & Bradstreet's wholesale food price index jumped 3 cents to $6.18 this week, equalling the index of Dec. 7, 1960 and the highest since $6.19 on Feb. 4, 1959.

Dutchess Man Is Held for Jury On Drug Charge

A 23-year-old Poughkeepsie man, arrested with another on Tuesday by Town of Poughkeepsie Police on charges of possessing narcotics, waived preliminary hearing Wednesday night before Justice of the Peace Donald Holden.

Harold F. Marra, of 127-A Garden Street, was committed to the Dutchess County jail in lieu of $15,000 pending grand jury action. The other defendant, James L. Rose, 22, of 47 Talmadge Street, previously was ordered held in $10,000 bail after he waived examination.

Marra, unemployed, and Rose, a draftsman, were taken into custody by Town Detective Lt. Richard Hellman as the result of an intensive investigation by town authorities.

Police Chief Vincent Smith said the two men are accused of possessing a variety of narcotics and narcotics equipment. Marra also faces a charge of second degree rape involving a 16-year-old girl, police said.

THE SPRING STEP — The arrival of Spring is still celebrated in Communist Bulgaria on "Kuker's" Day. In Strumitza, the village women watch the menfolk, garbed in ornate, masked costumes decorated with bells, perform dances dating back to antiquity.

Indict Hyde Park Woman in Death Of Husband May 5

Accused of the fatal shooting of her husband in their home on the night of May 5, Mrs. Jean Zeiser Bach, 40, of Rogers Place, Hyde Park, was indicted on Wednesday by a Dutchess County grand jury on a charge of first degree murder.

Mrs. Bach, who was charged with the homicide count after her husband, Alfred, 40-year-old IBM employe was found shot to death in the living room of his home, is held without bail to await arraignment on Friday before County Judge John R. Schwartz at Poughkeepsie.

Sheriff Lawence M. Quinlan said Bach was shot three times at close range with a .38 caliber revolver. He was a job inspection technician in Quality Control at IBM's plant on South Road, Town of Poughkeepsie.

An autopsy disclosed that the bullets which killed Bach were fired from the weapon not more than a foot away from him as the couple argued.

Mrs. Bach has retained Edward A. Miller, a former assistant district attorney to represent her.

Orange Man Is Reported Critical, Hurt Near Paltz

A 37-year-old Orange County man was in critical condition this morning at Vassar Hospital, Poughkeepsie, as the result of a traffic accident which occurred at 8:30 p. m. Wednesday on Horsenden Road about two miles northeast of New Paltz.

State Police Sergeant William Cameron of Highland said Robert J. Connell, of 480 Broadway, Newburgh, suffered a fractured skull and multiple lacerations of the head.

Connell, according to a report of Trooper Harry Foster, was driving east on the road when his station wagon went off the right side of the pavement, careened back across the highway and crashed into a stone wall on the left side of the road.

Imaginative Immorality In Phony Fan Magazines

By JOAN CROSBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — James Franciscus was on his knees, tears streaming down his face, his hands clasped before him imploringly, begging bedridden Dean Jagger, "Forgive me, forgive me."

Jagger reached out from his hospital bed of pain, patted Franciscus on his blond head and said, "It's all right son."

And so Jagger forgave Franciscus for the actions that had caused the bleeding ulcer attack that had put the veteran actor in the hospital in the first place.

There is only one thing wrong with that pitiable scene, printed in heart-tearing detail in a movie fan magazine. According to Franciscus, it never happened.

Printing imaginative accounts of speculative possibilities is one habit of fan magazines. Better known is the pious pornography they present, the happy, glamorous picture of total immorality.

In fan magazines a woman like Kim Novak, whose words presumably influence some impressionable teen-agers, is quoted as saying, "I don't admire nor particularly have a high regard for marriage. However, it is part of our society and the only way to have children, so I suppose one has to allow it. Marriage is not wrong, but it's not a natural way of life to be married." (Kim, of course, is now leading an unnatural way of life since she recently married British actor Richard Johnson, catching many magazines with their deadlines down.)

Everything about Miss Novak's life is presented as something to be envied and copied. No one bothers to point out that, if she is being accurately quoted, her philosophy is that a beatnik whose search for a better tomorrow will be unending.

The magazines use the most seductive headlines on the cover. "Annette Reveals: How Far I'll Go Now That I'm Engaged" one screams. "The New Blonde in Sammy Davis' Life" another proclaims. "Carroll Baker Reveals: What They Did to Me While I Was Naked," says another, illustrated with a picture of Miss Baker in a sheer black chemise.

Inside, the stories don't quite deliver. Annette will go nowhere but to the altar (she is now married). The new blonde Sammy Davis is seeing is actress Paula Wayne who plays opposite him in his Broadway musical, "Golden Boy." In the case of narcissistic Miss Baker, there was no direct quote explaining the cover quote. What apparently happened to Miss Baker while she was unclothed was that her nude scene was cut from "The Carpetbaggers." She was quoted as saying, "I'm sorry that the scene had to be cut."

"The Stranger in Shirley Jones' Bed" turns out to be her husband, Jack Cassidy, who is a "stranger" because their careers have kept them apart. "Patty Duke's Love Rival" is the real-life wife of Eddie Applegate, who plays Patty's boy-friend on her television series.

Editors of fan magazines are notoriously reluctant to discuss their methods.

"We are giving the public what it wants, but you can't quote me on that," one editor said. He went on to say that a lot of people are out to "get" fan magazines. "One group checked up on us, and our headlines, and found everything was true. A television network wanted to present our side of the story, and we even refu[illegible] that."

It's possible to argue that show business celebrities, by virtue of their profession, are fair game for the arrows aimed at them. It's hard to find a fan magazine on the newsstand that doesn't headline The Burtons. But many a non-fan publication, aware that the smallest details about Elizabeth and Richard sell books, features them.

What is impossible to defend, even with a dollar sign attached, is the total lack of taste in picturing Jacqueline Kennedy and Lady Bird Johnson.

"The Man Who Made Jackie Leave Washington" one book screams in black letters. The "man" turns out to be the "ghost" of the late President. "Why the Doctors Are Worried About Jackie," "A Doctor's Report on Jackie," "The New Young Man In Jackie's Life," "Jackie Kennedy and the Negroes: The story that's never been told"; these are some recent cover lines.

A favorite gimmick to get a doctor or a psychiatrist to take a few facts and then analyze Mrs. Kennedy's life and future. Another favorite trick is writing a story that is practically pure fiction from the marshmallow school of writing and then putting a few apparent "quotes" from Mrs. Kennedy. But if you pay attention, you'll see the quotes read like this: "My life is over," she thought. (THOUGHT, et it?) "I am a living wound," she felt. (FELT, that is.)

These questionable methods may continue to interest readers, but they are alienating the subjects. Although Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Johnson have kept ladylike silence about the fan magazines, several actors are very outspoken on the subject.

Escapes Injury

Carl Hennings, 22, of Rochester, escaped injury at 4:30 a. m. today when his car went out of control and hit posts on Church Street, Malden, at the intersection of Route 9W, Town of Saugerties. State Police Sergeant Joseph Ellsworth said Hennings was driving north when he apparently became confused at Church Street and as he turned to the right on Route 9W his car skidded and hit the posts. Trooper Fred Cooper investigated.

Body Found in River

ELMIRA, N.Y. (AP) — The body of Lloyd J. Franks of Elmira has been recovered from the Chemung River near Route 178, after the man had been missing since April 8.

Franks appeared to have drowned after leaping last month from the Lake Street Bridge, police said.

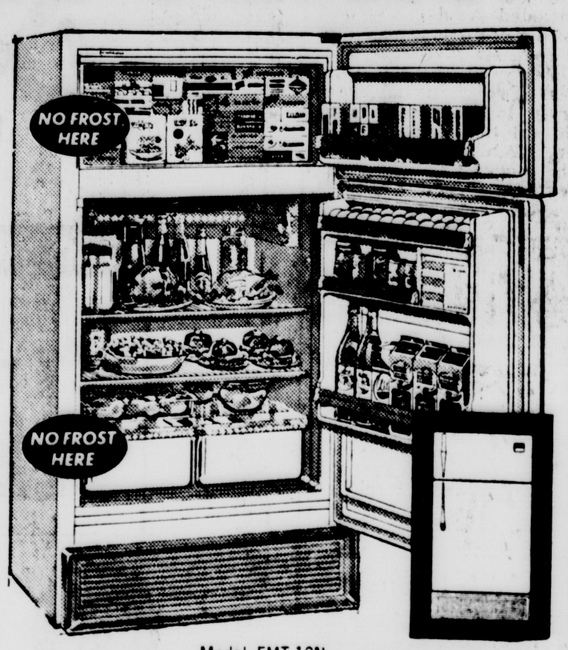

His body was found Wednesday by a fisherman walking along the shore, and was later identified by Franks' wife.

Rub Out Poison Ivy

Until recent years poison ivy, as an unwelcome guest on your property, was sad, sad news. Getting rid of it included garbing yourself with a costume as close to a deep sea diver's as possible, grubbing out the plants, roots and all, then trying to figure out what to do with the infected gloves and clothing to get rid of the long-lasting oils from the plant. Now it's different and here's how:

Leaflets three, let it be. Leaves vary, but cluster in threes. Keep your distance.

June and July are best months to attack poison ivy and oak. Use chemical sprays.

Formulas containing 2,4-D or 2,4,5-T or amitrole or ammonium sulfamate work best.

Two or more applications are needed to assure success. Follow directions carefully.

Workshop Slated At Local Library Thursday, June 3

Organizing Library Work will be the subject of six identical morning workshops started this week in the Mid-Hudson area, including one at Kingston Library, Leon Karpel, director of Mid-Hudson Libraries announced today.

Librarians, trustees and volunteers of all public libraries are invited. The sessions will be from 10 a. m. to 12:30 p. m.

The Kingston workshop will be held Thusrday, June 3.

Edward Locke, assistant director of Mid-Hudson Libraries, the public library system with 50 members in Dutchess, Putnam, Ulster, Columbia, and Greene Counties, will lead the meetings. The subject will be the basic principles of organization and control of materials, with a view toward maintaining procedures which are efficient and economic. Problems in the ordering of books, use of the book catalog, the maintenance of the shelf-list and the keeping of statistics will be discussed as illustrations of these principles.

Karpel also announced a successful Spring Book Workshop held May 12 at the Mid-Hudson Libraries headquarters, 105 Market St., Poughkeepsie. Member libraries sent librarian and trustee representatives to the all-day conference, where those in attendance heard consultants from the system and the New York State Library Extension Division.

The following from Ulster County attended: From Highland Free Library: Emily I. Lent, librarian; Kingston City Library: Ann L. Eagan, library assistant; Mrs. Mabel E. Markle, children's librarian; guests: Betty Emerick and Ellie Christensen from Kingston Nursery School. From Sarah Hull Hallock Free Library, Milton: Mrs. Helen P. Bell, librarian; Port Ewen Free Library: Miss Sarah B. Townsend, librarian; Saugerties Public Library: Mary Ormandy, assistant librarian; Harriet LeFevre, assistant librarian; Elizabeth Layton, librarian; Stone Ridge Library: Mrs. Dewitt Hasbrouck, librarian; Mrs. John Davenport, assistant librarian; Olive Free Library Association, West Shokan: Freda John, president, board of trustees; Arline Tisch, librarian; Woodstock Library: Louise Lindin, trustee; Lynn Wells, librarian.

Onteora Trackmen Beat NP, Tannersville

Onteora trackmen had a good day Wednesday to take split victories over New Paltz at home and Tannersville away.

They maintained a league tie with Wallkill and Rondout with a 71-50 win over New Paltz; while the other half of the squad clinched an 86-21 verdict over Tannersville.

The Indians built up a strong lead against New Paltz in the track events but gave up the half mile and two mile runs. New Paltz came in strong on the jumping events, but Onteora clipped the relay in a little over a minute and a half.

The Indians also dominated in the track events against Tannersville, dropping only the 440. They also swept the 880 relay.

Onteora, which has a 9-1 record on the season, will participate in the County Championship meet at 12:30 p. m. Saturday at New Paltz High School.

The results against New Paltz:

180 low hurdles—Gary Murphy (O) 23.2; Stoutenburgh (O); Davidson (NP).

Congress Urges New Franchises In Four Cities

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six congressmen, two each from New York, Texas and Wisconsin, have proposed that four more cities be granted major league franchises and that baseball be reorganized into three eight-team leagues.

The request came Wednesday in the form of a letter to Commissioner Ford C. Frick, National League President Warren Giles, American League President Joe Cronin and the 20 big league owners.

Signing the letters were Reps. Thaddeus J. Dulski, D-N.Y.; Richard D. McCarthy, D-N.Y.; Earle Cabell, D-Tex.; James C. Wright, D-Tex.; Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., and Clement Zablocki, D-Wis.

They suggested the granting of franchises to Buffalo, Dallas-Fort Worth, Milwaukee and a fourth city ready to qualify. The teams would be organized in time for the 1966 season and be distributed among three eight-team leagues.

In New York, Frick said he had received the letter, but would not comment until he had answered it.

Buffalo has an International League franchise. Dallas-Fort Worth plays in the Texas League. The Milwaukee Braves of the National League will move to Atlanta for the 1966 season, leaving Milwaukee without a team.

FISHING IS GREAT: Jumping the gun last week on the official Memorial Day weekend opening of the First Annual Seneca Lake Trout Tournament was this group of businessmen from Whitesboro, New York. They seem to be saying "come in, the fishing's fine" to anglers throughout the East. The seven lunkers were caught on Seneca Lake while still fishing and while none of the finny catch is eligible for Tournament consideration, the practice won't hurt when lines are wetted in earnest for the top prize of $1500. Memphis Course Scares Nicklaus

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — There is little Jack Nicklaus has not done in his four years as a professional golfer, but he's finally run into a course that gives him nightmares.

"I hope I'm getting all this out of my system today," Nicklaus said as he shot a miserable round in the pro-am of the $60,000 Memphis Open Wednesday.

"There is just no reason for this," he said after he missed one of many two-foot putts. "I've seen beginners play better than this."

Despite the round and the fact that he's never played well on the short, par 70 Colonial Country Club course, Nicklaus was installed the favorite to take the $9,000 first-place money.

In the pro-am, Nicklaus shot a 43 on the par 34 front nine but was two-under par with a 34 on the par 36 backside.

A field of 144 was set to tee off today in the Memphis Open.

The 6,466-yard course has whipped Nicklaus both times he's played in the Memphis Open. He finished 11th in 1963 and tied for 12th in 1964.

Also attracting a lot of attention Wednesday was defending champion Mike Souchak and young Bill Martindale, who finished in a tie for second Sunday in the $100,000 New Orleans Open.

Another man who will bear watching is the New Orleans winner, Dick Mayer, who at 41 has started a sensational comeback after sitting on the sidelines for seven years.

Liston Trainer Sees Long Fight

POLAND SPRING, Maine (AP) — Sonny Liston's trainer says the challenger will have to wear champion Cassius Clay down before knocking him out.

Trainer Willie Reddish said, "It won't be a quick fight. The only way Sonny can stop him is to slow him down first. We hope Sonny will do that with body punches."

Reddish predicted Wednesday that the wearing-down process may take six or seven rounds.

"It all depends on how afraid of me he is," Liston added when asked if he had any predictions about the duration of the May 25 heavyweight title fight at Lewiston.

Clay is afraid, he said, because "only cowards run and Clay is going to run. He admits it himself he's going to run."

Liston said he expects to do a lot of diagonal moving across the ring to keep up with the fast-moving Clay. He has been working on a sidestep in his training sessions.

Maroon Netters Blank Catskill

Kingston High netters blanked Catskill High, 5-0, for their seventh win in eight matches this season. All matches were played under the 8-pot professional rules, one set each.

Coach Jack Gilligan again made liberal use of his reserves. The locals were scheduled at Middletown today.

The summaries:

Singles

Dave Roberts, K, over Chip Welsh, C, 8-0; Bruce Sember, K, over Howard Vipler, C, 8-1; Tom Policano, K, over Ted Wade, C, 8-2.

Doubles

Roberts-Sember, K, over Vipler-Welsh, C, 8-0; Policano-T. Fisher, K, over Rich Buck-Marty Katz, C, 8-0.

Little LEAGUERS

Montafias Rap Win Over Hi-Lo

Montafia Insurance ripped 11 hits in rolling to a 16-4 victory over Hi-Lo Department Store in the Esopus Little League.

The winners' Gary Leone smashed two home runs over the center field fence in four trips to the plate to drive in three runs and set the league HR pace. The Monties put on a good defensive game, giving up four miscues to nine for Hi-Lo.

Wayne Lemister of Montafia belted two hits in as many trips, setting his perfect skein at five-for-five in the past three games. The Monties' Ray Davis collected a double and single in four appearances, while teammate Russ McElrath stroked two for four.

Ralph Deve, the winning pitcher, and Tony De Cicco gave up only three hits. Charles Luckasewski took the loss.

The linescore:

Charles Luckasewski and Buddy Atkins; Ralph Deve, Tony De Cicco and Joe Badalementi.

Cubs, Giants Tie In National LL

The Callanan Cubs and Giants had to settle for a 9-9 tie in the National LL after Giant Roy Washington's hit evened things up. The game was called in the sixth because of darkness.

Durwin Ennis slammed a home run for the Giants while Dan Vogt hit for the circuit for the Cubs. Vogt rapped two hits in three trips to the plate. The Cubs' Mike O'Neil stroked two hits, including a double, while teammate Joe Rieley also hit safely twice. The Giants' Fred Hommel hit a double and single in four trips.

Yanks, Tigers In Pee Wee Wins

Tigers edged the Mets, 9-6, while the Yanks ripped a 9-1 win over the Cubs in the St. Mary's Pee Wee League.

Shortstop Kieran Egan, who belted three-for-three and team mate David Naccarato smashed home runs for the Yanks as Dan Gallagher took th win. Egan also stroked a triple and double. The Yanks' Jerry Hart had a perfect day at the plate with four-for-four including two doubles while team mate Clarence Van Demark stroked two hits in three trips, including a two bagger. Losing hurler Bernard Donnelly also had a double.

The Tigers got off to a big lead and held off a Met rally in the later innings as Paul Maccaline was credited with the mound victory over Kevin Coughlin. Tiger David Jackson ripped three-for-four, including a triple, while team mate Garry Salmi poked two doubles in three trips. Phil Timbrouck collected a double and single in three trips while Ronald Perry hit a double and single in two appearances for the losers.

BATTING — Ron Fairly, Dodgers, hit two-run homer in the 14th inning — his fourth hit of the game — and gave Los Angeles a 4-2 victory over Houston.

Glasco A.C. Tops Friendly, 8-3 In Softball Loop

Glasco A.C.'s Bob Wolven held Friendly Inn to three hits and three unearned runs in picking up an 8-3 win in the Saugerties Softball loop.

Glasco's Rich Marelli and Barry Traficante belted in two runs apiece while teammate Leroy Lasher stroked two hits in four trips to the plate, including a triple. Marelli and Ed Riozzi poked doubles for the winners while Friendly's John Hinchey also slammed a two bagger.

Losing hurler Sam Tesoriero struck out nine Glasco batters in taking the loss.

Friendly took a one run lead but Glasco bounced back with three in the initial inning. It was 5-3 for Glasco in the fourth as the winners added two more in the fifth and one in the sixth.

Maroon Golfers Nip Newburgh 7-5 To Remain in DUSO Chase

Kingston High's golf varsity was forced to shoot within a stroke of the school record to defeat Newburgh Academy, 7-5, in a crucial DUSO League match Wednesday at Twaalfskill.

Coach Harold Hathaway's swingers had aggregate of 287, one over the Kingston High record of 286 set by the 1964 varsity. Newburgh was only a stroke behind with 288.

Two of the individual matches were decided on the 18th hole, with Bob Barthel and Jordan Pauker winning for Kingston.

Paukers Match Par

The Pauker brothers—Neil and Jordan— matched par figures of 70 for 2½-½ point wins. Jordan's opponent, Bob Hurd, in the No. 3 singles, was only one over par.

Pete Polhemus, Newburgh's No. 4 shooter, was only one over par in a 3-0 win over Sam Spiegel, who carded a respectable 38-38-76. Bob Barthel took his match with a 71.

The 1965 DUSO championship will be decided by two road matches involving contenders — Kingston and Port Jervis. The Maroons play their last match at Poughkeepsie while Port is at Newburgh. Kingston's chances are rated slightly better,.

A nice fat driver may not actually get out and push but once a sulky really gets moving the drivers weight adds to the momentum. It makes it just a little easier for his charge and helps even things out with the horses pulling nice thin lightweights. This helps explain why so many of the top drivers can be on the stout side. And why a driver's weight doesn't really matter when trying to pick a winner. They even it up with momentum. Actually, fat drivers are one of the nice things about harness racing. Trainers can be any size so they don't have to watch their diets and can enjoy eating all they want to. And you know how jolly people are who eat well. You can be jolly and eat better than well at either of the two elegant dining rooms at MONTICELLO RACEWAY: or if you'd rather there's a great cafeteria where the food's plentiful, good and inexpensive. So come on out tonight where the great food, the TWIN DOUBLE and the action is.

Wonders never cease in our town's "revitalized" City Softball League, now a thriving 8-teamer.

Tuesday night, one of the teams reported that "there were no bases on the field." What was used for substitutes was never made quite clear.

In Wednesday's action, G-G's Rest scored its second straight win of the infant season, 18-2, over Cordts Hose Vols. Alas! The G-G scorekeeper could find only 13 runs after the game was over.

The matter was eventually solved and the runs allocated to the proper players.

Johnny's Win Again

Johnny's Shell Station matched G-G's 2-0 rating with a 5-1 romp over Wimpy's Tavern behind the 4-hit pitching of Al Milak.

In the third game, Armstrong Eagles toppled Subway Grill, 10-6.

George Norton of G-G's checked Cordts Hose on a 3-hitter and struck out six.

Home run hitters for the night were: Nick Berardi, Tom Fiore 2, Terry Corkery, George Norton, Red Gorsline, Hobart Armstrong and George Kithcart.

Hurley LL Yanks Top Giants, 6-0

Glen Littlefield set the Giants down with one hit while his fellow Yanks rolled to a 6-0 victory in the Hurley LL.

The Yanks broke the ice in the bottom of the third and added five more in the fourth. The winners' Mike Bushnell smashed a home run and single in three trips to the plate while teammates Tom Reynolds and Steve Lupton each stroked two-for-three. Yank Chucky Bouton wacked a triple.

Giant Dan Brown hit the lone safety for the losers, while hurler Mike Tyrell fanned eight Yanks in a losing cause.

Mohonk's New Course to Open

Lake Mohonk announces the opening of its Bonticou golf course Friday, June 11. The 9-hole layout plays at 1,950 yards with a par of 30.

The course will be open to the public Sundays, holidays and weekdays, both for individual and league play. The course is run in conjunction with the Mohonk's Mountain Rest nine hole golf course, which plays 2,564 yards par 34. The Mountain Rest is now operating and open for the public also Sundays, holidays and weekends. Lake Mohonk Mountain house guests have teeing off privileges on the Mohonk Mountain Rest Course.

Bob Pawson is the golf pro and manages the operation at both the Mountain Rest and Boticou lodges.

Both courses are very scenic. Mohonk's Mountain Rest Golf Course is one of the most scenic in the world, in that the majority of the tees overlook the valley on both sides of the Shawangunk Mountains. The elevation of 1500 feet allows for both the beautiful view and cool breezes during the hot summer season.

Tiger 12-5 Pick To Beat Carter

NEW YORK (AP) — Nigeria's aging Dick Tiger is a 12-5 favorite to whip Rubin Carter in a 10-round battle of middleweight contenders at Madison Square Garden tonight.

The 35-year-old Nigerian and the 28-year-old slugger from Paterson, N.J., do have a couple of things in common. Both lost in close title fights to middleweight champion Joey Giardello and the two are burning to get another shot at the relucant 160-pound ruler.

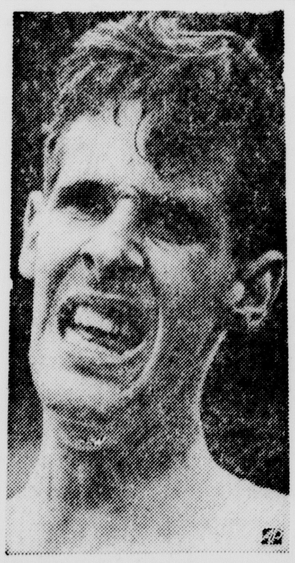

The winner may get a crack at pal Joey if former champion Sugar Ray Robinson or No. 1 contender Joe Archer don't get the chance first.

Tiger has been made the betting choice over the fierce-looking Jerseyite because of his suprior boxing skill and stronger punching with both hands.

In his only outing this year, the stocky, former champion stopped flabby Rocky Rivero of Argentina in the sixth round on March 26. His record is 50-14-3, including 24 knockouts.

Carter, 3-2 for the year, has a 23-7 record, including 16 knockouts. He has been stopped once, by Joe Gonzalez two years ago.

President Eisenhower was the only U.S. president to have a pilot's license.

THE WINNER—Martin Henderson, Oxford gasps for air after winning three-mile race at London's White Stadium to help his team end a four-year Cambridge winning streak.

Relief Pitching Ups Twins

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Minnesota Twins are talking trade, apparently in an effort to bolster their relief pitching.

The Los Angeles Angels would like to know why.

The Angels saw four Minnesota relievers Wednesday night but not too many of their pitches, collecting only two hits in 7 2-3 innings as the Twins swept a doubleheader 3-1 in 12 innings and 3-1.

Before the twin bill, Twins' President Cal Griffith revealed that he had been discussing a trade with Kansas City.

The Twins, naturally, would like to get a top reliever of the caliber of Kansas City's John Wyatt, but that four-man relief parlay they threw at the Angels in the opener got the job done about as effectively as it can be.

Dave Boswell, the Twins starter, allowed only two hits and then Jerry Fosnow, Al Worthington, Bill Pleis and Dick Stigman went him one better by holding the Angels to one hit over the final six innings.

Then, in the nightcap, Jim Grant needed help, so Worthington came on again and allowed just one hit over the last 12-3 innings.

Pitcher's Night

It was a pitchers' night all around the American League with Cleveland's Sam McDowell checking Baltimore 2-0 on three hits, Detroit's Denny McLain stopping Washington 4-0 on four hits, Boston's Jim Lonborg allowing only four in a 3-0 victory over the New York Yankees and Kansas City's John O'Donoghue snapping the Chicago White Sox' nine-game winning streak with a four-hit, 7-3 triumph.

The Twins won the opener in the 12th when Zoilo Versalles and Sandy Valdespino singled, moved up on a long fly by Rich Rollins and scored on Tony Oliva's single. Albie Pearson's homer accounted for the Angels run.

In the nightcap, Jerry Zimmeran's single drove in the first run in the second inning before Zoilo Versalles tripled and scored the decisive run in the fifth on a single by Jerry Kindall.

While McDowell, now 3-2, was handcuffing the Orioles, the Indians nicked Steve Barber for four singles and both their runs in the fifth and sixth innings.

Max Alvis' infield hit, a sacrifice and Chuck Hinton's single got the first run across before Alvis singled across the other in the sixth after Leon Wagner collected a hit and advanced to second on a walk.

McLain, now 1-2, got the only runs he needed to beat the Senators when the Tigers jumped on Bennie Daniels for two runs in the fifth inning.

Errors Help Tigers

A walk and singles by George Thomas and Don Wert — the first hits off Daniels — produced the first run before McLain delivered a run-scoring single. Two Washington errors helped Detroit to two more runs in the seventh.

Lonborg, now 2-2, beat the Yankees for the second straight time with the aid of rookie teammate Rico Petrocelli, who stroked two key doubles, drove in one run and scored another.

Chuck Schilling led an 11-hit Boston attack with three hits while Petrocelli, Tony Conigliaro and Felix Mantilla stroked two each.

O'Donoghue, winning his first game since April 15, brought his record to 2-5 with the aid of third-inning homers by John Blanchard and Bill Bryan that started the A's on their way.

Ron Fairly A Natural In Cleanup

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ron Fairly, a clean-up hitter by default, is beginning to look like a natural for the role.

The young Los Angeles Dodgers veteran, who inherited the No. 4 spot in a lightweight batting order when Tommy Davis fractured an ankle three weeks ago, broke up a 14-inning duel at Houston Wednesday night with his fourth hit, a two-run homer that gave the National League leaders a 4-2 victory over the Astros.

Fairly drove in the first Dodger run with a single and scored the tying run in the eighth while lifting his batting average 17 points to .289 and taking the club RBI lead with 18.

The 26-year-old outfielder-first baseman, a semi-regular at Los Angeles for five full seasons, followed Willie Davis' two-out single in the 14th with a shot into the Astrodome's right-field seats off reliever Ken MacKenzie.

Drysdale Helps

Don Drysdale then made his first relief appearance of the year to end a Houston threat in the bottom of the inning and keep the Dodgers 3½ games up on Cincinnati in the young National League race.

The Reds beat Pittsburgh 3-1 on eighth-inning homers by Deron Johnson and Don Pavletich; Milwaukee downed the New York Mets 7-5 behind a 15-hit attack led by Joe Torre and St. Louis rallied for two runs in the ninth to nip Philadelphia 7-6 in NL night action.

Ernie Banks two-run single carried the Chicago Cubs and right-hander Bob Buhl to a 2-1 nod over San Francisco in the only afternoon game.

Fairly, who had ended Astro pitcher Ken Johnson's no-hit bid the previous night with a seventh-inning double, capped Wednesday night's Los Angeles comeback with his fifth home run. He had doubled in the eighth and scored the tying run on Lou Johnson's single, which kayoed Astro starter Dave Giusti.

Drysdale replaced winning pitcher John Purdin in the 14th with two on and struck out Joe Morgan to end the marathon.

McCool Is Winner

Pittsburgh's Joe Gibbon was leading 1-0 and had allowed only one hit when Cincinnati's Johnson led off the eighth with his sixth homer. Tony Perez singled and Pavletich cracked his fourth homer for the Reds' winning margin.

The victory went to reliever Bill McCool, who took over for Jim Maloney in the seventh.

Torre hit his ninth home run, a double and a single as the Braves made right-hander Bob Sadowski's first appearance since April 29 a breeze.

Dick Groat's two-out single in the ninth scored Lou Brock with the winning run at St. Louis. Ken Boyer's sacrifice fly had tied the score against reliever Ed Roebuck.

Home runs by Tim McCarver in the sixth and pinch-hitter Phil Gagliano in the seventh pulled the Cardinals within striking distance after the Phillies had broken in front 5-2.

Banks delivered the decisive hit against the Giants after Ron Santo was walked intentionally, loading the bases with one out. The hit was Banks' first in 11 at-bats.

Racey's Lassie Upholds Odds

MONTICELLO — In the $1,400 featured fifth race at Monticello Raceway last night, Racey's Lassie lived up to her morning line favorite's role and notched a neat decision over Shadydale Rhyme in 2:07.1. Under lease to driver Homer Harp of Greene, New York, Racey's Lassie raced close up to the pace-setting Shadydale Rhyme, Charlie Joslyn driving, before coming on the stretch to record the victory. A nine-year-old trotting daughter of Racey Comet-Elaine C., the winner returned $7.20, 4.20 and 3.00 across the board in winning her first race of the season in 11 starts.

The daily double of 4 and 2 paid $8.20 when Perfect Freight won the first for driver Clint Hodgins and then Doris Oregon scored in the second with Paige Floyd aboard.

Two-Year Old Mark

A season's record was established here at Monticello Raceway this morning in the qualifying races setting the standard was Frisco Fagin, a two-year - old brown pacing colt trained and driven by Boyce Mitchell.

Frisco Fagin covered the mile in 2:08 in winning his qualifying race and the effort was the best time of the season by a two-year-old pacing colt on a half-mile track. A son of Frisco Flyer and the dusty Hanover mare, Dusty Jane the colt is owned by three New Yorkers, Robert Derrico of Plainview, Joe Umscheid of Richmond Hill and Tom Fulfaro of Valley Stream.

Col. Gen. Gustav Jodl, chief of staff of the German Army, signed the surrender terms for Germany at the end of World War II.

Will Sell Gold Coins

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Gold coins, valued by collectors at nearly $25,000, will be sold at auction June 8, almost two years after they were seized from a coin dealer accused of smuggling them across the Canadian border.

The U.S. Customs Bureau said Wednesday that 487 coins with a face value of $5,107 would be sold singly or in lots at an auction in the Federal Building in Buffalo.

The coins were among nearly 1,000, valued at $50,000, that were seized from Stephen Juskewycz, 38, of Erie, Pa., on Aug. 26, 1963.

Primary-Election System Is Planned

DANSVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — William H. McKeon, Democratic state chairman, said that Democrats in the 1965 Legislature would introduce a bill leading toward a primary-election system for nominations for statewide office.

Speaking Wednesday night during a meeting of the Livingston County Democratic Committee, McKeon said adoption of such a system was a "logical step."

The Democratic chairman added that "growing public and editorial support for statewide primaries has made inevitable the adoption of such a system in the near future."

Howard Samuels, a Canandaigua industrialist and 1962 gubernatorial hopeful, also spoke and repeated an earlier proposal that the state change from the election of two legislative bodies to one.

Aptheker Talk Picketed

Accoustics, Slim Crowd Also Pose Paltz Headaches

A group of about 25 members of the Ulster County Chapter of Young Americans for Freedom picketed the gymnasium building at the State University College at New Paltz Wednesday night protesting the appearance of a head of the Institute for Marxist Studies, New York City.

Dr. Herbert Aptheker's talk evidently failed to draw any great amount of enthusiasm and a college spokesman said "his talk was not successful" as far as attendance numbers went.

The sheriff's office said about 200 were in the gymnasium when Dr. Aptheker began his talk. Other reports said that many of those present left their seats and retired from the gym, apparently because they were not interested in the talk, or because of the poor accoustics caused by a faulty public address system.

Report FBI, Hoover Assailed

The session last night was the second of a series of talks on political ideologies sponsored by the college's Social Science Club.

It was reported that Aptheker in his talk attacked the Federal Bureau of Investigation and its director, J. Edgar Hoover, who some time ago described the speaker as "a member of the national committee of the Communist Party, U. S. A."

Aptheker also reportedly told his small group of listeners there is no poverty or unemployment back of the Iron Curtain.

A college spokesman said last night's talk was scheduled for the gymnasium instead of the college auditorium because some students expected a "large crowd." He said the seating capacity of the gymnasium is 2,000, but at a maximum there were only about 400 in attendance.

William Warner, Hurley, chairman of the Ulster County Chapter of Young Americans for Freedom, said yesterday that "while American soldiers are dying at the hands of Communists in Asia, we do not believe other young Americans should be subjected to Communist propaganda in our state universities."

Aptheker was not only bothered by poor accoustics, but also faced a lack of enthusiasm and poor attendance.

Similar demonstrations outside the college buildings took place April 21 when John Patler, editor of the Nazi Party's magazine Storm Trooper spoke at the first of the series on political ideologies.

Legion Files Protest

It was reported Wednesday that Kingston Post 150 American Legion, at a meeting Tuesday had gone on record protesting the scheduling of controversial speakers at the college. Telegrams of protest were sent out attacking the scheduled appearance of Aptheker.

The telegrams were sent by the Legion post to President Lyndon B. Johnson in Washington; Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller, Albany; Dr. William Haggerty, president of the college at New Paltz and Commissioner of Education James E. Allen Jr., in Albany.

Dominicans Grow More Anti-U.S.

Monroe Doctrine Problem Since Teddy Roosevelt Days

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Monroe Doctrine of 1823 was a rather pallid piece of paper until President Theodore Roosevelt put some decorations of his own on it.

Since then the United States, on and off, has had troubles including the Dominican Republic where rebels now are fighting a conservative junta.

President Johnson's efforts to get the Dominican people to agree on a coalition government with representatives from both sides would be one way of saving the United States from being tagged antirebel and proconservative.

It wouldn't be the first time the United States tried something like that in Lain America.

But whenever it happened, just as now, it was intervention in the affairs of another nation. It's one of the reasons the Dominican people reportedly have been growing anti-American by the day.
the day.

Builds Ill Feeling

The Monroe Doctrine simply told the Europeans to keep hands off Latin America without saying whether or no the United States would ever interfere.

Actually it butted into Latin-American problems for years, sometimes outrageously, which built up a long history of anti-American feeling.

Bu what the Monroe Doctrine failed to mention, President Roosevelt added.

When the Dominicans in 1905 couldn't pay their debts to the United States and a number of European countries, Roosevelt, to straighten them out, took over the job of collecting the Dominican Republic's customs duties, giving them some of the receipts, using the rest to pay off the debts.

He said, and he could say it and get away with it because the Latin Americans couldn't match U.S. power, that this country would intervene in their problems any time it pleased, as for example, when there were disorders.

But as the years passed and disorders in the Dominican Republic spilled over into revolution — Roosevelt was gone by then — President Wilson sent in Marines in 1916 and they stayed until 1924.

Not Effective

But there, as often elsewhere, American tutelage in democracy wasn't effective, whether or not Americans stayed a short time or almost two decades.

While the United States ran the show in the Dominican Republic it trained a constabulary or military force, sometimes called a national guard, headed by Gen. Rafael Leonidas Trujillo Molina.

(The Marines spent 19 years in Nicaragua and built up a constabulary there under Gen. Anastasio Somoza.)

Within a few years after the Americans withdrew from the Dominican Republic, Trujillo took over. His dictatorship, and it was about as total as any in Latin-American history, lasted 31 years unil he was shot in 1961.

Dictator 20 Years

After the Marines left Nicaragua, Somoza took over and his dictatorship lasted 20 years until he was shot in 1956.

But, for that matter, the United States had quie a history of friendliness and support for dictators. In 1954, for instance, it decorated Marcos Perez Jiminez, the Venezuelan dictator, with the Order of Merit. He was driven out two years later and the United States gave him refuge in Miami.

This didn't add to American popularly, either. The rebels, fighting the conservative junta in the Dominican Republic, included all shades of thinking.

Johnson said the Marines were there to prevent a Communist takeover. Since the junta was conservative, this meant the Reds had to be among the rebels, and the effect was to make Johnson look antirebel and proconservative. He got a bad reaction in many places.

After a couple of weeks his administration, anxious to restore peace but undoubtedly equally anxious to avoid the appearance of preserving conservatives or reactionaries, sought to get both sides to agree to a coalition government. It didn't succeed. And, up to this point, it's stuck with the revolution.

Jaycee Prexys Endorse Hudson Valley Planning

Junior Chamber of Commerce presidents of the Mid-Hudson Region have endorsed Mid-Hudson Pattern for Progress Inc. and pledged the assistance of their respective groups to the recently formed organization which is uundertaking a regional planning, research and development effort in the Mid-Hudson Valley, it was announced today.

Endorsement by the Jaycee leaders was conveyed in a letter to Lelan F. Sillin Jr., president of Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation, and Dr. William J. Haggerty, president of the State University College at New Paltz. Both men are interim directors and incorporators of Mid-Hudson Pattern for Progress Inc.

Twelve Jaycee presidents signed the letter and expressed "our members' continuing interest in the formation of the regional planning organization and pledge our future assistance to this organization."

The Jaycee spokesmen said, "We realize that orderly development of the area will be accomplished only through the work of a knowledgeable planning organization with professional talent." The Jaycee presidents indicated that their organizations would be available to assist the regional planning staff in its activities.

Jaycee organizations represented in the letter included Fishkill, Hyde Park, Kingston, Liberty, Middletown, Newburgh, New Paltz, Poughkeepsie, Saugerties, Wappingers Falls and Woodstock.

Cops' DD Wins, No Payoff as They Seize Gal

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — Two Camden city policemen picked the daily double at Garden State Race Track worth $75.60 Tuesday, but they couldn't collect.

Patrolmen William Guidotti and Frank Senatore said they had placed a $2 daily-double bet with Helen McCaslin, 38, in downtown Camden. Then they arrested her for bookmaking.

Later they learned their selection, Blended White and Battling Erma, had won and was worth $75.60.

Mrs. McCaslin was held in $1,000 bail on a bookmaking charge.

Rocky's Decision Is Next Step on School Textbooks

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—It was up to Gov. Rockefeller today to decide whether local school districts must provide textbooks for all pupils in grades 7 through 12 in private and public schools.

A bill proposing that requirement was sent to the Republican governor Wednesday after it received final legislative approval in the Senate.

Rockefeller has taken no public position on the measure.

The Democratic proposal drew bi-partisan criticism from senators who challenged it on constitutional grounds and termed it a departure from state policy of dispensing school aid according to local need.

Proponents of the plan contended the state's responsibility extended to all school children. Under its terms, they argued, the books would go to individual pupils, not to their schools.

Opponents questioned the provision for purchase of books for parochial-school students in the light of the state constitution's prohibition against use of public money for direct or indirect aid to sectarian schools.

Under terms of the bill, pupils would apply to their local school boards for text books. The board would have to purchase and lend them books that had been authorized for use in public schools anywhere in the state.

Local school districts would be reimbursed annually up to $10 a pupil by the state. The payments would be in addition to regular state aid.

The proposed program would cost up to $16.5 million for the first year, education officials estimate, and less in subsequent years because books would be used for more than one year.

The program would not affect an existing provision that permits school districts to determine whether they want to give, lend or sell textbooks to pupils in grades 1 through 6 in public schools.

Sen. George Metcalf, R-Auburn, told the Senate Wednesday he was concerned over the constitutionality of the proposal.

He said the issue of whether the state should assist pupils in non-public schools should be considered as an amendment to the constitution.

Burglary Noted At Pharmacy Here

Local police were notified this morning of a safe burglary at the Blackstone Pharmacy, 642 Broadway.

Only business papers were reported missing from the safe, which had been pried open. Nothing else was reported disturbed. Entrance was gained through a cellar window, Lt. Lemuel Howard said.

A report Tuesday night noted the theft of a transistor radio from the car of Alvin Parnett, of 200 Linderman Avenue, while it was parked near that address.

Another report today said a window had been broken in a heavy equipment unit on the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., gas works property off North Street.

Circle K Is Given Foundation Honors

Circle K International, one of whose clubs serves the campus of Ulster County Community College has been awarded the George Washington Honor Medal for its college campus citizenship and service program in 1964, it was announced today by John McCullough. This is the fourth time that Circle K International has been honored by the Freedom Foundation.

Specifically, Circle K's work in promoting active citizenship by participating in service projects on the campus was signaled out for praise by the Freedoms Foundation.

A Freedoms Foundation award enjoys the same prestige and significance in the community service that the "Oscar" does in the motion picture industry and the "Emmy" of the television world.

Though Circle K International is a relatively new organization —now in its tenth year — it already numbers more than 11,000 members on over 580 college campuses in the United State and Canada. Circle K is the fastest growing and most active service organization on college campuses. Seventy-eight new clubs were chartered during 1964.

Circle K is a college level service club sponsored by the local Kiwanis Club which voluntarily assumes the leadership responsibilities in its respective college and host community.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COMMON COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF KINGSTON, IN THE COUNTY OF ULSTER, NEW YORK (by the favorable vote of not less than two-thirds of all the members of said Council), AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. The City of Kingston, in the County of Ulster, New York, is hereby authorized to reconstruct and resurface the following City streets or portions thereof, in said City of Kingston, using flexible pavements other than sand and gravel, water bound macadam or penetration process with single surface treatment or with penetration macadam or plant mix bottom course and heavy duty bituminous concrete wearing surface, including curbs, gutters, drainage, landscaping, grading and improving the rights of way and improvements in connection therewith: (a) Fair Street from North Front Street to Plaza Road, at an estimated maximum cost of $5,020; (b) Belvedere Street, at an estimated maximum cost of $2,145; (c) Reynolds Street, at an estimated maximum cost of $2,090; (d) Stanley Street, at an estimated maximum cost of $2,475; (e) Livingston Street, at an estimated maximum cost of $5,960; (f) Post Street from Spring Street to Union Street, at an estimated maximum cost of $2,705; (g) West Chestnut Street from Augusta Street to Montrepose Street, at an estimated maximum cost of $17,020; (h) Washington Avenue from Marius Street to Elizabeth Street, at an estimated maximum cost of $3,725; (i) Grandview Avenue from Millers Lane to Main Street, at an estimated maximum cost of $3,540; (j) Municipal Stadium Parking Lot and access roads, at an estimated maximum cost of $5,950; (k) Third Avenue from High Street to Ulster Street, at an estimated maximum cost of $6,560; City Hall Drives, at an estimated maximum cost of $5,590; and in Abeel Street, at an estimated maximum cost of $12,220. The estimated total cost of reconstructing and resurfacing all of said streets or portions thereof, being all the items of a single specific object or purpose, including preliminary costs and costs indidental thereto and the financing thereof, is $75,000 and the said amount is hereby appropriated therefore. The plan of financing includes the issuance of $4,000 capital notes to provide the down payment required by law and $71,000 serial bonds to finance the balance of said appropriation and the levy of a tax upon all the taxable real property in said City to pay the principal of said notes and bonds and the interest thereon.

Section 2. Pursuant to the provisions of the Local Finance Law, constituting Chapter 33-a of the Consolidated Laws of the State of New York, capital notes in the principal amount is $4,000 and serial bonds in the principal amount of $71,000, of the City of Kingston, are hereby authorized to be issued to finance the cost of said items of such specific object or purpose.

Section 3. The following additional matters are hereby determined and stated:

(a) The period of probable usefulness of each item of said specific object or purpose for which the bonds authorized by this ordinance are to be issued within the limitations of Section 11.00 a. 20 of said Local Finance Law, is ten (10) years.

(b) Current funds are required by said Law to be provided as a down payment prior to the issuance of the bonds herein authorized or of any notes in anticipation of the sale of said bonds and such current funds will be made available from the proceeds of the capital notes hereinabove authorized to be issued. The City Treasurer is hereby authorized and directed to set aside said moneys provided by said proceeds and to apply the same solely to the said specific object or purpose described in Section 1 hereof.

Section 4. Each of the notes and bonds authorized by this Ordinance and any bond anticipation notes issued in anticipation of the sale of such bonds, shall contain the recital of validity prescribed by $52.00 of said Law and said notes and bonds and any notes issued in anticipation of said bonds, shall be general obligations of the City, and the City hereby irrevocably pledges its faith and credit to the punctual payment of the principal thereof and the interest thereon and there shall be raised annually by tax on all the taxable real property in the City, a sum sufficient to pay the principal of and interest on said notes and bonds as the same shall become due and payable.

Section 5. Subject to the provisions of this Ordinance and of said Local Finance Law, and pursuant to the provisions of $30.00 relative to the authorization of the issuance of bond anticipation notes and of $50.00 and $56.00 to 60.00 of said Law, the powers and duties of the Common Council relative to prescribing the terms, form and contents and as to the sale and issuance of the notes and bonds, are hereby delegated to the City Treasurer, chief fiscal officer of the City.

Section 6. It is further stated that the validity of the notes and bonds authorized by this ordinance, and of any notes issued in anticipation of said bonds, may be contested only if:

(a) such obligations are authorized for an object or purpose for which the City is not authorized to expend money, or

(b) the provisions of law which should be complied with at the date of the publication of such ordinance, are not substantially complied with,

and an action, suit or proceeding contesting such validity, is commenced within twenty days after the date of such publication,

(c) such obligations are authorized in violation of the provisions of the constitution.

Section 7. This ordinance, which takes effect immediately, shall be published, in full, after approval by the Mayor, in THE KINGSTON DAILY FREEMAN and in the KINGSTONIAN, the official newspapers of the City, together with a notice is substantially the form as prescribed by $81.00 of the Local Finance Law.

Seeking Two Boys For Attacking Man

Local police today sought information on the reported assault of a man by two boys at Rogers Street and Broadway Wednesday night.

A report at 8:58 p. m. said a resident of Rogers Street had seen two boys hit a man on the head with what was believed to be a bottle or bottles, and after the assault they ran down Broadway.

Police identified the man as Robert Stewart, 59 of Montclair, N. J., a transient, and said the assault had apparently been committed with a piece of fence board.

Stewart was taken to Kingston Hospital by Doctors ambulance for treatment of severe head wounds.

Officers Lewis Keator and Robert Sember were dispatched to search the area and Detective Gurnsey Burger was alerted to continue the investigation.

Youth Indicted On Two Counts in Couples' Slaying

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Paul A. Winters Jr., 16, has been indicted by a grand jury on two counts of first-degree murder in the knife - slayings of Arthur Salisbury, 77, and his wife, Elizabeth, 68.

The Oneida County panel returned the indictments Wednesday against Winters, who also has been accused of the fatal stabbing of Harold O. King, 38, of Vero Beach, Fla.

State Police said that Winters killed the Salisburys March 27 during an attempted robbery in their home in the nearby Town of New Hartford. He lived with a foster family near the Salisbury residence.

Winters had pleaded innocent last month to charges lodged against him in the Salisbury deaths. He was linked with the March 7 slaying of King after his arrest March 28 for the Salisbury slayings.

Winters is held in the county jail.

Refrigerator Motor Is Blamed for Fire

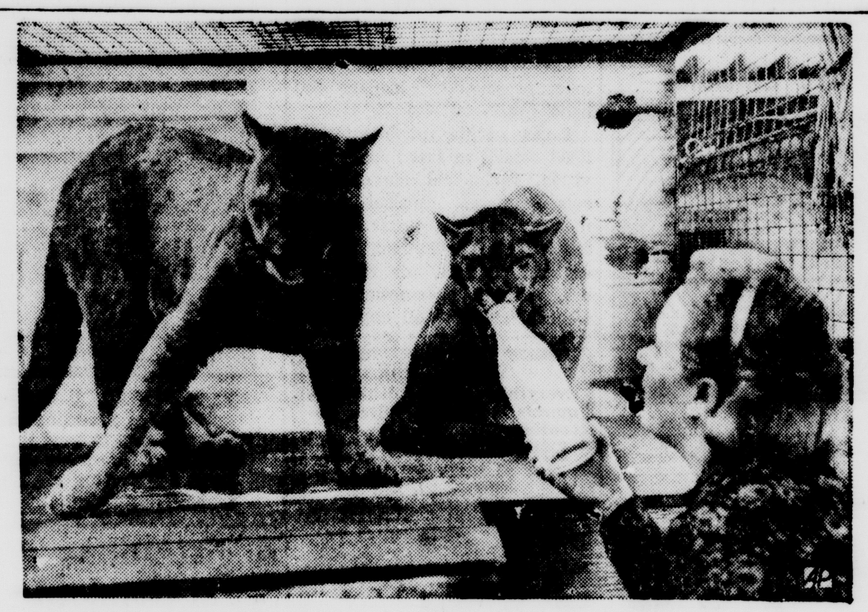

A defective refrigerator motor caused a fire scare this morning at the Convent of St. Anne, 287 Broadway, which had been damaged by fire some time ago.

Firemen were notified at 5:19 a. m. that smoke was noticed in the building and an alarm from Box 2414, Broadway and Delaware Avenue followed. Nine pieces of apparatus from Central and Wiltwyck stations, the Wicks, Rapid, Union and Cordts companies, were dispatched with Deputy Chief Glyn M. Southard in charge.

The refrigerator is in a basement room, which was heavily charged with smoke from the motor. Smoke was lighter in other areas of the building.

on which taxes would be eliminated July 1.

Following Johnson's recommendation, the House committee provided procedures by which people who bought autos or air conditioners before July 1 could get refunds.

In addition to these two items, a long list of goods, taxed for the most part at 10 per cent, would become tax free July 1 if the legislation is enacted by then.

They include jewelry, furs, toilet preparations, luggage and handbags.

Registrations Set at Rondout Valley Schools

Registration for incoming kindergarteners in the Rondout Valley Central School for the 1965-66 school year beginning in September will be held Friday in the Accord, Kerhonkson and Marbletown Elementary schools, it was announced today.

School officials sad that registration was scheduled today in the Rosendale Building. Parents are asked to bring all the necessary records and forms to verify their children's age at the time of registration, along with records of immunization and other health matters.

Materials have been sent to prospective kindergarten parents. However, if the parents have a kindergartener who should be registered and have not received such materials, they may obtain them by calling the school office of the school which the child will attend.

In order to be registered for the kindergarten, the child must be five years of age on or before December first of the year in which he enters. Questions concerning the registration procedures may be answered by calling the office of the school in which your child will be registered.

Meanwhile, the RVCS Board of Education entertained the teaching staff at a dinner this week in honor of Teacher Recognition Day. While this was tangible evidence of the Board's regard for the quality of work which the staff is and has been doing, it was regarded as merely a summary of an overall feeling which carries through the entire year.

Honored guests for the occasion were teachers who had retired from the profession since centralization was established in the district. Special recognition was given to Mrs. Gladys Muller who will retire at the end of the current year having served 27 years in the teaching profession.

Certificates were awarded to members of the staff who had completed multiples of five years of service in the Rondout Valley Central School or other school districts throughout the state and nation.

'Miracle on 20th Avenue'

Roof Collapses, Rains Tons of Debris on Store

NEW YORK (AP) — "All of a sudden, it was like a bomb fell down," says the meat-section manager who was serving customers when the roof of a Brooklyn supermarket collapsed and rained tons of concrete slabs and plaster debris onto customers and clerks.

The manager, Sam Kinker, 61, and his four women customers fled through one of the broken windows.

23 Are Injured

Twenty-three persons — mostly women shoppers — were injured. Most of them were treated at hospitals. Four were admitted.

Police, firemen and residents of the neighborhood pulled several victims out from under chunks of concrete.

"It's a miracle no one was killed," Fire Commissioner Martin Scott said after inspecting the ruins of the Food Queen Supermarket, 6409 20th Avenue, in the Bensonhurst section Wednesday.

Mary Rossi, a shopkeeper on the other side of the street, said: "My God, it was awful. I was standing in front of my store when the roof seemed to blow up right in front of me.

"The windows blew into the street and women and children ran out."

Other witnesses told of seeing hysterical women and children running from the store.

63 in Store

About 50 customers — mostly women and children — and 13 employes were in the store when the roof collapsed.

Although police and fire officials thought no one was buried under the rubble, scores of men searched through the night with the aid of flood lights.

Two firemen working in the wreckage suffered minor injuries when hit by a falling girder.

Harold Birns, city commissioner of buildings, sent inspectors to investigate. Dist. Atty. Aaron Koota promised an investigation.

A disaster may have been averted by the fact that the building had two stories, and the force of the falling concrete and other debris was cushioned by the ceiling of the store. The roof was being waterproofed by workmen at the time. A small piece of the roof where the men were working did not collapse. They were not injured.

The building had been converted from a movie theater 12 years ago. The second floor housed offices.

India's Soviet . . .

the next five-year development plan to $840 million.

There were broad hints of long-term credits and military aid — perhaps tanks to match those America gave Pakistan, ships to strengthen India's rusting navy or even supersonic jet fighters which the United States refused to provide.

With such a package dangling before their eyes, many Indians found it easy to overlook the fact that Soviet aid so far is only one-sixth of the more than $6 billion the United States has poured into India.

No criticism was heard because the Soviets gave no public backing to India on two crucial issues.

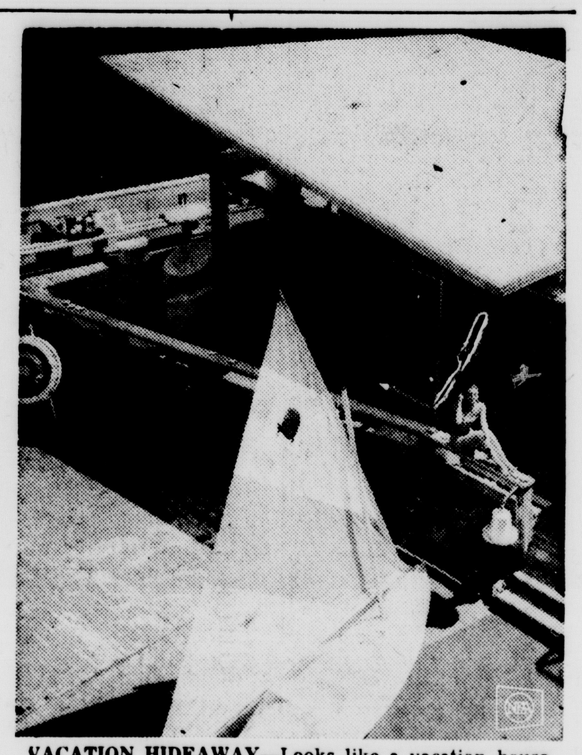

One is India's quarrels with Pakistan over the disputed Rann of Kutch area and the Himalayan state of Kashmir.

The other is Indian criticism of Communist China's entry into the nuclear club.
